Great Britain is Again Facing Another Big General Strike

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Detroit Oct. 6.—Great Britain is headed inevitably toward another general strike, to be fought even harder than the lockout of last May. George W. Hicks and Fred G. Bromley, fraternal delegates from the British Trades Union Congress, told the American Federation of Labor convention today.

Hicks is chairman of the British Trades Union Council Executive board. Bromley is general secretary of the Society of Locomotive engine-men and firemen and is a Labor member of parliament.

BULLETIN

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Columbus, O. Oct. 6.—In a letter bristling with sharpness, John F. Burke, of Elyria, chairman of the Primary Defense League, today challenged Charles L. Knight, head of the Primary Referendum Committee and sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment modifying Ohio's primary law, to meet him in joint debate "in either Akron—your home city—or any other place, and as many places as you wish," on the controversy revolving around the proposed amendment.

Steubenville, O. Oct. 6.—Hearing of ouster proceedings against Mayor John H. S. Patton alleged by 412 petitioners to have been lax in the performance of his duties, is expected to reach a conclusion here late today, when attorneys will launch their final arguments.

Columbus, O. Oct. 6.—Prosecutor King announced his intention today of investigating the fatal shooting of Elmer Frisell, 40, by John Garrison, deputy constable, to determine whether charges will be filed against Garrison, held in the county jail without bail.

BULLETIN

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Canton, O. Oct. 6.—Carl Studer, arraigned a few days ago on indictment charging him with perjury and keeping a house of ill fame, to which he pleaded not guilty, was taken into court at his own request today and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of keeping a house of prostitution. He was sentenced by Judge E. W. Diehl to one to three years in the state penitentiary. He will probably be taken there tomorrow. The indictments for perjury will be held over him and may be tried when he completes his present term.

Studer was a partner of Louis Maser, indicted for murder in the death of Don R. Mellett, and they flourished as the leading bootleggers of Canton.

ROBBERS ENTER

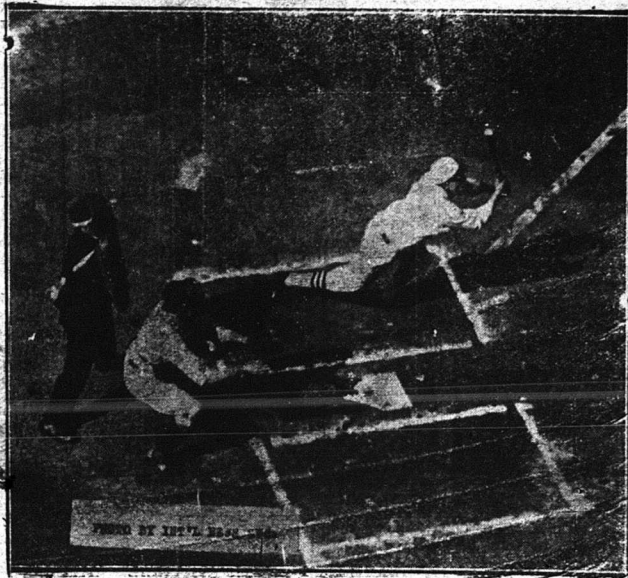

DREES COAL OFFICE

Sometime in the night the office of the Oon F. Drees Coal Yards was entered through the window. The safe was broken open and its contents scattered over the floor. The strong box inside the safe was also missing and was found later along the railroad tracks, broken open.

The papers in the strong box were left undisturbed and no loss to the company has been found, as no cash has been left in the safe or cash drawers. Whoever the thief, his intention seemed a search for gold and was not interested in valuable papers.

And those men taking you can't say that any thieves had been prowling around, but it may be well for others to be on the lookout.

BABE RUTH IN ACTION IN WORLD SERIES

Today's Game

SCORE 10 to 5 in favor of the Yanks

Babe Ruth the Home Run King of the New York Yankees made 3 home runs in the game today and was walked twice in five times up. He has redeemed himself for his poor hitting in the games prior to this one. Babe made his first home runs of the series today. This ties the teams each having won two games.

