IDLENESS; LUXURY CAUSE OF CRIME

BULLETIN

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—Freedom, leisure, prosperity, divorces, lack of law enforcement in the well-to-do circles; mixing of the races; and violation of three of the Ten Commandments, are largely responsible for crime, according to the annual report of the state clemency board on file with Governor Donahay's office here today.

The report went into details on the crime situation in Ohio, going back as far as 1912.

Relative to the enforcement of laws, it said there was no lack of efficiency where the poor and the friendless are concerned but declared conviction of the well-to-do was less than 15 percent.

It showed that 30 percent of the prisoners were colored; 34 percent of those convicted of murder were colored; and a like percentage of those who paid the supreme penalty were colored.

"Ninety percent of crime is due to breaking of the Commandments, 'Thou shalt not lie, steal or commit adultery,' " the report said.

Many murders are due to divorces or grounds leading to them. The increase in crime has kept pace with divorces. There are close relations between the two, said Dan Williams who compiled the report.

The report showed about one-twelfth of the inmates are serving sentences for homicide; 206 convicted of first-degree murder; 302 of second, and 234 for manslaughter. Since 1912, the report showed, only 73 have been executed.

Lone Bandit Suicides Rather Than Surrender to Officers

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Philo, O., Nov. 16.—Earl Masters, 35, identified yesterday as the lone bandit who has terrorized gasoline station attendants throughout this district for six or eight weeks, ended his life with his last bullet after a battle that lasted over an hour with railroad detectives in the Baltimore and Ohio freight station here.

Masters, who leave a wife and six small children, was a carpenter by trade but had been without work for some weeks. It was during this period that the series of robberies in the district occurred. The body has been identified by victims of Masters' hold-ups.

B. and O. detectives who had been stationed at the Philo and Marietta freight houses for the past week saw Masters removing a carton of coffee from the Philo station about 12:30 o'clock Sunday night and ordered him to surrender. Instead, he opened fire on the officers and a pistol battle ensued for more than an hour. Masters was wounded by the detective's fire but managed to crawl through a window of the freight house to the inside where he held the officers at bay.

building ceased, one of the officers entered and found Masters in a sitting position, with a bullet wound through his head. He had chosen suicide rather than a long term in prison.

London, Nov. 16.—Acceptance by the miners of the government's peace proposals in the long coal strike was believed to be virtually assured today. The miners of Scotland Northumberland Yorkshire Lancashire and South Wales voted for acceptance, a count of the ballots showed today. The combined vote from these districts is large enough to determine the issue.

Bowling Green, O., Nov. 16.—LeRoy Waggoner, 20, Toledo, today is held under $5,000 bond to await action of the grand jury on a charge of highway robbery.

When arraigned here yesterday, Waggoner pleaded guilty to having participated in activities which cost the life of his pal, Elmer Berber, 16, Sunday night, in a gun battle with Sheriff Ritzel.

Waggoner admitted the justice of the peace records show that he had aided Berber in robbing a filling station at Rosford, Friday night, and the attempted robbery of another at Perryburg, Sunday night. It was in the latter attempt that the youths were frustrated and caught up with by Sheriff Ritzel.

DR. MCCHESNEY SPEAKS SUNDAY

Dr. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, gave two excellent sermons at the Presbyterian church, yesterday, speaking from the text in the evening: "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

He said he was not among those who cried "calamity" concerning the young people of today, for as far as the world was concerned everything that could be done, was being done for their uplift. He said it was not the schools, it was not the street, nor was it public places that they needed to fear, but it was the sympathy, goodness and training in the home. Too much time was spent among those who had the training of the child in the mad pursuit of the dollar, "In God we trust," shouldn't be effaced, and trust centered in the dollar itself. Dr. Chesney insisted that to have only one aim in life, fattening more hogs, for a ship and get more money with which to buy more hogs, and so on, was little short of the best.

Goodness in the home, which was so manifest among our people in the past generation, when prayer was heard and the Bible honored as the One Book, must be revived for the sake of the young people of today, who are better equipped than ever before for life and its problems. They are better educated have more ability and are living in more sanitary conditions than, ever before in the world's history, but the one and most vital of all things, is the training in godliness through the home. We do not want this to be said to the young man or the young woman who will rule the country and the home of the future, "One thing thou lackest."

Scotland, said Dr. McChesney had been the backbone of the nations because of the strong religious principles taught by the firebrands, and as our own America is filled now with every type of humanity, the patient German, the intelligent Englishman, the canny Scotchman, the enthusiastic Irishman, the inventive Frenchman, the curious Chinaman, the tireless Turk, the wandering Jew, and roaming Russian. All are looking to the Christians and Church of America. What shall be the training given these intelligent principles.

Dr. McChesney told of his own experience with the young people in College seeking to give them high ideals and Christian principles, and that education was not a means to make money, but rather for service in whatever profession chosen. Dr.
McChesney has held true to his teaching in refusing a very large salary and remaining with his work as President of the College at Cedarville.

He is a very gifted speaker, and more of our townpeople should have had the privilege of hearing him.

