VISITING PASTOR ENJOYED

The Rev. Geo. L. Markle of Gettysburg who supplied the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church Sunday was enjoyed by all who were privileged to hear him.

He is a very clear speaker and spoke in the evening from the eleventh chapter of Hebrews, on the call of Moses. "By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king," etc.

Mr. Markle insisted that of all great characters of history, Moses almost formost, before Christ, especially in old Testiment history. He gave some of the outstanding points in the greatness of Moses, when he not only forsook a civilization that only "faith" alone would be a reason for forsaking all. Egypt was truly filled with wonders, and to be ruler over all" was surely Moses due.

Mr. Markle spoke of his not only forsaking Egypt, but becoming a part of his own despised people afflicted with them but becoming their leader from bondage.

Our own Christian institntions today are due to the faith of Moses for out of this despised nation came the Christ of God, is called to exercise faith forsaking the world and the things in the faith chapter of the Bible the christian is called also to live a life of faith.

Mr. Markle is pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Gettysburg, but was enjoyed by those who heard him here Sunday.

MURDER MYSTERY IN QUEEN CITY TODAY

Cincinnati, Oct 21—County authorities today were baffled in their attempts to indentify the body of a young woman, apparently between 22 and 30 years of age, found nearly nude in the Big Miami river near Columbia park, last night.

The woman's head had been crushed, her jaw fractured and a dark mark of a knife or dagger had left a stab wound in her breast, Coroneer D. C. Handley stated.

The body had been in the water for about three days, he stated.

A pair of brown cotton stockings, one tan oxford and a small under garment constituted the girl's apparel.

No other clothing was found by deputy sheriffs in the vicinity.

A mysterious call to Coroner Handley about 7:30 last night told of the body lying in a pile of driftwood beneath a railroad bridge. Although the call was presumed to have come from a train passenger or employee who sighted the body from a pasing train, no trace of the messenger was announced by county officials today.

The girl had brown eyes, brown hair, perfect teeth but one lower toot h had been knocked out in her death struggle with the murderer or murderers, officials said.

That the struggle preceding her dea th was obvious from the extent of her injuries. Morgue attendants, where the body was being held for a post mortem examination declared that the body was that of an attractive woman.

Mrs. Harmon Maier and little son Robert, came last evening to the home of her mother Mrs. M H Neil who is e xpected this evening from Lusk, Wyoming.

Queen Marie Royally Entertained

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

New York, Oct 21—Somewhat fatigued by the reception and dance given her at the Ritz Carlton hotel last night, Queen Marie of Roumania, began her second day in New York today with a visit to the public library. Following a luncheon at the chamber of commerce she w,as to leave with her daughter, Princess Ileana and her son Prince Nicholas, at three o'clock this afternoon on a special train for Philadelphia where the royal visitors will attend the sesquicentennial exposition.

The queen is in danger of being worn out by the strenuous social program outlined for her and may be forced to cancel some of the engagements made for her this week. Her physicians have warned her that she must "take things easy," as her vitality has been lowered by her many public speeches and social activities. She contracted a slight cold on the voyage to America.

Society notables, government officials and members of the Roumanian legation formed the list of guests at the reception tendered Queen Marie at the Ritz Carlton. The reception, given by William Nelson Cromwell, president of the Society of the Friend of Roumania, was one of the most brilliant functions in New York's history.

With 800 guests jamming the reception rooms and plice holding back huge crowds outside the hotel, the royal party arrived at 10:30 o'clock. Women socially prominent, packed together like a subway crowd, elbowed each other in their eagerness to see the queen.

Flashlights exploded as the queen entered the hotel. She smiled at the crowd, which applauded her wildly.

Women in brilliant evening gowns swarmed to the aisle as the queen walked to a throne in the ball room, to the accompaniment of mild hand-clapping. The guests appeared ill at ease, while the famous beauty moved with royal assurance.

The queen fairly glittered with gems. Her head was crwned with a diamond and sapphire tiara and she wore a black velvet gown encrusted with gold and brilliants. The Princess Ileana wore a simple frock of pale pink georgette, with velvet trimmings.

Not a woman present, except the queen, wore a tiara.

Army and navy officers lent color to the occasion with their full dress uniforms, however.

After the guests had been presented to her majesty, dancing began. Princess Ileana danced with Laurence Smith Butler and the prince's partner was Miss Elizabeth Woodward.