By Davis J. Walsh

Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, Oct. 6.—Swelling skies, in thorough accord with the mood of all St. Louis, this afternoon greeted the fourth game of the world series between the Cards and Yankees, an occasion that found the local larynx in excellent voice and a knowing grin on every local face. The Cards, leading the series by two victories to one, seemed on the verge of achieving the goal of their heart's desire.

As they needed was an even break in the remaining four games to St. Louis its first and only world title and odds of 1 to 3, freely offered and enthusiastically spurned, said they would do it.

In fact, the band best expressed their idea when the Cards strolled out of their dug out at 11:45 o'clock. The musicians immediately burst a lusty lung on the strains of "I'm Sitting on Top of the World," and the boys were quite right. In fact, the only reservation that the writer could suggest is that the world be made to include the New York Yankees. They had been thoroughly set upon.

Fifteen hits had been their total in three games against Sherdel, Alexander and Haines, and perhaps the end was not to be yet. Hornsby intimated early today that he has prepared to further befuddle the Yanks with Art Reinhart, a left-hander, although some of the intelligentsia were willing to wager that Hornsby really knew less about it than they did, which was all too little. They thought Flint Hume would try to right-hand the situation and said so in that quiet reserved tone mostly used in man selling fish.

Waite Hoyt was to be Miller Huggins' nominee, in spite of the fact that the young man yesterday pitched a ball game that will not appear in the records. He fought the ball, quiet, valiantly and well down in the well-known pen along the right-field lines.

However, Huggins' only alternative was to use Herb Penock, winner of the series opener and it was thought that Herbert felt the need of another day of rest. You know why; these young men bruise so easily.

The Cards made ready to receive Hoyt in the style in which he has become accustomed—at least this year—by using Vic Keen, a right-hander, in batting practice. Hornsby greeted Victor with a sock into the left-field bleachers. The sun had been playing tag with a bank of clouds but it got away from its pursuers and was out in the clear again at 12:10. The crowd, except those hardy souls who outwaited the dawn at the lee of the bleacher gates, was slow in arriving. Most of them remained in the center of the town to enjoy to the full the fact that the Cards actually were at the pace in a world series. Those on hand were edified.

WITNESSES INTIMIDATED IN HALL-MILLS CASE

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Somerville, N. J. Oct. 6.—Authorities investigating the four-year-old murders of Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills today engaged in checking accusations that detectives and attorneys hired by the defense have attempted to intimidate state witnesses.

Ever since the first investigation, in 1922, witnesses have complained that attempts at intimidating them were made by employees of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, who, with her brothers, "Willie" and Henry Stevens, and her cousin, Henry Carpenter, is under indictment charged with the double crime.

At least one warrant has been issued as a result of the reports. This is for Felix Di Marini private detective in the employ of the defendants. He is now under $10,000 bail in New York as a fugitive from justice and will fight extradition.

Now it is charged that a prominent politician, whose name has not been disclosed, has tried to "pump" members of the grand jury which returned the indictments, regarding what evidence was presented to them.

Also, William Phillips, a night watchman, who testified he saw a woman enter the Hall home late on the night of the killings, claims that he has been visited and threatened by private detectives.

Wm. J. Grealis, tailor's assistant, who told of getting stained, muddled up suits from Willie Stevens on the day the bodies were found, has charged attempts at intimidation.

These reports are all being investigated thoroughly by the authorities, with the view of possible indictment as accessory after the fact, if they prove true. Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson already has announced that he will seek four such indictments.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Akron O. Oct. 6.—Police from here are searching today for Carmine Clinto, who escaped from Cleveland immigration officers yesterday when he jumped from a train near Mogao, Ohio penitentiary and was being done. He had been paroled from the taken to Cleveland for exportation.

