GETTING READY FOR BIG TIME ON LABOR DAY

Farmers and Business Men Cooperating to Have Another Great Time on September 4th.

At a meeting of farmers and business men held last evening at the Townshend Building, the first steps were taken toward another big day in Community Park. The plans are for a Farmers Picnic on Labor Day, with an afternoon and evening of wholesome fun, contests, entertainment, etc.

From the manner in which the subject was discussed we predict a much larger crowd than was present last Thursday and plenty of good eats and amusements.

The farmers will have complete charge of all arrangements, with the business men of Covington pledging themselves to cooperate to the fullest extent. Announcements of the program and plans will be ready soon after the first of the month.

Plan now to spend Labor Day in Covington.

CLASS 13 SPENDS HAPPY HOLIDAY

Evergreen Lake is becoming quite a popular outing place with Covington people, and a number of picnic parties have been held at that beautiful resort. Yesterday afternoon Class 13 of the Christian Church held their annual picnic at that place, and from reports, certainly enjoyed every minute of the time.

In fact they enjoyed themselves so much that it was away after dark when they pulled in to the old home town. At that some of them were ashamed to meet their wives and had to sneak into their home like a bunch of kids who had ran away to the old swimming hole. Several of them looked like they had fallen into the water with their clothes on, and there is a great deal of whispered conversation about "water" and "pop bottles" whenever two of them meet.

The clothes lines looked like wash day this morning and we noticed that Mel Kinney was making his rounds bright and early with his dry cleaning Ford.

FARMERS CHALLENGE VILLAGE

About 17 farmers have planned to bring teams, wagons, tractors and scoops to Community Park on the afternoon of Thursday, August 12th for the purpose of filling up some of the holes, grading and otherwise improving the grounds.

These horny-handed sons of toil expect to show the villagers how to get a lot of work done, and they challenge the rakes and shovel brigade to be there and see who can do the most work.

Somebody suggested that the women of the city prepare sandwiches and drinks for the workers that afternoon. Will some lady take it upon herself to see that this is done?

TIPPECANOE CITY RESIDENCES AND GARAGE DAMAGED

Fire early this morning destroyed the garage and auto sales agency of Vernon Danes in Tippecanoe City.

The residences of C. J. Trost and of Mr. Danes also were damaged.

The home offices of the Miami Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance company also were damaged, valuable records being destroyed.

The fire was discovered by Police man John Scott shortly after 2 o'clock this morning.

The loss is estimated at $20,000.

RODNEY HUFFMAN BETTER

Mrs. Forrest Huffman is leaving this evening for Columbus to spend a few days with Mrs. Rodney Huffman and family, going especially to see Mr. Huffman who is at the Hospital because of an injured hand, which he received while working on the Railroad. The latest news from the Hospital is that he is improving.

AMERICAN TEAMWORK AND PROGRESS

The American people will be particularly interested in the following summary from the report of the British Labor Commission, and the discussion of industrial co-operation as the guarantee for future national prosperity, which is presented by Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman of the Board of the Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Company, in a recent address before the New England Bankers Association.

After pointing out that it is a banker's duty to keep pace with the economic situation, exert his influence to stabilize business, and to direct attention to healthy and progressive forces which make for national prosperity, Mr. Pierson pointed out that for half a century we have been perfecting an industrial machine which today produces more manufactured products than any other nation in the world.

To secure this high production we quickly learned that two factors were necessary. The first was power machinery, and the second was development of business units large enough to absorb the highest bidder being the elaborate manufacturing plant.

"High production, high wages and high consumption are the cardinal principles of modern American industry."

"We look abroad, and we find the low production, low wage and low consumption nations with their factories idle and a large proportion of their people unemployed."

Mr. Pierson gives quotations from the individual statements of the members of the British Labor Commission which recently visited this country to study our industrial system with the idea of bettering the position of their own country and its people. In conclusion Mr. Pierson said:

"These visitors placed their fingers on two factors which, in their judgement, have been most largely responsible for our favored position. First, high production with its attendant corollaries of high wages and high standards of living; second, the co-operative spirit which exists between management and labor within American industry."

"We behold government devoting to resources and authority to the solution of industry's difficulties. From the workman at his desk to the executive at his desk, the spirit of co-operation and team play invigorates our whole industrial movement. If we can keep clearly in our minds the tremendous distance which we have traversed in a few short years, and the success which on the whole has crowned our efforts, there will be little the demagogue or the chameleon can do to disturb the steady progress of the American nation. With management and nation working together to increase the productivity of American factories, with our industrial structure co-operating to perfect the processes of business, we are moving steadily forward to even better things toward a future which will be rich with deserved achievement."

