STAR WITNESS TESTIFIES TODAY

CROWD BATTLES VALLIANTLY TO HEAR STAR WITNESS

New Details Promised Today in McPherson Case.

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Los Angeles, Oct. 13.—The flat charge that Aimee Semple McPherson coached her on her Miss X story after she reported to the evangelist that she did not get along so well in her effort to convince District Attorney Keyes that she was at Carmel was made today at the Angelus temple pastor's preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Wiseman-Sellaff said she gave Keyes a retailed statement to the effect that "Miss X" was her sister and that she was the woman with Kenneth Ormiston in Carmel-by-the-Sea. Afterwards, she testified she made a full report of the questioning by Keyes to Mrs. McPherson, "Mother" Kennedy and R. R. Woolley, Angelus temple attorney.

Los Angeles, Oct. 13.—New details of an alleged plot by Aimee Semple McPherson and her codefendants to prepare false evidence and to obstruct justice were promised by the prosecution today as Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaff confessed perpetrator of the "Miss X" hoax, continued her testimony at the evangelist's preliminary hearing.

The "K" case woman, whose confession broke the McPherson case when it seemed ready to die of inattention, resumed narration of the arrangements for the "Miss X" hoax at the point where she was interrupted by Monday night's adjournment over Columbus Day.

A large crowd battled valiantly to get into the court room to hear the prosecution's star witness tell her story of planning and staging the "Miss X" hoax, designed to throw investigators off the trail and lead the public to believe that the woman with Kenneth G. Ormiston at Carmel-by-the-sea was not the noted evangelist.

Mrs. Wiseman-Sellaff's story of the hoax may take up most of the court session today. Deputy Prosecutor Murray admitted, with cross examination probably held up until tomorrow.

Ancients Used Umbrellas

Umbrellas are said to have been known as far back as the early days of Mesopotamia and Persia, for representations of them appear frequently in the sculptures of those early days. The women of ancient Rome and Greece carried them, but the men never did.

BULLETIN

Findlay, O., Oct. 13.—After nearly 9 hour's deliberation, a jury in common pleas court here today returned a verdict of guilty of second-degree murder against Merritt Williams, 28, alleged slayer of Winifred Williams, 28, in an argument over threshing a field of wheat. FIGURES ON FUTURE WORLD POPULATION

Sir George H. Knibbs gives different estimates of the possible population of the world, ranging from 2,942,000,000.—If the world's existing population increased in ratio of O. R. Baker's estimate of possible increase in the United States agricultural area to 9,792,000,000.—If all existing arable land in the world could support three persons per acre—and a final maximum of 18,440,000,000 if an average of a person per two and one-half acres applied to the whole land surface of the world. Assuming that the present standard of living is retained, together with the present national prejudices and egotisms, Sir George considers it doubtful whether the population will ever reach the 5,000,000,000 limit. If man better co-ordinates his effort so as to involve less expense in nonproductive effort, then possibly the advance of science may enable the 7,000,000,000 limit to be reached.

Lozer's "Waterloo"

When Napoleon fought the battle of Waterloo he met his greatest defeat. It was a decisive one, which marked the beginning of the end of his career. From this circumstance we use the word "Waterloo" to signify that one has met defeat in so decisive a way as to preclude the hope of future success.

Tapestry Makers Famous

One of the most famous tapestries in the world is the "The Conqueror," made by Matilda, wife of William the Conqueror, or at least credited to her. It was found in 1793 in the Cathedral of Bayeux. Another Matilda, the daughter of Henry I, who died in 1167, was a tapestry weaver. Her remarkable work was 214 feet long.

GOVERNOR TELLS WHY HE SHOULD BE ELECTED

By J. L. Medoff
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—In a printed pamphlet labeled "Vic Donahay's Message to the People," Governor Donahay today before the voters his version of the present campaign issues and his reasons for believing he should be elected for a third term over his Republican opponent, Myers Y. Cooper.

