Finding of Ormiston's Trunk in New York Creates Sensation

RADIO OPERATOR'S TRUNK FOUND IN NEW YORK

Contains Woman's Wearing Apparel and Silk Evangelistic Robe.

Had Been Shipped to Many Cities by Man Said to Be Ormiston.

(U. S. Dispatch)

Los Angeles, Oct. 29.—The sensation at Alhambra Temple McPherson case has blown wide open here again today.

On the very day her attorneys rested their case after the preliminary hearing of the evangelist, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sellaff all charged with conspiracy to manufacture false evidence, had dragged through five weeks, the state exploded a bomb-shell by announcing that Kenneth G. Ormiston's trunk had been discovered in New York and that it was expected to arrive at the district attorney's office at any time.

Ormiston, former radio operator at Alhambra temple, is alleged to have been the companion of Mrs. McPherson in a cottage at Carmel, Calif., while her followers thought he was drowned.

In Ormiston's trunk, according to the district attorney, is sufficient evidence to make a settlement of the case quickly and conclusively.

It is crammed with women's wearing apparel, dainty frocks, expensive shoes, imported lingerie, silk stockings, and a silk evangelistic robe.

Practically every article in the trunk was purchased in Los Angeles. Only one article of masculine use was found in the trunk. This was a large silk handkerchief, on which is engraved the name of Paul Rader, a Chicago evangelist. Rev. Rader it is recalled occupied the pulpit at Alhambra temple while Mrs. McPherson made a pilgrimage to the Holy Land a year ago.

The trunk contained a lace bodice cap. In this cap was a single strand of hair—a hair of decidedly reddish hue.

This single strand of hair was sent to District Attorney Keyes from New York by air mail. That single strand of hair, according to Keyes, from New York by air mail. That single strand of hair, according to Keyes, is going to have an important bearing on the outcome of the case.

Although District Attorney Keyes has not delved into the contents of the trunk, the identification of the articles it contained was made possible by photographs and descriptions forwarded from New York.

Drawing Ormiston's trunk took investigators to various sections of the country. It was first shipped from Pasadena by a man using the name of Herbert C. Cornell. Keyes said he was positive this man was Ormiston, from Pasadena the trunk was shipped to Jacksonville, Fla. It was consigned to a "Ralph Stringer."

The trunk next was shipped to New York—"Ralph Stringer" writing to Jacksonville that he would not be in that city for some time and asking that it be shipped to the Cumberland hotel in New York.

The trunk was finally seized in New York, where it was in storage. Checking the movements of the man known as "Cornell" and "Stringer" disclosed that his activities were exceedingly mysterious. Like a shadow, he flitted from city to city, always a step ahead of officers, and today he is still a phantom but when he is found according to Keyes, it will be found that he is Ormiston, and

THREE SUSPECTS HELD IN TOLEDO MURDER

Habits of Business Man Being Investigated.

Toledo, O., Oct. 29.—With three suspects being held for questioning and rewards of $12,000 offered for the capture of the clubber who has killed five women and criminally attacked six others here, the search for the fiend was broadened to include other cities today.

Reports from Parma, Ohio, that a suspicious-looking man, unkempt of dress and bearing a club had been seen skulking in the woods there caused the dispatch of officers to search for him.

Officers also are investigating the report that a Detroit moron, known to have left that city periodically, was absent the night of the last two brutal murders. Upon his return, he reported to have shown evidence of having been badly scratched by a woman.

Chief of Police Jennings has ordered a complete check of rooming houses and hotels, in order that the movements of every person living within them may be known.

Jennings admits that he has been investigating the habits of a local businessman who may have been living a dual existence. He refused to name the man or to divulge what information had been secured, which might cast suspicion upon the merchant.

One Bandit Killed—Another Wounded in Gun Fight When Robbery is Attempted.

Detroit Bank Saved By Prompt Action of Guard and Policemen.

(U. N. S. Dispatch)

Detroit, Oct. 29.—One bandit was killed, another wounded, a policeman was shot in the stomach and a citizen was shot in the leg during an attempted holdup of the Bank of Detroit at 7641 Michigan avenue shortly before noon today.

From 20 to 30 shots were fired. Three bandits took part in the hold-up. One of them escaped.

No loot was obtained. Patrolmen Frank Dombeky, 29, shot twice in the stomach, and Arnold Potter, 18, the wounded bandit, are in a serious condition.

John Szymanski, 40, a jeweler, while dressing a window of his store nearby was shot in the leg by a stray bullet.

