CHRYSLER TO MANUFACTURE FOUR COMPLETE LINES

A Car For Every Pocketbook Is Aim of Manufacturing Organization.

What is regarded as one of the most important announcements made in the motor car industry in years, is a statement issued at Detroit by Walter P. Chrysler, motor car manufacturer, that the company of which he is the head will definitely proceed with the manufacture of four complete lines of cars of "Standardized Quality" to cover the four greatest markets.

What this plan means, according to Mr. Chrysler, is the building of four quality cars, each the finest in its price division, under one name, by one manufacturing organization, in one group of plants and marketed through one unified distributing organization.

It further means, he says, millions of dollars to this motor car buying public because of the greater dollar value which the plan makes possible. The statement of Mr. Chrysler was in reference to the new four cylinder car with which he will invade the lower price field in a short time.

"As we are entirely dependent for the success of our product on the attitude of the public toward it, I have always felt that the public is entitled to know the details of our plans and aims."

"I am frank to say that it has been my ambition for years to standardize quality in the manufacture of a group of motor cars, produced by the co-ordinated efforts of one organization, but designed, adequately to meet the wants and desires of the different groups into which the buying public is divided."

"When the last word is said, public demand in motor cars is determined by economic factors—and by the use and value of the car. In other words people buy the sort of car which will render the service they require at the price they can afford to pay."

"It is my belief that they have now reached the point that 'no matter what the price may be, the car must come up to certain standards of size, comfort, performance and economy if it is to win and hold public confidence and approval."

"In the past, where one manufacturer has produced cars in different classes, these have been as separate units, thus losing to the manufacturer the efficiencies and economies which should result from group manufacture."

"But under our plan of Standardized Quality, we not only have all the resources and facilities of our plants co-ordinated and functioning as one factory, but we have engineering under unified control and all of our activities, right through to the distribution to the public, working together to the one end of giving the greatest possible value in every class."

"This plan of Standardized Quality has been definitely shaping itself since we first announced the Chrysler '70' two and a half years ago. We proceeded a long step on the way in the presentation of the Chrysler Imperial '90' and went still further in this direction with the Chrysler lighter, lower priced '90'. Now we come to the final step in the process with the production of a four cylinder car in the lower price field."

"We are confident that when this new car is definitely placed before the public it will receive the same enthusiastic reception that has been accorded our other cars."

"Each of these cars will remain a separate identity, delivering separate and individual qualities of performance, but, by grouping of purchase power and manufacturing facilities, all four enjoy engineering development and standardized production, with pronounced lowering of overhead all of which is to the advantage of the buyer."

"The history of the past in the automobile industry has largely revolved around the idea of fixing a low price to compel a large volume."

"Under our plan of Standardized Quality, the idea is to utilize every possible economy in the production of four cars covering the entire market, and by these economies, produce such obvious and manifest value that volume will follow as a natural consequence."

TONSILECTOMY OPERATION

Miss Esther Blair, of West Milton, submitted to an operation for the removal of her tonsils, this morning.

Miss Blair came through the operation successfully and is getting along all right.

GO TO EVERGREEN

The Maier Motor Truck carried a load of lively girls from the 4-H Food Club to Evergreen lake, this morning. They were also well provided with good things to eat, and expected also to take a swim in the lake before returning this evening.

SPRAINS ANKLE

J. G. Rench is now able to go about with a cane, after a week with a sprained ankle, several days of which was spent on crutches. Mr. Rench sprained his ankle when stepping down from the sidewalk and has had to go slowly for awhile.

BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. James Rench, entertained the Bridge Club, last evening, at her home on E. Walnut st.

Mrs. Rodney Finrock was a guest of the club, in the absence of one of the members.

Peach Melba, angel food cake, lady fingers, and coffee were served as refreshments during the evening.

Mrs. Mary Hall won high score at bridge, as is frequently her fortune, and all spent a pleasant evening with Mrs. Rench.

BEAREAN CLASS ENTERTAINED

The Bearean Sunday School Class of the Church of the Brethren, Y. S. entertained the afternoon at the pleasant cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Box.

There are about seventy-five members of this class, including both men and women, a large number of them enjoying the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fox in this pleasant outing on the Stillwater.