Donahay discussed in detail in the pamphlet a number of subjects, including public utilities, workmen's compensation, taxes and highways. The most important issue in the gubernatorial contest, he declared, is the question of public utility regulation.

"In fact," Donahay said, "it is the one all-important question, far more important than taxation, although my opponent misrepresenting both, tries to submerge the former while he overemphasizes the latter."

Asserting that the present public utilities commission "has completely lost the confidence of the public," the governor voiced the belief that not only should it be replaced but that its system of operation also should be completely reorganized. The present commission, he charged, is dominated by former Governor Harry L. Davis and utility interests.

Recalling that he was a member of the constitutional convention of 1912, which submitted the compulsory workmen's compensation to the people, and pointing out that the scale of compensation has been increased during his administration, Donahay, promised that, if re-elected, he will see to it that the $80,000,000 fund available for injured workers and their families and dependents "will continue to be in the hands of a friendly, honest and fearless commission."

FORMER GRAND DRAGON BEFORE GRAND JURY TODAY

Taken to Indianapolis Under Heavy Guard to Testify in Graft Scandal.

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Indianapolis, Oct. 13.—D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Indiana Klan and the pivot of the current graft scandal, went before the Marion county grand jury today in a surprise move by Prosecutor Remy which took the breath away from counsel for Stephenson.

The court order directing that the former klan leader be brought before the grand jury set tomorrow afternoon as the time of his appearance.

At 3 a. m. today, however, Stephenson was taken out of the state penitentiary at Michigan City, where he is serving a life sentence for the murder of Madge Oberholtzer.

Accompanied by eight guards, who traveled in two automobiles, he was rushed here and taken into the county jail by the back door. This morning he was led through a tunnel to the county building and placed in an anteroom outside the grand jury room, where he was guarded by 12 policemen.

Stephenson was before the grand jury for one hour and a quarter and then was taken back to the county jail.

When he left the grand jury room his coat collar was turned up and he made every effort to hide his face. A great crowd of police surrounded him through the building to an underground passage to the jail building. Guards surrounded the elevator which took him to a lower floor and no one was permitted to approach within 50 feet of the prisoner.

CHILD'S BODY FOUND IN SWAMP YESTERDAY

Mystery Still Shrouds the finding of Body of Three-year-old Child—who was thought to Have been Kidnapped. Was killed by Blow from a Club.

East Orwell O. Oct. 13.—With every law-enforcement agency in Ashtabula county concentrating its efforts today mystery still shrouded the "mucklands murder" of little Isabel Zandarski, 3, whose body was found in a tamarack swamp a mile, and a half from her home late yesterday.

The child disappeared during the night from the home of her parents on September 21 and other children sleeping in the room with her reported that "a big black man carried Isabel away."

Her body, with the skull crushed, apparently by a blow from a club,
was found in the swamp, lying face downward in the mud of the swamp, late yesterday by Lloyd Congdon, a squirrel hunter.

Indications were that the child had been murdered and her body carried to the swamp immediately after her disappearance as her feet and clothing showed no sign of her having walked through the thick swamp undergrowth to the spot where she was found.

Parents of the child and Frank Knurick 15 her uncle who slept in an adjoining room on the night she disappeared have been questioned at length by the county officers since the baby disappeared.

The mother declared she had punished the child who had immediately gone to sleep and had then been put to bed. She was never seen again.
The uncle declared he heard a dog barking during the night, shortly before the disappearance of the child was discovered by the mother at 3
a. m., when the latter got up from her bed and went into the room occupied by the children.

A kidnapping theory advanced when the baby disappeared was scouted by Sheriff H. J. Hannum, as the parents have never received any demand for ransom and were tenant farmers in extremely modest circumstances.

The blow on the skull killed the child according to the finding of Dr.
Ernest Crockett, of Ashtabula, and Dr.
J. H. Ross, who performed an autopsy.

Questioning of the uncle, Knurick, and of the parents was resumed by the sheriff today.