MOTHER FINDS TWO DAUGHTERS AFTER 50 YEARS

Nearly half a century ago Anna and Allie Turner, sisters, became separated from their mother.

And, during all this time, they had been ceaselessly hunting for her—with no success.

But their mother was alive all this time, having married twice since she and the children became separated. The children themselves also had grown up and married, Anna is Mrs. Sam McAfee and Alice is Mrs. George Davis of Troy.

Recently they heard that their mother, now Mrs. Caroline Vore, was living on a small farm, a mile-north of West Milton. They weunt out to the place and the reunion was a happy one.

The aged mother had lost all hope of ever seeing her children again, having been told several years ago that they were dead.

H. E. GIBBONEY

Edward C. Turner, the Republican candidate for Attorney General has been at the bar for more than twenty-five years. He has made a success and accumulated a fair competency and is offering his services to the State.

He served two terms as Prosecuting Attorney of Franklin County from 1911 to 1915 and served one term (1915 to 1917) as Attorney General of Ohio, and in both offices he executed the duties with distinguished success both to his state and to himself.

Mr. Turner's direction of the Blue Sky Department during his term as Attorney General brought to him merited distinction, especially as he handled the cases against the Geiger-Jones Company, establishing the State's right to protect investigators from fraudulent misrepresentation in the sale of securities. Mr. Turner was kept out of a second term in 1916 when Woodrow Wilson was re-elected for keeping us out of war. Had Mr. Turner continued in office the tragedies resulted from the operations of the R. L. Dollings Company and Cleveland Discount Company would not have been suffered by investors of Ohio.

The Blue Sky Department should be, when properly managed, a protection to the investors instead of a help to the promoter and a nuisance to legitimate business. Therefore, Ohio must have as its legal counsel a skilled lawyer and an efficient business manager.

Mr. Turner's fearlessness, diligence, and experience as Franklin County Prosecutor and Attorney General of Ohio mark him as a man eminently qualified and capable for a second term as Attorney General.

LETTER FROM LONDON

A very interesting letter was received by Miss Susan Diltz, from Miss Virginia Anne Townsend, who is now with her mother and father Capt and Mrs. Crozier who are now at Kensington Gardens, London. She writes: My dearest Susan.

"I received your most interesting letter and was very glad to hear from you. You are a very good letter writer.

How do you like being a Freshie? Well, next year you can have the laugh on the Freshies. I'm sure you will like High School much better than the Grades, I know I did.

I have been ill with an attack of the flu for several days. So many people here i nthe house have had it. I guess it is in epidemic. The climate here is altogether different from ours It is so much damper, and seems to be more moisture in the air. The cold pierces a person. Of course I notice it more as I am not used to it. We haven't had real cold weather yet.

I have been over to Buckingham Palace, the King of England's home, and also to St. James Palace, where the Prince of Wales lives. I went over to see the change of guards, and they have a very splendid band, which plays during the ceremony of the exchange of guards. They are very fine looking men tall and straight as a stick, They wear tall black plume hats, a bright red coat with bra ss buttons on it, and all the various decorations, and the dark trousers. It is a very effective sight, I took some pictures a nd will send you some soon.

Have been to St. Paul's Cathedral. The original o ne was built about 16-00 A. D. and was destroyed by fire. Then Sir Christopher Wren built the one now standing, which is very, very old. I went through the Crypt Gallery, where the bodies of many famous men lie, also through the Stone and Whispering Gallery. The Whispering Gallery is in the upper part o the large dome part of the Cathedral. The most outstanding fact of this is the architecture as it was built so that a whisper can be heard from one end to the other. The guide whispered into the wall on one side of the Gallery and we were on the opposite side, and the whisper could be heard where we were. I should imagine the diameter of the Gallery is equal the distance of one block in Covington. Say, and we certainly did climb that day, there are 627 steps from top to bottom.

I suppose you have heard of Annette Kellerman. Well, Isaw her in person at a theater. She is s upposed to be the most perfect woman; she isn't thin either. She swims as if she were a mermaid. There was a huge tank of water on the stage. I should judge she's in her forties."

With love,
Virginia.

MORAL: NEVER PET STRANGE BLACK CAT

Two girls of the flapper type and their boy friend were motoring near Goshen not long ago when one of the girls uttered a scream.