ATTEND RICHMOND WEDDING

AN UNUSUAL RECORD

Few people can lay claim to 50 years of active membership in any church, but this record, which is seldom equalled and not often surpassed is held by a quiet unassuming man who resides in West Covington—Mr. Henry Thompson.

When four years old, during a revival conducted by Rev. Richard Brandon, a much beloved pastor who has since gone to his reward Thompson united with the Greenville Creek Church, and for over a half century he retained membership with that congregation, holding what is believed to be the record for church membership in this community.

Being nearer to Covington, he transferred his membership to the Covington Christian Church on Mar. 29th, 1925, and was baptised by Rev. W. A. Freeman on June 28th, 1925.

"We believe that this is a record and if any of our readers can beat it, we would be glad to have their names."

ATTEND WEDDING OF SIMON DUNKLE AND MISS TROTT

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kraus and daughter, Miss Zanette were among the guests honored by an invitation to the wedding of Mr. Simon Dunkle and Miss Houtore Trott. The wedding took place in the Lutheran Church, Columbus, the home of the bride. Mr. Dunkle is a nephew to Mr. Kraus, and lived in Greenville.

About fifty guests were present at the dinner also, which was given at the Neil House, Columbus, the bride and groom leaving immediately afterward for New York City.

Mr. Dunkle received a double honor on the day of his marriage, which was a notice that he had successfully passed the examination to the Ohio bar, and his bride, who is a charming young woman.

Mr. Dunkle will be employed in the office of Governor Donahay, the young couple making their home in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Kraus remained in Columbus yesterday.

O. H. White and daughter, Miss Mary, of Eaton were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kraus, today. Dr. Conley, of Columbus, was also a guest at their home, yesterday.

MIAMI COUNTY HEALTH NOTES

In Miami County exclusive of Piquet and Troy during the five years 1921-1925 inclusive, there were 182 deaths of babies under two years of age. Prematurity or babies born before nine months was the highest cause of deaths of infants. In fact one out of five of the deaths were due to this cause. Pneumonia which is so often preceded by whooping cough and measles was the next largest factor in the cause of infant death. A little more than one out of seven deaths were due to this lung infection. Enteritis or cholera infantum was the third largest cause of deaths under two years, one in eight babies dying from this severe diarrhea much dreaded in summer. It is pleasing to note here that in the last two years there has only been two deaths in each year from this cause while in 1921 there were eleven deaths. More intelligent care of babies and better milk supply and keeping milk cold all have done much to reduce the deaths from cholera infantum. The following also were causes of death in their order of importance: congenital malformation of heart, marasmus or malnutrition, meningitis, injuries at birth, diphtheria, infantile convulsions, whooping cough, kidney trouble, accidental poisoning, measles, influenza, jaundice, bronchitis and several others that caused one death each, some of which were tetanus, infantile paralysis, obstruction of bowels, etc.

Since prematurity is such a large cause of infant deaths, it seems that each mother expecting a baby should place herself under the care of her physician during this period.

Pneumonia is many times preceded by measles and whooping cough, by these diseases nor does it pay to expose babies to the common cold since a baby is so apt to develop bronchitis and pneumonia, while a healthy adult probably would not develop anything serious. Cholera infantum which was the third largest cause of death could almost be prevented in fact entirely prevented. Proper feeding of the baby with clean milk which has been kept cold and keeping other dirt from the baby's mouth such as pacifiers will go a long way in preventing this severe type of diarrhea. Severe diarrhea are often preceded by a dyspepsia which is a warning to mothers. If a baby develops frequent watery stools and are green, do not wait until the stools appear to stop all feedings and the baby has high fever and convulsions before you call your physician. What mothers can do when the frequent watery green stools appear it to stop all feedings and give the baby plenty of boiled water in small amounts often and consult her physician immediately. Time should not be lost.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics club met in their club room, Monday evening, the attendance was fine, each lady bringing her best pickle or salad recipe. After the presentation of business the meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee. After several contests, an auction sale of packages was held, Vanis Martin acting as auctioneer, the bidding was fast and furious, the highest bidder being the buyer. The meeting was then adjourned to meet the fourth Monday in August.