Sheriff Hannum early this morning took Knurick to his office in the county jail at Jefferson for questioning. He is being held there temporarily. No charges have been filed against the child's uncle.

The officers declared that reports of threatened violence at Orwell were "ridiculous" and that he had removed Knurick to Jefferson because there is no jail at Orwell.

The flight was planned originally to who died recently after his plane crashed in Philadelphia.

Unofficially it was said the flight will be the opening test to another attempt to fly from San Diego to Ha-attempt, led by Rodgers, failed.

Four officers and one enlisted man

Crooksville O Oct 13.—Marcellus Cherry local nirod is telling of a narrowing experience of fighting a hand-to-hand battle with a snake in a tree while squirrel hunting.
Cherry was the victor but is contemplating swearing off the hunting game.

Cherry chased a squirrel up a tree near McConnelville, and seeking to dislodge it climbed to a high limb and poked in a hole in the tree with a stick. The squirrel jumped out and Cherry killed it with his hunting knife.

A moment later the snake crawled from the hole. It wrapped about Cherry's arm as he slid down. He cut it several times before dropping from his precarious perch. When he reached his gun, the snake had disappeared. He did not go back up after it.

The snake, according to Cherry,
was several feet long.

Since the present wide spread hog cholera scourge has become so prevalent there is a shortage of first class sows and vices and quite a lot of second hand so called "sow and virus" is on the market. This is a very inferior quality. Since it is so important that you have none but the best, you had better use a legally qualified veterinarian preferably your regular local veterinarian or one in whom you have full confidence.

KAISER'S WIFE GIVES

BUT LITTLE HOPE

By S. Dunbar Weyer
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1926 by I. N. S.)

Castle Sabor Silesia, Oct. 13—"I authorize you to state positively that the Kaiser has taken no steps whatever to change his domicile."

Princess Hermine, wife of the ex-Kaiser, made this statement today in the course of an exclusive interview with the International News Service in the historic and picturesque Sabor castle, where the correspondent had come to secure first-hand verification of rumors and reports published all over the world during the past few days that William II. planned to return to Germany.

These rumors had arisen through paragraph seven of the new compromise plan between the Prussian state and the House of Hohenzollern, a compromise plan for the indemnification of the Hohenzollern which has caused two days of riotous disorders in the Prussian Diet.

Paragraph seven of this compromise plan gives the famous Castle Homburg auf de Houghe to the ex-Kaiser and his family, "in case they should return to Germany."

Sitting in the drawing room of the Castle Sabor Princess Hermine looked the picture of health and was clad simply but with distinguished taste playing the part of hostess with exquisite charm. She talked frankly in fluent English, displaying the same almost fraternal love for truth as marked her previous interviews with the International News Service.

With her keen, clear brown eyes fixed on the correspondent, she said that the paragraph in the compromise plan regarding Homburg castle does not by any means indicate that the ex-Kaiser desires to return to Germany at this time.

"I can not understand all the excitement in the press about this paragraph," said Princess Hermine. "Is it not perfectly just and logical that the Kaiser and his family should desire a home on German soil, after sacrificing for the sake of settlement with the Prussian state so much Hohenzollern property, including as many beloved places, visits to which in former days were a cherished tradition?"

In view of the fact that it took the former crown prince two years to get permission to return to Germany after he had officially registered his request it is significant that Princess Hermine told the International News Service that the ex-Kaiser has taken no steps on his own behalf to return to Germany. His status being considerably more complicated than that of the crown prince, there is no telling how many years it would take to clear the way for his return after he had once expressed the wish through regular channels. Moreover, although Princess Hermine did not say so, the correspondent has reason to believe that the ex-Kaiser's pride would prevent him from asking a republican government's permission to return. After all, that permission would be an indispensable condition.

Asked about the ex-Kaiser's health Princess Hermine said, "I am glad to say he is very well and has overcome the grippa, from which he suffered in August."