Astoria, O. Oct. 6.—Empty handed after two weeks of frantic investigation, Sheriff H. D. Hannum, of Jefferson County, and a grand jury today virtually admitted that his disappearance September 22 of Isabel Zandarski, 8, remains a complete mystery.

Rockwood, Tenn. Oct. 6.—Thwarted by fire and the danger of another explosion, rescue workers today admitted it may be days, and even weeks, before the bodies of 21 miners still remaining in the wrecked workings of the Roane Iron Company's mine here can be recovered.

Although rescue crews worked steadily in two hour relays, no more bodies had been brought to the surface since early yesterday, when six were recovered. The official death toll has been placed at 27 by the Company officials.

Owing to the danger of the fire said to be raging 1 mile mine crews were obliged to work slowly and cautiously.

Little Rock, Ark. Oct. 6.—Returns today indicated John E. Martineau, Democrat, has been elected by an overwhelming vote over M. D. Bowser, Republican.

BEARDSTOWN INUNDED TODAY; 1400 HOMELESS

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Beardstown, Ills. Oct. 6.—Streets of Beardstown today became swirling torrents as the water of the Illinois river swept with increased fury over the levees and into more than 90 per cent of the entire city. More than 1,000 persons are homeless. Beardstown is preparing for the worst flood in its history.

Fighting against time and rising water, men labored throughout the night and early today, frantically loading and placing sandbags against the foundations.

Rain fell yesterday, last night and early today. The forecast is for more rain. A disheartening spectacle has never been presented to the people here. Millions of dollars worth of property has been destroyed.

As a steady stream of homeless sought the headquarters of the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army, a call was sent out by Mayor M. H. Harris for additional tents and clothing supplies. Brigadier General John Andrews, of the Peoria Salvation Army, arrived today to take active charge of relief work. Weather Forecaster Hayes, of St. Louis, stated that the water here would rise several inches above the height gained during the 1922 flood, which has served to prepare the city for a possible yearly visitation of water. The mark early today stood at 24.8 feet above normal.

BULLETIN

Washington, Oct. 6.—The plan of Henry Ford to consolidate the Detroit and Pontiac railway with the Detroit and Canton was attacked today by minority stockholders of the former road in a brief filed with the interstate commerce commission. Examiners of the commission already recommended that the plan be disapproved.

The so-called international date line was designed to remove certain obscure points to the meridian of 180 de-which is that groups of islands lying

the north in order to make the Aleu-

south so as to bring certain of the Australia and New Zealand.

Gold Market Wild Scenes

The wildest scenes of commotion ever to be witnessed on the Chinese dealing in gold bars, create more noise

and display less regard for the phys-

New York Stock exchange, the New York curb or the Chicago Board of tain, special correspondent to the Kohlenia Star-Bulletin. There are 100 brokers on the gold bar exchange and these participate in a continuous warfare for positions around a table where the dealers are hurried on.

THE CARE AND PROPER USE OF FINE LINENS

BY VIVIAN DELAFIELD

ARTICLE XI

Preserving Linens for Long Life

LINEN, like fine silverware and china, has often been handed down from generation to generation as prized inheritances. This is particularly true in England and continental Europe, where pride in beautiful linens is as much a tradition as that applied to any heirloom.

In order to make it possible to keep the linen damasks in their finest of your linen damasks we suggest the advisability of washing them in the home, although many public laundries do exceedingly fine work with linens and most of them may be entrusted with those pieces which are not reserved for very special occasions. New linens should be laundered before they are laid away for any considerable period of time. In drying, the utmost of sunshine is desirable to retain their beautiful whiteness. In laying away her linens, the housewife should be careful that they ably even temperature. It is essen-

TAGGING ALL
THE BASES

(U. S. S. Dispatch)

The St. Louis Cardinals were 1 favorites on Wall Street today to win the world's series. The Cardinals are also favored to win today's game
at odds of 11 to 10.