Fog's Effect on Air

Foggy air weighs more than clear air if all the other conditions are alike, and more per cubic foot, say, by the weight of all the fog particles in that cubic foot less the weight of the air displaced by these particles. However, this fog weighs very little, and so dry air and foggy air, when the other conditions are identical, weigh almost exactly the same.

FRANK MATTHEWS

Frank Matthews, of Troy, chief deputy sheriff of Miami county, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff at the primary, August 10.

Matthews has been deputy for the past four years and is well acquainted with the duties of the office. He is a veteran of the World war and is reported to have the backing of the majority of the ex-service men. He is the only veteran on the county Republican ticket. He is making an active canvass of the entire county and has met with a cordial reception among the voters. He is said to be especially strong in Piqua where he resided before entering the sheriff's office.

DAYTON YOUTH ACCUSED OF MURDERING OFFICER

The Dayton Journal this morning carried a photo of George Ernst, 21, who the police have named as the murderer of special officer Simon Penny at Greenville a week ago. He is still at large.

The trail of the murderer leads to Dayton from Piqua as the result of the finding of a small automobile, stolen in Piqua, near the National Military home.

An automobile stolen from Greenville Friday morning, near the scene of the murder, had previously been found in Piqua.

The Greenville automobile, belonging to Peter Grubbs, contained a Greenville newspaper of the date of July 21 and a rubber apron, which had been left in the car by Grubbs.

More important to investigating Greenville authorities was a spot of blood on the seat of the machine indicating the driver had been wounded.

Shortly after the Grubbs car had been abandoned, Elmer McCracken, Piqua, R. R. 1, notified police his machine had been stolen and it was found by Dayton officers in this city Tuesday night.

The announcement of the identity of the suspect sought for the murder of the Greenville policeman was made yesterday by Prosecutor Stanley Mote of Greenville on the advice of Dayton police officials.

Andrew Ernst, companion of the slayer, who was arrested at the time of the shooting has declined to divulge the name of the murderer, intimating he was protecting a relative.

Authorities are convinced the man they are seeking is George Ernst, who had been seen before the shooting in the automobile which was abandoned at the time of the murder. George Ernst is reported to be a cousin of Andrew, whom the elder man had reared in his home near Phillipsburg.

George Ernst is said by Dayton police to have formerly lived on Steele avenue in that city. He was arrested here in 1924 for burglary and larceny, records reveal. He is said to have several sisters and other relatives residing in Dayton.

Andrew Ernst was assigned yesterday afternoon in the court of Magistrate John H. Bollinger at Greenville on a charge of first degree murder, entered a plea of not guilty and preliminary hearing was set for August 19th.

Attorney Strother B. Jackson, of Dayton, and Attorney George F. Crawford, of Greenville, have been retained by Ernst as counsel.

Ernst's attorneys contend that their client is more or less a victim of circumstances. They assert that Ernst, at the time of his arrest, was unarmed and making no resistance to the officers; that he was neither the owner of the automobile nor driver of the automobile which brought him and his companion to Greenville, nor the owner of any firearms that were brought to Greenville, and that the first degree murder charge placed against him is only a technical charge.

A warrant charging grand larceny and burglary was sworn out this morning by Sheriff Mont Spillman against Ernst.

The charge against Ernst is based upon the burglary of the A. C. Carroll grocery store at Laura on May 3. The robbery failed when the owner of the store discovered the men and fired at them when they ran away. The burglars abandoned an automobile which they had loaded with merchandise.

The machine, which is being held by the sheriff, is believed to have been stolen. One of the license tags had been issued to Ernst, and the other to a garage man of Phillipsburg, from whom it had been stolen.

COVINGTON IS FAMOUS
AS CHAUTAQUA CENTER

For more than a decade Covington has been the center of Lyceum and Chautauqua work. Year after year the people of the community have looked toward this village for the best talent in these lines. A Chautauqua season has become so much a part of the community life of our people that it is looked forward to as a matter of course. Visitation are planned, visits scheduled and the Chautauqua season has become the outing season for the most of our people.

Chautauqua season is fast approaching, the organization is now complete and the campaign will soon be launched in dead earnest. Now is time to begin talking it. Writing to friends about it and lining up to put it over in great shape.

First Horses in America

Horses were not known to the Indians prior to the advent of the white man in America. The first horses seen by the mainland Indians were those of the Spanish invaders of Mexico. A few years later, De Soto brought the horse into Florida and westward to the Mississippi, while Coronado, in 1541, introduced it to the Indians of the Great Plains.