Beware of little expenses. A small leak will sink a great ship. There is always something to consume every penny of income, yet many people with similar incomes are saving money. Each person should have a savings account and put a certain amount in it each week or month. It becomes interesting now and more so hereafter. The Covington Building & Loan Association helps many money savers, protects their savings and pay good dividends upon them.

AMERICAN TEAMWORK AND PROGRESS

The American people will be particularly interested in the following summary from the report of the British Labor Commission, and the discussion of industrial co-operation as the guarantee for future national prosperity, which is presented by Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman of the Board of the Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, in a recent address before the New England Bankers Association.

After pointing out that it is a banker's duty to keep pace with the economic situation, exert his influence to stabilize business, and to direct attention to healthy and progressive forces which make for national prosperity, Mr. Pierson pointed out that for half a century we have been perfecting an industrial machine which today produces more manufactured products than any other nation in the world.

To secure this high production we quickly learned that two factors were necessary. The first was power machinery, and the second was development of business units large enough, the highest bidder being the elaborate manufacturing plant.

"High production, high wages and high consumption are the cardinal principles of modern American industry."

"We look abroad, and we find the low production, low wage and low consumption nations with their factories idle and a large proportion of their people unemployed."

Mr. Pierson gives quotations from the individual statements of the members of the British Labor Commission which recently visited this country to study our industrial system with the idea of bettering the position of their own country and its people. In conclusion Mr. Pierson said:

"These visitors placed their fingers on two factors which, in their judgment, have been most largely responsible for our favored position. First, high production with its attendant corollaries of high wages and high standards of living; second, the co-operative spirit which exists between management and labor within American industry."

"We behold government devoting to resources and authority to the solution of industry's difficulties. From the workman at his bench to the executive at his desk, the spirit of co-operation and team play invigorates our whole industrial movement. If we can keep clearly in our minds the tremendous distance which we have traversed in a few short years, and the success which on the whole has crowned our efforts, there will be little the demagogue or the chameleon can do to disturb the steady progress of the American nation. With management and nation working together to increase the productivity of American factories, with our industrial structure cooperating to perfect the processes of business, we are moving steadily forward to even better things toward a future which will be rich with deserved achievement."

Fog's Effect on Air

Foggy air weighs more than clear air if all the other conditions are alike, and more per cubic foot, say, by the weight of all the fog particles in that cubic foot less the weight of the air displaced by these particles. However, this fog weighs very little, and so dry air and foggy air, when the other conditions are identical, weigh almost exactly the same.

FRANK MATTHEWS

Frank Matthews, of Troy, chief deputy sheriff of Miami county, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff at the primary, August 10.

Matthews has been deputy for the past four years and is well acquainted with the duties of the office. He is a veteran of the World war and is reported to have the backing of the majority of the ex-service men. He is the only veteran on the county Republican ticket. He is making an active canvass of the entire county and has met with a cordial reception among the voters. He is said to be especially strong in Piqua where he resided before entering the sheriff's office.

DAYTON YOUTH ACCUSED OF MURDERING OFFICER

The Dayton Journal this morning carried a photo of George Ernst, 21, who the police have named as the murderer of special officer Simon Penny at Greenville a week ago. He is still at large.

The trail of the murderer leads to Dayton from Piqua as the result of the finding of a small automobile, stolen in Piqua, near the National Military home.

An automobile stolen from Greenville Friday morning, near the scene of the murder, had previously been found in Piqua.

The Greenville automobile, belonging to Peter Grubbs, contained a Greenville newspaper of the date of July 21 and a rubber apron, which had been left in the car by Grubbs.

More important to investigating Greenville authorities was a spot of blood on the seat of the machine, indicating the driver had been wounded.

Shortly after the Grubbs car had been abandoned, Elmer McCracken, Piqua, R. R. 1, notified police his machine had been stolen and it was found by Dayton officers in this city Tuesday night.

The announcement of the identity of the suspect sought for the murder of the Greenville policeman was made yesterday by Prosecutor Stanley Mote of Greenville on the advice of Dayton police officials.