"I will be glad to return to Doorn to be with the Kaiser on the birthday of the late Empress Augusta Victoria which we always observe as one of the consecrated days of the year."

The princess here added words in allusion to the late empress, first wife of the ex-Kaiser.

"I have spent my children's autumn holidays here with them and looked after my affairs on my estate," she continued. "You know, it was agreed between the Kaiser and myself when we married that I should spend three months in Germany each year as I have not only duties towards him but also towards my children, which he has always appreciated and acknowledged."

At this juncture the youngest child of the princess by her first marriage, little "Princess Sunshine," came into the room to bid her mother good morning. The little princess, who is the image of her mother, nestled in the arms of her mother but soon became bored, as she understands no English, and after kissing her mother affectionately, started to run out to play but stopped halfway and returned, pulling a little box of candy from her apron pocket and offering its contents to her mother and the correspondent with all the charm and grace of a lady of the world. She then skipped out into the vastness of the beautiful park that surrounds the castle.

The last question the interviewer asked was a delicate one, since it revolves around the political crisis that has arisen in Germany over the temporary enlistment of the former crown prince's son with the reichswehr Princess Hermine did not hedge or evade but said frankly: "The Kaiser deeply deprecates that incident and its consequences."

SEVEN PRISONERS CAUGHT
SIX STILL AT LARGE
(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Nashville, Tenn. Oct. 13—Six of the thirteen prisoners who escaped from the Tennessee penitentiary last night were still at large today, after an all night search by more than 50 county and state officers.

The seven captured were taken within an hour and a half after they gained their freedom.

The wholesale escape, the third in a year, was engineered by John Resensky, convicted slayer, who dug a hole through a stone wall from his cell and crawled more than 700 feet through an air chamber.

Springfield, Ill. Oct. 13—Russell T. Scott again escaped the gibbet today when the Illinois supreme court granted him a writ of supersedeas staying his execution until the case can be reviewed by the court. Scott was to have been hung at Chicago, Friday, for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a Chicago drug clerk, during a holdup.

Columbus, O. Oct. 13—Wintry winds will descend on Ohio tonight, drive out "Indian summer" and give the state its first real touch of cold weather of the season, the government weather bureau here predicted today.

A heavy frost will blanket the state and the mercury will tumble before the advance of a cold wave coming from the northwest, William Alexander, official forecaster, said.

Cleveland, O. Oct. 13—Rather than run a risk of embarrassing Stark-county officials in their effort to convict the slayers of her husband, Don R. Mellett, murdered publisher of the Canton Daily News, Mrs. Mellett's attorneys today announced they will ask for dismissal of the $100,000 civil damage suit filed against Louis Mazzer.

The suit now pending in federal district court here will be refilled later when the murder trials of Mazzer and Patrick McDermott and Ben Rudner are finished.

Atlantic City, N. J. Oct. 13—Seven persons were seriously injured today when a ten-ton truck collided with a jitney bus, careened across the sidewalk and crashed through the wall of the Galen Hotel, tearing a forty foot hole in the side of the structure.

The bus was thrown 100 feet, scattering its passengers about the street and two persons asleep in the hotel were buried in the debris.

Climate Changes

The evidence that climatic conditions have changed in the Arctic and Antarctic circles is mainly geologic. It is held that tropical conditions existed as far north as Greenland between the glacial epochs. Remains of animal and vegetable life have been found in these regions, which indicated that once the climate was warm enough to permit their growth and existence.

Naturally

When a girl engages herself to wed a poet, it is usually a mark of imprudence. Mary, however, showed that she had a level head on her shoulders when she announced her engagement to her employer. "So you're going to marry a poet?" he said. "Then I suppose you'll leave me." "Oh, no," Mary protested. "I don't intend to leave. But I'll need more salary."

Numerous boiler compounds are used for the purpose of dissolving out incrustation and preventing further crust from forming. Soda ash and caustic soda are two of the best substances to apply; oak bark, dextrin, molasses are other substances recommended.