LEADERS RALLY
TO HELP COOPER

Get Endorsement of Many County Committees.

Columbus, O. — (Special) — Although many county committees have stood aloof in the matter of formally endorsing any candidate for state office, since there are so many in the field, leaders throughout Ohio, leaving the drift of affairs and being determined to pick a winner, are rallying to the support of Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati.

Endorsements, therefore, are coming to Cooper headquarters from every quarter of the state, and there is indication that the organizations in many counties will follow. This approval of Cooper's candidacy comes from the larger as well as smaller counties. The Hamilton County Republican Executive Committee early took the lead in placing its stamp of approval upon their fellow-citizen. A number of clubs of lesser size have followed this lead, including Erie, Scioto, Clinton and others.

The so-called agricultural counties sense their opportunity to get a man in the Governor's office who will be truly sympathetic with their problem — one who will be a servant of all the people, rather than a rubber-stamp for a particular group.

Church people, club members, veterans and other groups also are rallying to the Cooper banner, because they want the governorship restored to its old-time dignity, high standing and efficiency.

FRANK MONNETT

CANDIDATE FOR OHIO POST HERE

Former Attorney General Seeking Renomination at August Primary

Frank S. Monnett, former attorney general of Ohio from 1896 to 1900 and a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the same office again this year, was in Dayton Thursday, visiting prominent members of the party, political leaders and organizations in the interest of his candidacy.

Mr. Monnett is best known to the older generation of Buckeyes as the man who forced the Standard Oil Co. out of the state, because of its alleged trust organization.

To the present day citizens he is the man who forced the Dollings investigation, the probing of their system of stock sales and prosecution of the heads, which has just resulted in the refusal of the appeals of the Benham-Dollings group from serving prison terms.

The Ohio State Federation of Labor has just endorsed Mr. Monnett's candidacy for the position he seeks. In 1914 he was special counsel for the United States senate committee in the investigation of mine conditions in West Virginia and was special counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission under President Theodore Roosevelt.

Last year Mr. Monnett was in New Zealand and Australia studying the governmental systems there, acknowledged to be the most advanced in the world. The year previous to that he spent in China, Palestine, Egypt, England, France and other European nations studying certain phases of the legal codes of those nations for the American Bar association.—Dayton News.

Woodpecker Tree Friend

Because he reaches with his long tongue into holes bored by beetles and extracts the beetle grub therefrom, the little woodpecker is looked upon by foresters as a great friend of the tree. These beetles leave a kind of embroidery of grooves on the bark and the woodpecker destroys thousands of beetles.

Whale Meat Sent to Feed African Natives

In his annual report, the chief sanitary inspector of Inverness, Scotland, after an investigation at the request of a large number of taxpayers who had complained of disagreeable odors, says the curing of whale flesh for human consumption has been carried on by residents of the island of Harris for some time.

It appears, says the inspector, that the industry was inaugurated by the late Lord Leverhulme, of Lever Bros., which firm has fishing and other interests in many parts of the world. The inspector's report explains that the work is done at the herring curing station at Leverburgh, where the meat is cut into small pieces, washed and pickled, afterward being hung on frames and dried by mechanical power.

When thoroughly dry the whale meat is packed under pressure in kegs and exported to the Kongo for feeding natives working for the Lever company.

Records on Bamboo

The folklore of the poor Malay people in Sumatra, according to Prof. H. H. Bartlett, of the Smithsonian Institution, is preserved on joints of bamboo. While studying rubber-producing plants in that country, Professor Bartlett became interested in the custom which the natives practice of writing their faiths, legends and accounts of magical and medicinal uses of plants on the joints of bamboo when the plants are still green. Afterwards the bamboo is dried and preserved indefinitely.—Exchange.

Fake Passports Sold to Poles Bound for U. S.

Warsaw—A gang of passport counterfeits, led by J. Rubinsky of New York, a Polish Jew and naturalized American, was arrested in Warsaw on information furnished by the American consulate. On the last seven American-bound steamers between 20 and 50 Poles carried forged passports.
They paid from $50 to $300 for the papers. Forged passports are popular because 250,000 Poles are anxious to emigrate to America, while this year's quota provides visas for only 6,000. Two hundred thousand of the applicants are Jews and the remaining 50,000 are city workers.

The forgers, Rubinsky, his wife, Joe Grimm and Greenburg, photographed original visas and passports of Polish emigrants and made copies. These were given to customers, who sailed from different ports than the owners of the genuine passports.