"There went a black cat across the road," she cried, "and now we'll have some kind of bad luck."

Whereupon the other girl announced a new angle to an old tradition. Somebody had told her that if the cat should be captured the jinx would be broken. Well, the cat was sitting by the roadside not far away. It seemed to be gentle and mild mannered. With one accord they climbed out of the car and started in the general direction of the kitty. They smiled at the kitty and spoke to it in dulcet tones. Then they made a rush to see which could catch it first.

(The curtain will be lowered a moment to denote the passing of a considerable period of time.)

After the boy friend had taken the girls to their homes, he went out and buried his clothes. The black cat was a skunk.—Indianapolis News.

All of Cretaceous Peribd

The trees growing in Mongolia in the Cretaceous period, when the dinosaurs were laying their eggs in the sand at Shabarakh Usu, have a general resemblance to those whose fossils form the petrified forest of Arizona. They belonged largely to the group known as the Araucarians, now represented by the Norfolk Island pine and other related trees found mainly in the southern hemisphere.

Saved by Quick Thinking

Houdon, the great French sculptor, denounced before the convention tribunal during the revolution for having a statue of a saint in his studio, escaped when a quick-thinking friend declared it was a figure of Philosophy.

THIRTY TO FORTY DEAD IN CUBAN HURRICANE

Vessels Sunk and Much Property Damaged—Florida Escapes.

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Havana, Oct 21—The full extent of the hurricane which swept Havana yesterday may not be known for several days, officials stated today as they started to clear away the debris and count the damage done by the terrific wind which swept the island.

Early estimates of casualties were increased and it is now stated that there are between 30 and 40 dead and between 1,500 and 2,000 injured.

Transportation was still at a standstill today, with street-car tracks and streets blocked by uprooted trees.

The city was in utter darkness thro ughout the night.

Perfect order prevails.

Three hundred families were given temporary shelter in the emergency hospitals and many other institutions have been thrown open for temporary relief to those whose homes have been rendered uninhabitable.

The gunboat Hatuey was sunk near the Triscornia government immigration detention station. The exact number of other vessels lost is not yet known.

American firms were heavy losers in the gale. A number of automobile concerns and garages sustained severe damage and part of the loading machinery of the Havana Coal Company was blown into the sea

All the wharves suffered damage to a greater or lesser degree.

What threatened for a time to become a real disaster occured when the steamship Maximo Gommez formerly a German vessel which was interned during the World war and recently has been utilized as a place of detention for undesirable aliens pending their deportation, broke her moorings and went careening about the harbor. The derelict struck several other ships at anchor, causing considerable damage, before it was brought into tow by tugboats. The prisoners aboard, including a number of Chinese, were badly frightened when brought ashore and lodged in jail.

News from the provinces is most meagre and it is not known how the outlying districts fared in the storm. Communicatin had not yet been established with the Isle of Pines early today. Some apprehension was felt for the inhabitants of the island, as it was believed to be in the path of the storm's center.

No material damage has been done by the hurricane which passed over part of Southern Florida, according to radio reports received today from the commandant of th Key West naval station.

The wind attained a velocity of 80 miles an hour at its peak, the advices said but passed an eastward without causing more destruction than leveling of trees and interruption of communication.

Most of Lower Florida east coast shipping is laying to in safe harborage and no vessels are reported in serious danger, The Tropical Radio station at Miami is working satisfactorily, indicating that no great damage has been caused by the storm at Miami.

Light, telegraph and telephone facilities in West Palm Beach were crippled this morning by severe rainstorms which lashed that city early today. The rain was accompanied by winds of high velocity.

While this storm is believed to be part of the hurricane which struck Havana yesterday, it is not of cyclonic proportions.

Many Wait on Emperor

The members of an emperor's household are almost too numerous to mention. The principal members are as follows: Aides, equerries, gentlemen in waiting, chamberlain, herald master of the hunt, cup bearer, master of ceremonies, manager of the royal theater, master of the horse, chef, gentleman of the bed chamber, pages and superintendents of pages.

Fox's "Education"

Parent foxes invariably train their young to develop their sense of smell. Any food procured is placed at some little distance from the cubs, so if they want their dinner they are obliged to "scent" it out.

Jump In, Get a Lift

Sweden has "never-stop" elevators, the cars of which pass slowly and continuously from floor to floor. The agile passengers leap in and out as the cars pass their floors.
