MELFORD MILLA DIES OF LINGERING ILLNESS

A very pathetic death occurred last night, between five and six o'clock, when Mr. Melford Mills, of New City, was taken.

He was taken in June with the dreaded "lung sickness," from which his infant child died in July. Mr. Mills was confined to his bed for about four weeks in June but became a little stronger at times. In August his wife was taken with the same dreaded disease and lies in an unconscious condition, at this time.

There are three little children, Keneth, Melvin and Mayne, leftphans of the sick wife. Mr. Mills' parents also reside at Fletcher.

FUNERAL SERVICES

MRS. ROSINA RECTOR

The funeral services of Mrs. Rosina Rector, who passed away very suddenly Sunday evening, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Elmwood Church. The body will be removed at 1:45 o'clock on the funeral coach to the Brown's House of Arrangements for interment in the Elmwood Cemetery.

John Trowbridge

PASSES AWAY

Mr. John Trowbridge passed away at his home on N. Pearl Street about 7:15 o'clock, after an illness of about three weeks.

Mr. Trowbridge had not been well for several years, but had not given up his work until three weeks ago. He was employed by the Holy Cross Company, but lost his place in Cambridge for about two years, having spent a number of years in business around this city.

Mr. Trowbridge was sixty-eight years old, born February and was born near Grenfell in Franklin county. He leaves his family with two children and two sons to mourn his loss. His children are Mrs. Albert Dinner, Mrs. John Trowbridge, and Mr. Harry Trowbridge, who is also a student. The funeral services will be held in the church on Sunday afternoon.

Cleveland, O. O., Oct. 25—A verdict of $28,000 was returned by a jury for alleged alienation of affection of a man's wife. The suit was brought by the victim against the husband and the man who was said to have caused the separation. The man was found guilty of alienation of affection and was ordered to pay $28,000 in damages. The man at once appealed to the higher court, which reversed the judgment.

Walt's White Bell Telephone

Radin in Polar Regions

The news in the radon region had radio for its only available means of communication. The power and short waves were the biggest, and the skis and sleds were theัดest in the United States while the days were shorter. Broadcasting concerts and basketball games over the wireless was a novelty, and the power was about 1500 watts.

Tie That Slipped

There was an interesting wedding at the Rock-Cut, with all the usual church and bride and bridesmaids in full finery. The wedding was in the hotel lobby, and the guests were ready to go. The bride was very pretty, and the groom was dressed in black. They had a wonderful time on their honeymoon.

Gambling Wheelboats

One of the best-known gamblers in the United States was arrested for playing cards. He was known to have won millions in his career. The gambling wheelboats were seen on the water in the city.

By Way of An Experiment

By E. P. J. YOUNG

On this side of forty-five years Raymond was "Randy" as he had "saved" his Wall Street and was a nervous wreck. The doctor told him that he must not see any more over-the-counter stocks, read any of his "greenback" papers, read any financial news in the papers, and went to the bank every day. He was not to go in a garden and drive for a flower show. In fact, it was a slow time for the numbers. The doctors told him that he had to stop. He was told that he must not see any more over-the-counter stocks, and he was told that he must not go to the bank every day. In a few days his doctor told him that he was doing well and that he could go to the park again. But Raymond had to work hard for his new career, which he started on in the garden. Then came the Stock Exchange Journal, which he loved. Finally, the financial newspapers, which he loved, were all gone. He was not to see them again, and he was told that he must not go to the bank every day.

Lorna's Missing Lunch Box

DOROTHY DOUGLAS

It was a glorious, crisp, winter day, but Mrs. Lorna found her lunch box never seen the lunchtraps since her muddy feet had left the broken pathways through the woods.

She had crossed the ferry from the east side of the river, on her way to the fields and bushes and lunch room of her usual place of employment. It had been a heavy snowfall and the roads were slushy, but she determined to get her lunch box back. The sun had been shining for two hours before she reached her destination.

As soon as she entered the lunch room, she noticed something amiss. Her lunch box was nowhere to be found. She searched thoroughly, but to no avail.

A moment later Lorna had followed the last customer to the rest room. She was a white-haired lady sitting by the window. She looked up at Lorna and asked if she had seen a lunch box.

"No," Lorna replied, "but if you have one, feel free to take it.

After the customer left, Lorna continued her search. She was about to give up when she noticed a young man standing in the doorway.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"Well," Lorna said, "I'm looking for my lunch box."

"I'm sorry," the man replied, "I just got here myself."

Lorna gave up and sat down. She was too tired to continue her search. Suddenly, she heard a knock on the door. It was the young man who had just arrived.

"Miss," he said, "I found your lunch box in the snow."

"Oh, thank you," Lorna exclaimed, "I'll be sure to pay you back."

Lorna went to the next room and bought a simple lunch. She ate it quickly and left the restaurant.

Two days later, the young man showed up at Lorna's door with a piece of fruitcake. "I heard you were missing your lunch box," he said.

"Thank you," Lorna replied. She gave him a small tip and he left.

Lorna was touched by the young man's kindness. She often found herself thinking about the beautiful winter day when she lost her lunch box.

The day that he arrived to see the lady on that cold winter day was the beginning of a luxurious apartment in which Pat lived a happy life. The garden shop provided the perfect location for Pat to enjoy the outdoors. The shop was located in a conference behind the garden, and Pat would spend hours in the garden, examining the plants and making recommendations to Mr. Dutchman in an effort to secure a continuous supply of fresh flowers for his shop. Pat loved the outdoors, and Mr. Dutchman was always there to help her with any gardening questions she might have.
