Lloyd Keck Tells Parents of Ocean Trip.

The following letter was received this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reck, from their son Lloyd, who is touring in Europe, and tells the first news of the trip they have received. CUNARD LINE "CARONIA" One day west of England July 2, 1926

Dear Dad and Mother:-

Naturally you have been supplying all sorts of things about this voyage and hoping for the best. Well, the best has been ours all the way across. Yesterday and today the sea has been so smooth that it reminded me of the Mill Pond in West Covington when the air is still. Of course, here is a natural swell to the ocean, but that was so slight that the glass surface was just a little uneven.

The first five days were the worst. Sunday there were white caps everywhere and one wave made its way thru a port hole in the dining saloon and just drenched a table of eight. The first time that was the funniest thing that I have seen on the voyage. Tuesday, I think it was, that the waves were higher and rocked the boat more but did not break into white caps. I have only seen one person seasick. Have had some queer feelings at times but got out into the air and forgot about them. Gus spent several days pretty close to his bunk but has been feeling fine since then. Last night the phosphorescence of the water, as the boat broke it, was wonderful. The sea smooth and the night dark, made the wake of the ship glow like radium. You see, sea water contain a large percent of phosphorus and when riled up, glows in the dark. We could even see the path of the fish as they darted out of the road of the prow of the boat.

One day we saw two schools of dolphins (4 or 5 ft. long) diving near the boat. We have seen flying fish and porpoises many of the way. One kind of jelly fish and last night we saw two winks come to the surface and spout water.

We spend much time at the prow watching the gulls and keeping an eye peered for sea life and ships. One day in a light fog we nearly ran into a big tank ship. Had the fog been dense, the event might have been more exciting, but as it was, the two ships stayed at least a half mile apart.

Gus and I don't think much of our other two rooms. They are Bennett and Donaldson from Amherst College, who are going to Germany to make up the German course they flunked in college. You see, this is a British ship with plenty of booze on board. Well, these two Donaldson in particular, are trying to exhaust the supply before they disembark. They come in every night (8 or 2:30 a. m.) too tanked to walk straight. I've been drinking ginger ale, water and coffee and do not have much trouble standing up when the boat rocks. I'll be glad when we get rid of that pair.

The eats on board have been splendid and plentiful. Couldn't want more in either quantity or quality. The dining steward is a fine young Englishman and the room steward is a fine old Englishman. In fact, all the crew is English. Naturally they all speak English in the English fashion which is indeed hard to understand. We have received fine treatment.

The room steward rather took a liking to me and often tells me of his travels all over the world. He was a carnet soloist and band master until his 60 years spoiled his teeth and lips. He gave me a copy of a poem about music that he himself had written. It is very clever. Will show it to you later.

Time goes awfully fast, you can just sleep and sleep and sleep. Then when awake, you can take a swim in the canvas swimming pool on the aft deck (see water), or you can play Shuffle Board, Quot, Deck Tennis,

Bull Board or Checkers. If not in a playful mood you can get books and magazines from the library and sit in a steamer chair and read, or you can attend lectures on various subjects. Lectures and games have largely occupied my time. He have music at meals and must to dance by at 9 o'clock every evening. Last night there was a concert that would shame some entertainments to be found in cities. It was fine all the way thru. I got the captain and the chief officer of the boat to autograph my program. I struggled quite a while with the old ladies to get them. Hal there are lots of girls on board, but all that you would like to get acquainted with either smoke or drink or do both. Therefore I steer clear, and chase around with the fellows whom I have become acquainted with. Most of them are of our tour of the Y. M. C. A. Student Pilgrimage.

There are only seventeen of us on the Oceanic tour—all dandy fellows, none older than 35 and only one or two married. Mr. Hanke is a fine man—seemed rather peculiar at first but is fine when acquainted. We are truly going to have a wonderful summer together. He urged that we reduce our luggage to one piece, so I spent most of yesterday afternoon sorting out the unnecessary articles and packing everything that I need into the large suit case. I guess that I can manage it alright. We will store the extra bags at London and have them shipped to our embarkation port in France.