Two of the bandits entered the bank with sawed-off shotguns and ordered three employees to "stick-em up and shell out." They had hardly uttered their command before Albert Goffer, a special guard, concealed in a steel bullet-proof turret, opened fire on them. He wounded one of the men. They returned, returned the fire and ran to the door. Goffer was not injured.

During the shooting, the driver of the bandit car fled. Porter was wounded three times. He probably owes his life to a tobacco tin and a package of cartridges. Two bullets directed at vital spots were stopped by these articles.

At the door they encountered Patrolman Dombeky and his companion, William Gaddis, who were summoned to the holdup by a small boy. The officers and the bandits opened fire simultaneously. One bandit was killed and the other, Porter, was wounded again. Dombeky was struck twice in the stomach. Gaddis escaped injury.

The dead bandit was identified as Carl R. Porter, a former policeman. The Porters are brothers.

COVINGTON THE DEGENERATE

There are many things about Covington that are fine and splendid. We pride ourselves on our Churches, Schools, Homes, Business, Music, there are clean high minded noble citizens. Many of our sons and daughters have wrought well and achieved worthily. There is ability and class among our young people. We believe that much of Covington is above the average town. Some of it is unexcelled. All could and should be decent. Alas! There is a Covington the Degenerate. Devilish, lax, law-bred, vulgar, immoral. Vandals and knaves, infect our village, sometimes endangering and damaging property, and vomiting their indecency upon windows, furniture, buildings. An element not looking for good, clean, wholesome fun, in which all normal people share, but for dirt, nastiness, lawlessness. For Covington the Beautiful, we have all honor and admiration. For Covington the Degenerate, we have pity and righteous indignation. Parents, property owners and Village officials should cooperate in stopping the need less marking and vulgar phrase writing on windows and public buildings. We would suggest a Proclamation from the Mayor of our City, and enforcement by the Marshal and any needed assistants, against Halloween depredations and slanders. Enough is enough, and too much is plenty. Us, and those who can not have decent fun, should have none.

A citizen.

RADIO DEATH RAY TO ABOLISH WARS

Atlanta, Oct. 29.—Will the radio death ray make future war impossible?

Maurice Francill, American radio wizard, thinks fit. Will. However, should there ever be another conflict between nations Francill predicts that the weapons used will be poison gases, annihilating hundreds at a time.

Francill who admits he stumbled on the death ray by accident, told the recent radio exposition here that he plans to ask the governor of some state for the privilege of demonstrating its death-dealing properties on some condemned murderer.

"The day is not far distant" said Francill, "when the death ray and radio waves will be used by police to stop engines of speeders and bandits. The death ray is only slightly different from the radio wave but it is too deadly for radio amateurs to be permitted to experiment with."

"Just think what it would have meant to the police of Elizabeth N. J. when they were pursuing the mail robbers. Bullets could not stop the fleeing bandits but radio waves properly applied would have halted them."

"The same force applied in a slightly different manner can be employed to start fires at a distance, and such action necessarily would explode powder. Its uses can be superceded explosives in time of war."

"The deadly effects of violets in certain forms x-rays and similar waves are well known. I have the wave that is deadly but it is too dangerous for radio amateurs to know of."

AKRON JURY WOMAN CHANGES LAWYERS MIND

By International News Service.
Akron, O.—The thickness of the gentler sex, long celebrated in story and song, carries on right through the musty tones of the law, too.

A case in point was the action of a "mixed" jury of men and women which recently tried Ed Robinson, accused of cutting a fellow employe at a rubber tire factory here. The jury filed solemnly into the courtroom, and the foreman reported a verdict of guilty. Arthur Kenney, the accused man's attorney, demanded a poll of the jury, at a matter of fact.

He was overjoyed when two women members, having changed their minds, between the jury room and the box, calmly declared that the verdict rendered was not their verdict.

Judge L. S. Pardo, gave additional instructions to the jury, and it retired again. A few minutes later, however, the defendant's attorney was downcast when the jurors filed back into the box and reported a unanimous guilty verdict, the two women having again changed their minds.

"It's the first time in my 35 years around the courtroom that I ever heard of such a thing happening," remarked Judge Pardo.

It is interesting and helpful to study the expression "I am" as uttered by our Lord on several occasions.

One instance is found in the great sermon which is part of the sixth chapter of John.

"I Am The Bread Of Life" will be the subject of the morning sermon John 6:35.

The topic for the evening sermon will be "What and Whom We Are Anxious to Know," John 14:9 and John 17:3.