Remembering the general irritation
that followed when last he had seen fit to call a world series game, Umpire Hildebrand sought counsel when it seemed necessary to halt proceedings in the fourth inning. He knew it was raining but the last time he thought he knew it was dark, so it was his desire not to be appearing overconfident.

Haines just used that fast one often enough to show the boys that he had
it. He didn't want them to be getting any false impressions.

Sam Bredson expects to appear on the public highways again sometime after the first of the year. By that time, disappointed ticket-seekers will be busy with something important, like trying to remember the name of the man who sang tenor at his grotto's picnic a year ago last August.

The half-hour interruption might have done Haines' arm practically no good but the Yanks declined to investigate. They went after the first ball when play was resumed.

Shawkey has proved a great relief pitcher. It has been a great relief to the Cardinals every time he has left the pastime.

John McGraw spent the afternoon trying to radiate good cheer in the press box. It couldn't be done. Billy Southworth still was making base hits.

All of them pitched hitless ball in the bull pen.

of Shingen's midgits. One could read the thing with great surety at a distance of 6 1/4 inches.

They waited with much patience and Koelnig finally rewarded them by throwing one away. The young man owes himself at least three more.

Hornsby was not very worried about Haines when he passed Paschal to open the eighth. All Rogers did to spend the next five minutes wondering whether he should shoot Haines
or himself.

He finally arrived at the proper conclusion. He did neither.

St. Louis, apparently, can turn its civic emotion on and off like a faucet.
It romps all over the place until 11:30 and then goes quietly and sanely to its bed. A lot of smart men haven't learned that trick yet.

Early Autopsy

New York's most regular for 1927,
in reality the town register for New Amsterdam, as New York then was known, contained the names of 20 "great citizens" and 204 "small citizens" and it was among the latter that the physicians were mentioned.
In that same year doctors were called upon to do detective work, since it was requested that they should ask wounded patients how they had received their injuries and by whom.
In 1601 Dr. Johannes Kerfvoyle, a Hollander, performed an autopsy upon the body of Governor Slaughter, believed to have been poisoned, and this is thought to be the first autopsy performed in this country.—New York Evening Post.

Old English Tradition

An old midsummer eve custom in England was for a girl to walk backward into a garden and gather a rose. This had to be kept in a clean sheet of paper and never looked at until Christmas day. Tradition had it that the rose would then be as fresh as it had been in June.

Shoes in Stone Age

Did Stone age men wear shoes, is an interesting question. The Stone age men hunted or tamed animals.
They used the flesh of those animals for food, the furs for clothing and the leather often for sandals just as much as we do nowadays, and they made them out of leather, as we do.
Only the shape was very much cruder.

The subject of the morning sermon will be "Putting Away and Putting On." Eph. 4:22, 23, 25, 31.

CHURCH FILM REVIEW—MARTIN LUTHER, HIS LIFE AND TIME

(Eight reels, with complete music score.) A real picture for the Church—any Church. It is a presentation of the great hero of the Reformation that is true to history. It is full of action, dramatic, gripping, fascinating. Is the message of four hundred years ago that is needed equally today. It covers his life and the many stirring events centering about him from his birth in 1483 up to his death in 1546. It carries out in a most striking and beautiful way in its picture are his own expressed ideas: "Art inculcates valuable lessons in a visual form."

This picture truly shows how the motion picture is made to serve high and worthy ends. Prof. Preserved Smith writes concerning it: "Historically and critically the production can scarcely be too highly commended. The interiors and exteriors alike reflect the place and the time. Dramatically and artistically, the scenes were at times given a splendid manner, pre-eminently the scene at the Diet of Worms. On the whole, I must consider the production as one correct, authoritative and reflecting great credit on the scenario writer."

"This film is no wise features any church denomination, but presents the life of the hero of the Reformation in a way that will enlighten the people of this present age as to the meaning and great value on the rich heritage that has come down to us from the Reformation."