This is quite a boat. It is 780 ft. long. Weighs 20,000 tons. Burns oil at 70 ft. wide. Has two propellers each 21 ft. in diameter. They are actuated by large engines and turned by shafts which are 2 ft. in diameter and 105 ft. long. These two shafts are 25 1/2 ft. below the waterline. The prow of the boat has 33 ft. of its height under water. There are 400 on the crew. Altogether, there are 2246 people aboard this trip. There are 40 life boats, each capable of carrying fifty persons. They are also 26 floats, each of which will carry all the people that could possibly get on. Besides that there are numerous rafts and life jackets for everybody. The boats travel 18 or 19 knots. One day we made 441 miles in 24 hours. Due to good weather, we are ahead of schedule. The last I heard (several days ago) we were en route 9 hours ahead. Every night we take our watches forward 45 minutes. This life on the sea is sure interesting.

July 3, 1926, 11:30 A. M. We just came in to lunch at 12:00, the morning of front deck, where we had our first view of the British shores of Merry England. Land sea looks good again. Numerous fishing boats with their big sails added much to the interest of the occasion.

We will land at Plymouth immediately after lunch. Then our experiences in foreign lands will begin. We expect to visit Stonehenge and spend the night at Salisbury.

Must eat now and mail this on shore. More later.

Lloyd.

PIERIAN CLUB

The Pierian Club met at the home of Mrs. G. W. VanAtta, Tuesday evening, in a called meeting, because of the resignation of the President of the Club, Mrs. G. W. Miller, the vice President, Mrs. Mae Rothel, also resigning.

Mrs. G. W. VanAtta was chosen as the new President and Mrs. Bet Billingsley as vice president.

A picnic was also planned and a committee chosen; Mrs P. L. Long, Mrs. H. A. Dress and Mrs. Ray Sharp who will make the plans for the coming year.

J. W. Falkner, Ed Boehminger and J. W. Lyle, appraisers appointed by the court to fix a value on the real property left by Ida Belle Poe attended to that duty this noon. The interest is an undivided half of the lot and dwelling at N. W. Corner Harrison and Bridge streets.

The Weather Report

Tonight fair, warmer, Saturday warmer, probably showers.

DO YOU KNOW?

That twenty-eight of our states each have a town named Chester, that 27 each have a town named Troy, that 27 each have a town named Madison, that 26 have towns named Glenwood and Kingston, 26 have towns named Lincoln and Burlington, 24 Hillsboro and Manchester, 23 Oxford and Warren, 19 have Riverton and Oakland? and hundreds of other names are used many times by different states for towns. Our own Covington is duplicated 11 times.

It is so easy for us to make our letters express just what we intend for them, and it is also very easy to make a mistake in their meaning. Our "as," "es," "is" and "os" should be carefully shaped in order that some one of the score of people who read our writing may not get the wrong expression from them, oftentimes causing delay and loss of valued messages.

Sometimes we either neglect or forget to sign our names to letters and cards, and we even do not address them. We wonder why mother did not receive that card so hurriedly sent or why our son does not answer some questions in our letters which is lying in the postoffice because of no address on it, or because the name of the town, or state is left off, and there is no return address on the envelope. Many business men have their return address printed on their envelopes, thereby making sure they will not forget to write it, and it is easily indicated anywhere. Our friends in the mail service will greatly appreciate our help along this line, in which they are so helpful.

SPRAY POTATOES

Do you want to grow more potatoes? If you want an increase in potato yield get in touch with Mr. George, the Vocational Agricultural Instructor, and he will spray your potatoes. Experiments show that spraying to prevent blight, increases the yield from 60 to 100 bu per acre, and at the rate of $3.00 per acre of two acres or more. This includes the blight and poison spray both. If you are interested, get in touch with Mr. George at once, for he says, the proper time to spray is the next two weeks.

