MELLET CASE TAKES SUDDEN TURN
Evidence Chain Strengthens Up In M'Dermott Murder Trial

Federal Government Takes New Interest in Murder in Skid

Cleveland, 0, Nov. 1—Two more links in the strong chain of evidences connected with the murder of Dr. J. M. Mallett, Canton physician, on July 1, when he was brought to the morgue, failed this afternoon by Chief of Police John Wise and Sheriff C. W. Rice. They were Mallett’s children, Cleveland whiskey rye, and George Pfaff, Cleveland liquor agent, and by Dr. Elmer邰 to have been Mallett’s bartender when the latter was last seen.

渴了 is half a first-class murder case, and Pfaff is a material witness.

They will not be examined until the time timeout from Cincinnati on the wire as a cause for continued investigation.

The federal government today extended great interest in the latest turn of the Mallett case when it was announced by Attorney General Thomas D. Clark that he had received two days ago a secret written from an addressed liquor corporation with an authenticated and signed affidavit.

Lafayette will also return to Canton for the furtherance of the killing of the publisher, acting as a witness in the case.

LLOYDS’ "FRESHMAN" IS BOOK, BUT TAKES PRIZE

In previous years, "The Freshman" has been a comedy feature at the Labor Day celebration in Portland and has endeavored to give the public something different each year. This year there are two "Freshmen," both of which have appeared in the usual smart-aleck type that is a staple in college stories. The second one is in a youth so eager to be a Freshman that he comes home one year before he is to enter college, which is a story which every Johnson or on the campus prides these tricks. "The Freshman" as written by four famous gag men—Dine, Taylor, Jackson Gray, Ted Willa and Whitman, who are all Freshmen. The first is the arrival of Lloyd at col for which is followed by football. Then follows the fall which Haskell has to go to society to become the most popular man in college and to which he is forced to go. The play contains much of the devil that you understand football or not it would be worth your time. -By J.D. Moody, New York Daily News.

The Gothic style is the dominant style of this century. It is characterized by its pointed arches, ribbed vaults, and intricate tracery. Its architecture is often associated with religious and educational buildings, but it also appears in secular structures such as town halls and libraries. The Gothic style emerged in the 12th century and reached its peak in the 13th century, before declining in the 15th century. It is also known as the French or Western style to distinguish it from the Byzantine style. The Gothic style is characterized by its verticality, with tall, narrow windows and pointed arches, and by its use of stone carvings and stained glass. It has a spiritual quality that is often associated with the religious buildings that it was used in, such as cathedrals. The Gothic style is also known for its use of ribbed vaults, which are a type of roof that was developed in the 12th century and is still used in modern architecture. The Gothic style was influential in the development of modern architecture, particularly in the 20th century, and its influence can be seen in many of the buildings that were built during that time. Today, the Gothic style is still used in architecture, particularly in the design of churches and cathedrals, and it is also used in the design of furniture and other decorative objects. It is also used in art, particularly in the design of stained glass and textiles. The Gothic style is a rich and varied one that has had a lasting influence on the development of architecture and design.

MRS AGNES MCKINNEY
JUDITH ASHLEY

A very pretty wedding took place last week at St. Mary's Church, when Mrs. Agnes McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinney became the bride of Mr. William Judson Ashley. The bride was ushered in white cresps and carried a very pretty bouquet of white roses and was attended by her sister, Marcelle who looked very pretty in pink cresps and carried red roses. The bridegroom was attended by his friend of Chicago. Very complimentary words were exchanged by the bride and bridegroom. The groom was the pretty young man.

At 2:30 this morning and was followed by a wedding breakfast at the bride's home for close relatives and friends. This bride and groom expect to make their home in Chicago, where the groom is employed. Everybody wishes the new couple a very happy and prosperous life.

WOMAN GUILTY OF
SLAUGHTERING HER EMPLOYER

Marguerite G. B. Jackson, 75, was sentenced to a sentence of from 5 to 10 years in prison in the death of Dr. W. W. Borro of Yonkers. A jury found the same guilty of manslaughter after the investigation of the death of her husband.

The defense contended that her husband's death was due to natural causes.

The state sought to prove that the man had killed the fitter during a recent conviction.
