ever so diligently

seen a more adorable group?

What hays! The table of jokers.
Without a doubt,
some of the funni-

What could these young men be dis-

seriously?

restaurant and broke the glass? Everyone was staring and laughing uncontrollably.”

saying, “If you keep your face like that, it’ll freeze!”

Excerpt from “The Covington Tales”

Written by the Honors English Class of 2005

When in May the sweet bells ring,
And Mrs. Roeth begins to sing
All the seniors are in good cheer
Bidding goodbye to their high school career.
Our class excites for what's to come,
Facing the future, but remembering some,
Like the time Brad Taylor ate the fly,
Or when Shaun Shafer said goodbye.
We remember Dayton peed her pants,
And Ed Lowry crashed the Jr. High dance.
The memories we had will never fade,
The friends we made, the games we played.
The times we had flew by so fast,
It's hard to believe this is our last.
So today we throw our hats up high,
For the time has come to say goodbye.
We are the seniors of Covington High.
Of course we're perfect, oh wait, that's a lie.
It is our differences that make us unique,
If given the chance we'd opt not to tweak.
And so as we go down our separate trails,
We bring an end to our Covington Tales.

"It was a season that definitely revealed each and every players' character and heart. We were very young, with only four seniors, but no one saw it as an excuse. Every team has had their sights set on beating us for nearly five years, so to them beating Covington is like winning the Super Bowl. That was hard for us to overcome, but we never gave up. Finally, by game number ten, versus TCN, everything clicked. Although we played the best game of our season, it still seemed as though we had only seen the tip of the iceberg. We had a lot of returning talent to the roster, and one year of experience beats none. We let five teams have their glory this year but next year is ours."

UH-OH!

"One thing about this group of girls is they were always upbeat," said Coach Robinson. "They all got along real well and despite some of our struggles, they always seemed to enjoy each other as teammates. That says a lot about the kinds of girls they are and the positive impact their parents have on them. There could have been times when the team could have unraveled, but it never happened. I'm very proud of them for that."

• Coach Robinson

"This group of young women is dynamic, talented, and a lot of fun. We were led defensively by Jessica Snipes, and that was by far our strength this season. These Lady Buccs worked hard and defeated several teams that had age and experience on their sides, and built on their skills for the futures as varsity players. Thanks for a memorable season!"

The competition squad competed in both cheer and dance this year. The girls competed in ten different competitions. They started off the season placing in first in both cheer and dance at the Miami County Fair. Through out the season they placed either first or second everywhere they went. The highlight of the season was qualifying to go to state in both cheer and dance, one of only two schools in the state to do so. They placed second in cheer and first in dance. What a great way to end the year!

-Advisor Gretchen Schmidt

The girls basketball team had a very successful 2004-2005 season. We finished with a 20-4 overall record, and a 10-1 conference record that earned the squad second place. In tournament play, the lady Buccs won a sectional title for the third consecutive year. The team fell to Xenia Christian in the district championship game.

Amanda Kuharik, class president, led the turning of the tassels.

Colophon

Tostens, Inc. at Clarksville, Tennessee printed the 2004-2005 Covington High School Buccaneer. Tillie Billheimer was the school's local Tostens representative and Susan Lowell was our in-plant consultant. The Buccaneer had a press run of 135 copies and is compiled of 124 pages created in Adobe PageMaker version 6.5.

The Buccaneer cover is black with silver embossing and contains a graphic of the buccaneer at the bottom left corner. Endsheets were of snow-white; the interior pages were printed of the same color with a print trim of 7.75 X 10.5. Headlines are in AYT Fatback and captions in AYT Pesky. All copy and captions were written, compiled and/or edited by the staff of the Buccaneer. The 2004-2005 Buccaneer was produced with 98% digital images taken by the yearbook staff, staff of the communications class, or staff of BK Photo.

The Buccaneer was sold through pre-sale order forms sent in the mail via The Burble and during school hours by yearbook and communications staff. The Buccaneer went for a price of $40 with an additional $5 for the option of personalization.

The yearbook staff would like to extend a special thank you to the Ad Staff for their help in raising funds to help produce this yearbook and to BK Photo for their excellent work and continuing support of the CHS Buccaneer. Without everyone's finer instincts for making money, and photography skills, the staff of the Buccaneer would be at a loss.

The Buccaneer Staff:

Advisor: Bridgit Anthony

Senior Editors: Sarah Kendig and Erika Hoke

Junior Editors: Austin Birman, Logan Brown, Rebecca Courtney

Sophomore Editors: Michelle Barhorst, Laynie Fulks, Kylie Lavey

Business Managers: Mallory Hall and Hollie Hitchcock