GO TO DAYTON

Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Johnston removed their little daughter to Dayton, Wednesday, where they will remain until she is able to make the trip to Colorado, where they are expecting to make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston had come to Covington, from Springfield, their former home, and were visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Johnston, when Louise, who is just eight years of age became quite ill. It became necessary to call several physicians for consultation. Mr. Johnston's uncle, a physician from Dayton was also called, and the little one was found to be suffering from pneumonia. After a week's illness she was able to be taken to Dayton where it is hoped she will fully recover.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Wahn Schellhans and Mrs. Russell Furnas entertained the Eveready Class of the Christian church, Thursday afternoon and evening, at the latter's home.

A delicious pot-luck picnic was served on the table which was spread under the trees on the beautiful lawn. Bright Japanese lanterns which were hung about adding an artistic touch to the scene. The hostesses also treated their guests to home made ice cream, cakes and coffee.

The guests were Mrs. Blanche Hedrick, Mrs. Chas. Mast, Mrs. Pearl Dees, Mrs. Elsie Harry, Mrs. Margaret Sharp, Mrs. Lulu Jennings, Mrs. Mary Wooley, Mrs. P. L. Long, Miss Ella Driver the honor guests were Mrs. Nellie Richardson Dodson and Mrs. Lillian Minton Berry.

Mr. Thos. Clark, Sr., attended the Railroad Veterans annual picnic, Saturday July 10th, which was held at Conoy Island. He reports a very enjoyable day.

CHAS. SHAFER SHOWS COUNTRY FOLKS SOMETHING

"Charley" Shafen the well known village Blacksmith, whose shop is located on West Spring Street, in the shade of the spreading Chestnut tree, has volunteered so willingly to show his friend Clarence Edward Furnas, who resides south of town on Route number four, that there are a few gentlemen in Covington who have some "Pull" Charley has already chosen his ten men or rather nine others, and has prepared a "daily dozen" for them, including a menu which he would have them follow so that they might gain strength for the trying ordeal that will take place on Thursday July, 22nd, at the Park.

Mr. Furnas has not reported as yet, but we expect that he is out working quietly and when the time arrives will bring in Ten Strong Men, who will be the same type and build that Ringling Bros., carries with them for exhibition purpose. This Rope Pulling Contest between the town and country men will be well worth your time.

BOBBED HAIR ORIGINATED IN REVOLUTIONARY DAYS

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—Origin of bobbed hair is now definitely laid to the war—the Revolutionary War. Discovery by Captain L. C. Baird, an Army officer, of dusty old Continental Army records stored for years in the Schuylkill Arsenal here shows America's first shingle was worn by the American dogboy and not by the American farmer.

Bobbing the hair was even made a matter of general orders for the soldiers of 1776, the ancient documents indicate. One such decree, issued at West Point, is eddy at variance with present day West Point traditions which frown on anything but the trimmest of hair-cuts. "As the head dress of a soldier is one of the first and necessary ornaments," it reads, "the Capt. commands the N. C. officers and Privates of the first Regt., to have their hair cut behind not to exceed seven inches long and close to the head.

"The N. C. officers and Privates of the second Regt. to have their hair tied behind in a bob cut close to the head, the hair of the whole to be cut on the top, of the head short and brushed back. The officers commanding companies will see this order carried into effect as soon as possible.

WEIGHING STATION

Miss Miller, of Dr Crawford's office, Troy, was again in Covington, yesterday afternoon, for the usual weighing on Covington babies. Miss Miller returns every two weeks and will again meet the mothers, Thursday, July 29th. All are welcome and urged to come and bring their babies.

Mr. Ray Gilbert, of Vreerville stopped this morning, to see his mother, Mrs. L. S. Gilbert, on his way home from Lima.