Bobbing of Hair Means Something in Australia

London.—Up-to-date women have their hair shingled among the Australian aborigines in the region of Gregory sea, and it is a husband's prerogative to cut his wife's hair with sharpened stones.

Such is the story of hairdressing in Australia which Michael Terry, explorer, has brought back to London after a trip through little-known parts of northern Australia.
Female hair is much prized by the aborigines, as it is used in weaving belts and making various sorts of ornaments.

Golf Widower

Westfield, N. Y.—Nova Adolphus
Brown, who has an income of $50,000 a year, regards himself as a golf widower. He avers that Mrs. Brown was so busy seeking golf titles that she would not sew a button on his shirt.

Niagara Illuminated

The falls of Niagara were illuminated one night as early as 1884 by Albert Bierstadt, for the benefit of English railway men, by flashing powder on the ledge of rocks beneath the American falls. Since May, 1925, Niagara has been illuminated in colors for four hours every night.

Worse and Worse

Yesterday he refused me a new dinner gown and this morning he refused me

Character and Brain

Told in Handwriting

"It is necessary to distinguish between a pretty writing and a legible one," declares Doctor Logre, a well-known Paris psychiatrist, in giving his verdict on whether a really intelligent person can have a good handwriting, "as the two qualities are not always found together. Study of manuscript suggests approximate laws, some of which are: 1. Ulliterate people usually have a legible, but inelegant writing (too regular, too correct); 2. fancy writing is very often a symptom of mental debility (adorned, scented, vain writing); 3.
Intellectuals who write much and rapidly, such as doctors, lawyers, and writers, have a writing which is usually hard to read (easy, but indiscreet the pen chasing the alert thought without regard to form); 4. Intellectuals who are artists usually have a pretty writing (writing with a distinct personality, expressive); 5. Intellectuals who are not the sole cause of illegible writing (careless, slouchy, and lack of discipline are also to be blame)."—Chicago News.

Rabbits and Frogs "Game"

For the first time in history cottontail rabbits and frogs are to receive protection in Washington, the commission having fixed an open and closed season for each.

Rabbits are now recognized as game in most states, and some eastern states annually purchase thousands of them for stocking purposes. Frogs are of great commercial value as a food product, for bait and are useful as insect consumers.

Football Popular

No fewer than 2,539,756 persons witnessed the various games for the football association cup, in England, which was recently won by Bolton Wanderers.

This constitutes a record attendance for the competition, as also does the amount of money paid in by the spectators, which was $204,119, an increase of $18,500 over the previous best season.

Frozen Eggs From China

A. J. Morris, vice president of the American Merchant Lines, in charge of traffic at New York, reports a new unloading record established when 32,000 cases of frozen eggs from China were removed from the liner American Farmer in 20 hours. The eggs, which were in this, were brought over in refrigeration. The American Farmer arrived at New York port June 22.

Early New World City

The first European city in the New world, named Isabella, was founded by Christopher Columbus in December, 1493, on the northern shore of Haiti, about twenty-five miles west of the present town of Puerto Plata.

Government Defined

Government is a trust, and the officers of the government are trustees; and both the trust and the trustees are created for the benefit of the people.—Henry Clay.

The Coming Man

A coming man should arrive occasionally. I know men said to be promising who have been on the verge of bankruptcy for years; they have made no progress since I have known them and bankruptcy will finally get most of them when they become old and are able to do less promising. . . . A man who is not a little better off at the end of every year is falling.—Howe's Monthly.

Beef Simply Preserved

Jerked beef is beef in long strips dried in the air, with or without being previously immersed in brine. The original jerked beef was unsalted. The word "jerked" comes from the Spanish-American "charquear." The industry originated in Uruguay, where the beef so prepared is tasso.

Pure Regard

Two little girls, city bred, had been taught a prayer. In it were the words: "May the soul of the faithful departed rest in peace." As they were saying it one evening before retiring their mother overheard them. They said: "May the souls of the fire department rest in peace."

Our Pastor will not be with us this Sunday, but he has obtained a supply in the person of his son, Rev. Frank Thomas who spoke from our pulpit on several different occasions last year.

Miss Velma Cool will complete her studies at Oxford this week and will resume her duties as Choir Director the following week.

The following officers were elected for the Sunday School during the ensuing year.

WANTED—A PIANO

Someone in this community has an old piano that they do not need, perhaps it is in the way. Here is a chance to place it where it will do some good.

Community park is fast becoming a meeting point for Reunions, many of which have programs which require the use of a piano. Then there are other occasions upon which a piano would be appreciated by people who gather there.

There are no funds to buy one. Who is big hearted enough to make a gift of a piano to the park? Please the News office.
