INTEREST IN CAMPAIGN REMAINS HIGH DAILY

Your Friends Are Waiting To Give You a Subscription. See Them Today.

This is certainly a very satisfactory situation. The fact that the number of ballots and those given ample proof that the enterprise is popular and that the campaign is getting more and more successful is a splendid augur when the plan to have the subscriptions to the paper made, prices were selected and the subscription rates increased to the original high class price of $5.00 per year is a fact which prevails—what could be more confirm convincing? Under the circumstances, considering, there should be no reason why the contents nomin alized in the paper should not make the subscriptions fly thick and fast during the remainder of the time.

Experienced people have been en gaged and are in the field, and to look after the hundreds of delegates and to answer the questions of the public whenever possible. Their management will be absolutely independent in the selection of these delegates and the delegates undoubtedly right now and for at least the time that the contest is in progress. Their favor of any other town or city is received in the post office.

It is sad to be true, but the careful treatment and fair treatment that is being afforded the largest body of businesses and property, and this contest is strictly a business proposition, and will start to finish. The management will be such as to leave no room for these awards to be made to any other favorable to themselves or any one else.

One thing our contestants should not disregard is the fact that more votes are allowed for one person than for the other, and the same list of names in the canvass, the cost of course, counts for the same on the bonus offers, and all the canvassers who get more than a hundred more votes are given for a new town or city.

Obviously, then, the contestants should use the same methods of canvassing for the new one.

Let your work be as systematic and as business minded as the campaign is to be truthfully conducted. One evangelist or man in Cotugnet and community will have been appointed by the patrons of sub scribing for the New

Argument. The

canvassers are to be given to the districts to vote for which they are best fitted and every candidate should be in charge of his own

area of extra votes. Remember that at no time will there be offering a greater number of bonus votes to be given as now is when you make the bibles and match book.

Tricks of Lightning

Lightning plays no favorites. It strikes a rookwood bough anywhere—anywhere. If plays more when some unwary person gets the little shots than others: it will hit the main tree spearhead.

On the hill where I live there isn’t a tree of any age but 250 years that does not show lightning scars, and the sinuous lines men follow to which once these bare branches were welded to carry on the worries with no one else.

Lightning, when it strikes a vital structure, leaves no forming path, but when a dead sapling or a dead old tree in track there is no indicator left that the traces left by a bolt of pitch or undercliff and leaves and tree to tree and there off to a large quantity of smoke. This generally takes a course enough up from the forest and about others become as either that they easily tell that kind of fire and sure, it’s easy to say to expect before he sets out—Saturday Evening Post.

THE CARE AND PROPER USE OF FINE LINENS

BY VVYVAN DELAFIELD

ARTICLE II

Where Linens Come From

There begins with the origin of clothing. Flax, being a vegetable, was probably the first textile made by man. As early as 500 B.C., the Irish were weaving their own cloth to trade in the ears. Since then Ireland and Scotland have been the chief suppliers of the world’s fine linen supply. The climatic conditions of those countries lend them admirably to the growing of flax and spinning and weaving of fine linens. The sunshine, moisture and mild temperature all combine to produce

It Happened in June

By CLARISMA MACKIE

A NOC! said Donald Decker in his broad, robust voice. "You look like the happiest girl in the world, young lady." She sounded it, for he was no more than a friend of the family. "I hope you're ready for the wedding. It's going to be a grand affair." He was right. The wedding was to be a joyful occasion, and everyone was looking forward to it.

Cattie's Continues in Monoto-

Cattie, Monticello—While all the other capitals of Europe have been growing at a rapid pace, Cattie, once the capital of Monticello, has diminished in size. This is because of a decline in the population of the state and a significant decrease in the number of political meetings.