PHILO-DELPHIAN

The Philo-Delphian Society will give a reception this evening, at the home of Mrs. D. J. Miles. Guests will be invited by the members of the Society, and the regular meeting held as usual.

Sunday School Lesson

By Rev. F. B. FITZWATER, D.D., Dean of Day and Evening Schools, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (C. 1924, Western Newspaper Union)

Lesson for July 13

THE CALL OF MOSES

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:1-12. GOLDEN TEXT—Certainly I will be with thee.—Ex. 3:12.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Moses at the Burning Bush. JUNIOR TOPIC—Moses, the Shepherd. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Facing a Great Opportunity.

I. The Lord Speaks to Moses From the Burning Bush (3:1-6). It was while keeping the flock of his father-in-law in the desert that the Lord appeared to Moses in the vision of the burning bush. Moses stepped aside to behold this strange sight and was taught the essential lesson of the proper approach to God. The Lord did not leave him long in suspense. He told him that He was the God of his fathers, the covenant God. As soon as he knew that it was God that was speaking to him, he hid his face.

II. Moses' Commission as the Deliverer of His People (3:7-10). Observe: 1. God's active interest in His people (v. 7).

In a preamble of this commission God declared: (1) "I have seen the affliction of my people." So keenly conscious is God of all that goes on in the world that not one of His chosen ones can be touched without His notice.

(2) "I have heard their cries." We sometimes feel that God does not hear, but no eye ever goes up from the earth, of His covenant child unheeded.

(3) "I know their sorrows." Many indeed are the sorrows of God's children. They are so diverse, but He knows all about them and will adapt Himself in grace to their need.

2. God's gracious obligation to His people (vs. 8, 9).

(1) To deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians. (2) "to bring them up out of the land."

(3) "To bring them into a good land and large—into a land flowing with milk and honey."

3. God's commission to Moses (v. 10). "Come now, therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh that thou mayest bring forth my people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt."

III. Moses' Objections Patiently Heard and Removed (3:11-1:10). 1. His personal unworthiness (v. 11). He said, "Who am I that I should go unto Pharaoh?" He realized his insufficiency for this task. Moses did not refuse to go but laid his difficulty before the Lord. God answered this difficulty by assuring him that He would be with him.

2. The difficulty of the people to understand Moses' relationship to God (vs. 12, 14). Moses knew how unwilling they were to acknowledge him as their deliverer forty years before. Since God changes, his name as he assumes a new relationship to his people, Moses mentioned as to what that new relationship would be and his corresponding name. The Lord promptly met this difficulty by showing a name differing in many respects from all others previously given. This new name was "I am." This name is from the Hebrew "to be." It indicates:

1. God's self-existence. It sets forth the idea that God is the self-existent one and the source of all existence. There is no existence apart from Him.

(2) His self-sufficiency. He said, "I am that I am." God is the unique one. He is not dependent upon any other existence.

(3) His unchangeableness. "I am that I am" may be expanded to mean, I am what I always was. What I always was and am I always will be. The "I AM" of this passage is the Jesus Christ of the New Testament. Therefore the apostle could say, "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, today and forever."

3. Unbelief on the part of the people (4:1). This difficulty the Lord met by supplying him with credentials which could not be gainsaid. He was given the power to perform supernatural wonders (4:2).

4. Lack of eloquence (4:10). He confessed that he was slow of speech and of a slow tongue. His ability to speak had not been improved by the Lord's message to him. The Lord's reply (v. 41) carried a real rebuke. He assured him that the God who had made man's mouth could give man the ability to use it. This difficulty the Lord in His infinite patience met by providing an assistant in the person of his brother Aaron.

TIMELY TOPICS

Thrashing Meals.

Thrashing time will soon be here and with it always comes the question—What shall we cook? There are a few principles we might observe that will not only save a great amount of time and worry, but keep the threshers from saying "Every place we go we have the same things to eat."