Andrew Ernst, companion of the slayer, who was arrested at the time of the shooting has declined to divulge the name of the murderer, intimating he was protecting a relative.

Authorities are convinced the man they are seeking is George Ernst, who had been seen before the shooting in the automobile which was abandoned at the time of the murder. George Ernst is reported to be a cousin of Andrew, whom the older man had reared in his home near Phillipsburg.

George Ernst is said by Dayton police to have formerly lived on Steele avenue in that city. He was arrested here in 1924 for burglary and larceny, records reveal. He is said to have several sisters and other relatives residing in Dayton.

Andrew Ernst was assigned yesterday afternoon in the court of Magistrate John H. Bollinger at Greenville on a charge of first degree murder, entered a plea of not guilty and preliminary hearing was set for August 19th.

Attorney Strother B. Jackson, of Dayton, and Attorney George V. Crawford, of Greenville, have been retained by Ernst as counsel.

Ernst's attorneys contend that their client is more or less a victim of circumstances. They assert that Ernst, at the time of his arrest, was unarmed and making no resistance to the officers; that he was neither the owner of the automobile nor driver of the automobile which brought him and his companion to Greenville, nor the owner of any firearms that were brought to Greenville, and that the first degree murder charge placed against him is only a technical charge.

A warrant charging grand larceny and burglary was sworn out this morning by Sheriff Mont Spillman against Ernst.

The charge against Ernst is based upon the burglary of the A. C. Carroll grocery store at Laura on May 3. The robbery failed when the owner of the store discovered the men and fired at them when they ran away. The burglars abandoned an automobile which they had loaded with merchandise.

The machine, which is being held by the sheriff, is believed to have been stolen. One of the license tags had been issued to Ernst, and the other to a garage man from Phillipsburg, from whom it had been stolen.

COVINGTON IS FAMOUS AS CHAUTAUQUA CENTER

For more than a decade Covington has been the center of Lyceum and Chautauqua work. Year after year the people of the community have looked toward this village for the best talent in these lines. A Chautauqua season has become so much a part of the community life of our people that it is looked forward to as a matter of course. Vacations are planned, visits scheduled and the Chautauqua season has become the outing season for the most of our people.

Chautauqua season is fast approaching—the organization is now complete and the campaign will soon be launched in dead earnest. Now is time to begin talking it. Writing to friends about it and lining up to put it over in great shape.

First Horses in America

Horses were not known to the Indians prior to the advent of the white man in America. The first horses seen by the mainland Indians were those of the Spanish invaders of Mexico. A few years later De Soto brought the horse into Florida and westward to the Mississippi, while Coronado in 1541 introduced it to the Indians of the Great plains.

LEADERS RALLY TO HELP COOPER

Gets Endorsement of Many County Committees.

Columbus, O. — (Special) — Although many county committees have stood aloof in the matter of formally endorsing any candidate for state office, since there are so many in the field, leaders throughout Ohio, sensing the drift of affairs and being determined to pick a winner, are rallying in the support of Myers V. Cooper, of Cincinnati.

Endorsements, therefore, are coming to Cooper headquarters from every quarter of the state, and there is indication that the organizations in many counties will follow. This approval of Cooper's candidacy comes from the larger as well as smaller counties. The Hamilton County Republican Executive Committee early took the lead in placing its stamp of approval upon their fellow-citizen. A number of counties of lesser size have followed this lead, including Erie, Seneca, Clinton and others.

The so-called agricultural counties sense their opportunity to get a man in the Governor's office who will be truly sympathetic with their problems—one who will be a servant of all the people, rather than a rubber-stamp for a particular group.

Church people, club members, veterans and other groups also are rallying to the Cooper banner because they want the governorship restored to its old-time dignity, high standing and efficiency.

Eskimos Best Patients

The Eskimos are described by Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the Arctic explorer, as the best patients he has ever met. They heal well and display an almost romantic curiosity in operations.

Not Thorough

A magazine writer says that our modern cooking schools are not thorough. Probably he would have them teach the pupils how to treat dyspepsia.

Origin of "Bits"

The term "bits" comes from the frontier practice of hacking Spanish dollars into eight pieces or bits to provide change, as small-mined coins usually were lacking.