- A few suggestions:- 1. Do not repeat foods and flavors. For example do not have mashed potatoes and potato salad. 2. Prepare foods that are easily prepared in large quantities. 3. One salad and one dessert is sufficient in one meal. 4. Avoid heavy rich food for surstrokes often follow eating a heavy meal. 5. Variety can be obtained by neighbors getting together beforehand and planing their meals. A few suggested menus:- 1. Boiled beef and noodles Fresh lima beans and corn. Sliced tomatoes and cucumbers. Bread and butter. Shortcake Raspberry or other fruit 2. Baked or oiled ham. Creamed potatoes Peas and carrots Lettuce and cucumber salad. Corn bread and butter Fruit Cookies 3. Pot Roast Browned potatoes Green Beans Slaw—Bread and butter Fruit pudding 4. Escalloped potatoes with hom. Corn Sliced tomatoes Bread and butter Gingerbread and applesauce. Other vegetables may be substituted if these are not available.

9:30 p. m. The Young People Meet.
The study in the Bible School is "The Call of Moses." The Scripture for study is Exodus 2:11 to 4:18. You are invited to study this great man's life with us.
Prof. Flecher S. Moffat of Piqua will teach the men. He is a fine teacher. There should be 75 men to hear him.
The Rev. Sharon K. Scott D. D., of Dayton will preach at the morning hour. Dr. Scott is a good preacher.
At 7:30 there will be a Community Service at the Park. There should be a large crowd at this service. An out of town minister will give the message. Let everyone come.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Rev. C. F. McKee, Pastor.

Opening by the Orchestra—9:15
Bible School—9:30.
Morning Worship at 10:30.
Evening Worship at 7:30.
The Bible has frequent reference to the Calls which come to God's people. Are we in the calling to which we have been called?
Our theme for the Bible School is one of the great "calls."

God calls Moses to a great task. A suggested topic is "Facing a Great Opportunity" Ex. 3:10-15 and Ex. 4:10-12. The time is 9:30. Orchestra should begin at 9:15.

The subject of meditation at our period of morning worship 10:30, will be "Our Path, Our Lamp, Our Light." Ps. 119:105 "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and light unto my path." 2 Pet. 1:19—"Whereunto ye do well that ye take heed as unto a lamp shining in a dark place."

John Masefield sings: "O with what darkness do we cloak thy light, That who alone are knowledge and delight! John 8:12—"I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life."

Angels Morgan voices our prayer: "O star that shone to lead mankind! Help me the hidden path to find." Special music by our chorus and a solo by Miss Ruth Frey.

We were all happy to have with us a number of our former leaders and workers last Lord's Day.
We are expecting to have with us on Sunday, Prof. W. K. McKee of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, Pa. and we are hoping that he will bring us the message of the morning.

Our Sunday evening service will be a union service of all our churches and will be held in our Community Park at 7:30.

There will be several out of town speakers in our midst over Sunday and we are expecting one of them to bring us the message of the evening. A feature of this program will be a "Community Sing."

In the event of rain or stormy weather this meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Dr. O. S. Thomas, Pastor

Sunday School—9:00 A. M.
Morning Worship—10:30 A. M.
Last Sunday Morning we enjoyed an unusually fine morning worship service. Our new pastor Dr. O. S. Thomas was "on the job," and did himself credit before the large audience which greeted him in the initial sermon. The service was opened in the usual way and then followed by a Meeting of Greeting or rather an inaugural address to the members and friends of the Church. We are well pleased with the work of the future as laid out therein by the Pastor, namely: To Build on the Foundation already established. What could be better than this? It makes us want to continue in the good work we have been pushing forward in the past, but let us know resolve and determine to "push" just a little bit harder and really make a united effort to get behind the Church and each do our bit in helping to put across the program. The first reward will be "in the work itself" in addition to all that will follow. The greeting address was followed by a special music number, consisting of a violin duet by Nellie Richeson Dodson and Rufus Worley, accompanied by Mary Worley at the Piano and by Frances Shafer at the Organ. This selection was wonderful, the audience was held in awe throughout. This was certainly one of those special Musical Treats to which we are so willingly exposed on numerous occasions. A splendid Sermon followed by an Anthem from the Choir and our regular quarterly Communion Service brought the morning worship to a close. A wonderful program throughout.

Do not forget that EVERYONE is welcome to these services.
Our regular monthly Sunday School Council met on Tuesday evening of this week, a diversion from the regular Monday evening because of conditions which could not be avoided. Prof. Chas. S. Foster spoke on the subject "Trained Teachers." After the address and some discussion more than sixteen of our people agreed to become members of a Teachers' Training Class. ALL the Sunday Schools of the Town and Newberry Township will be urged to become members of this class.

Sunday Morning, during the Sunday School hour Miss Margaret Johnson will give a report of her trip to Danfance in reference to the Young Peoples meeting which she attended. Come and hear what the young people are trying to put across.

There will be a Community Sing and Church Service in the Park Sunday evening 7:30, all churches participating. An out of town speaker is engaged for the occasion. If the weather does not permit the same will be held in the Presbyterian Church.

COME.

PLEASANT HILL CHURCHES

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN
Rev. J. C. Flora, Pastor

Sunday School at 9:15.
Morning Worship at 10:30.
Theme for the Sunday School session, "The Call of Moses." We can give no more nobly than to hear and willingly follow the call of God. The second in a series on the Christian home will be "Some strongholds on the American Home." Some pitfalls of the home may become strongholds of the home. You are invited to hear some of the possible solutions Sunday forenoon.
Union vesper services on Brethren Church lawn at 7:30.

BRETHREN CHURCH

H. C. Martin, Pastor.

Sunday School at 9:15.
Morning Worship at 10:30.
The Sunday school record has been very satisfactory during the month for which we are truly thankful. Your effort in being present is appreciated both by the Superintendent, teachers and pastor. It makes us all feel good.
At the morning services the pastor will speak on the subject, "A Lesson and Praying." Using one of the outstanding examples of answered prayer recorded in Acts for a basis. You ought to hear this message for your own good.

Union vesper services on the lawn in the evening. These outdoor meetings are becoming popular and we are having good attendance each Sunday evening. Song service is emphasized, Rev. J. C. Flora will be the speaker, and he always has a message worth hearing. Please come on time and help sing. Tell your friends. Everybody always welcome.

A short business meeting of the church will be held on Saturday evening at 7:30. Don't forget.

Special meeting Tuesday evening, on the lawn if weather permits. We have been having been having fine attendance at the Tuesday evening meetings, even if "Andy Gump" is a competitor.

ILLICITLY DISTILLED LIQUORS, EACH YEAR, VALUED IN BILLIONS

After six years of national prohibition and the expenditure of vast sums of money to enforce the law, the manufacture of alcoholic beverages by illicit distillation and conversion of denatured alcohol and become a great and growing industry, according to a brief filed by Julian Codman and his associates before the Senate Investigating Committee, as published in this week's Liberty to sum up the position of those who favor modification of the National Prohibition Act. In a previous issue Liberty published an article by Wayne B. Wheeler, general consul of the Anti-Saloon League, presenting the arguments of

"District Attorney Buckner of New York estimated the money value of alcoholic liquor fabricated from re-distilled denatured alcohol in the States of New York and Pennsylvania alone to be more than $3,600,000,000 a year, and Federal Prohibition Administrator Frederick G. Baird of the Pittsburgh district estimated the value of the moonshine products of the stills he had captured in his district in an eight months' period to be in excess of $2,000,000,000 a year," reads a part of the brief filed by Julian Codman.

"These estimates show the value of the unlawful output of alcoholic liquor in a very small territory of the United States, not including smuggled liquors, to be approximately $5,600,000,000 a year—about four times the value of all alcoholic liquors consumed in the United States before prohibition."