Washington, Nov. 16.—A harp conflict in congress over the treasury's proposals for settling American and German claims growing out of property seizures during the World War was forecast as the house ways and means committee continued hearings on the subject today.

The treasury's favored plan, as presented by Undersecretary Winston, calls for an appropriation of $100,000,000 by Congress to help pay American claimants whose property was seized by Germany. Ninety million dollars would come from reparations payments.

Representative John N. Gerner (D)
Texas, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, declared the proposal meant that American taxpayers would be paying the debt of a foreign government.

He raised the question as to whether the United States was obligated in any way to return German property held by the alien property custodian and estimated by Winston to be worth $300,000,000 to four hundred million. The American private claims total $100,000,000 and the government claims total $200,000,000, Winston said. The United States alone of the enemies of Germany has adopted a policy of returning alien property. Winston told the committee.

The step is necessary, he said, to establish as a part of international custom the sanctity of private property during war. He advocated the policy on the ground of self-interest, the United States being a creditor nation.

The effect of a hundred million appropriation for this purpose upon tax-reduction caused concern among members of the committee. The Cool-

CABBAGES AND WILD RELATIVES

Cultivated cabbage, Brussels sprouts come from the original wild stocks of the cabbage group. Other cultivated plants closely related to the above are turnips, radish, rape, rutabaga, and charlock. Among the related wild plants shepherd's-purse, peppergress, and mustard are of the most frequent occurrence. The latter, although sometimes cultivated, grows so profusely under most conditions that on general farms it is perhaps better classed a noxious weed. Generally speaking, these plants, which are known as "crucifers" may be subject to the same diseases. In such instances methods effective in controlling diseases of cabbage or cull-flower, for example can be applied to other crucifers as well.

Milk Pail Suffers If Feed Is Skimped

Costs Are High If Dairy Cows Are Underfed, Accounts Show.

It costs more to underfeed a producing cow than to feed her properly. A cow giving her maximum amount of milk will return nearly 48 percent of the feed she eats in milk. The other 52 percent is used in maintaining her body. A cow that is underfed will keep using enough feed to maintain herself and let the milk pail suffer for the feed shortage. Ivan McKellip, extension specialist in dairying at the Ohio State University observes.

In feeding a cow for maximum production it is necessary to feed the right quality. The various food elements, as protein, carbohydrates, and fat, must be fed in correct proportions. Ohio cows as a general rule are fed enough carbohydrates and fats, but very often they are underfed in the protein ration.

Balance to the ration is important for milk production, for it must be made according to nature's formula. The cow has no part in the composition of her milk. If she is underfed in any one of the foods the milk pail suffers.

It takes $75 to $125 a year to maintain a cow that produces 300 pounds of butterfat a year. The variation comes in feed prices that are different in different parts of the state.

Feeds can be substituted if costs for certain kinds of commercial concentrates go too high. Milk cost $3.26 a hundred pounds when the ration was silage, timothy hay, corn and barley. The same ration, excepting that red clover hay was fed instead of timothy to the same cow, enabled her to produce milk at $1.63 a hundred pounds. When alfalfa hay was substituted, production costs were cut to $1.21 a hundred pounds of milk.

Smith The Plumber

What the arteries are to the body, a plumbing system is to a home. This comparison is indeed not far-fetched. Both require careful and expert attention when they need repair. If your circulatory system is bad, you are doomed; if the plumbing system of a home is defective, you are never at peace. I. M. SMITH, 23 North Market st., Troy, Phones, Shop 286 and Residence 1104, makes it his business to put and keep the plumbing system of your house in order.

If you are building a home consult him. He will advise you as to the very best that can be obtained in the way of a plumbing system for your home. If you wish he will take the contract to entirely install the plumbing system in your home. His work is guaranteed and his prices are the most reasonable possible consistent with the high quality of his service. His excellent work and his never-failing service, together with the high-grade materials which have earned for him a reputation as a sanitary engineer not exceeded in this section of the State.

You will also find on display in this house the latest kitchen plumbing supplies. All those conveniences which take away the drudgery from kitchen work. Sinks which contain the latest convenient device to make such tasks as dish washing far less annoying.

Needless to say, the enviable reputation of this popular plumbing firm has been achieved only by doing business on the fairest basis, possible. People instinctively fear sanitary engineers because of their fees. There is not a home in this or surrounding communities where this firm has worked that will not vouch for the Reasonableness of the Charges and the High Quality of the Work.

A Reliable Jewelry Store

There is nothing the average person buys, that they have to depend entirely on the firm selling it to give them what they want, as jewelry. To this fact is due the wonderful success of the H. & F. HENNE JEWELRY STORE, 8 West Main st., Troy, Phone 745.

This is one of the progressive establishments of this section that has long been known as one of the most efficient and reliable stores. Of course everyone knows that this store is headquarters for Diamonds, Watches, Cut Glass, and everything that pertains to a modern and complete stock of jewelry.

While the H. & F. HENNE JEWELRY STORE is one that in point of stock, quality of goods and workmanship and attractiveness of appointment would compare favorably with the largest establishments of the metropolitan centers, the prices are most favorable. In fact the matter of price has always been a hobby with the management of this store.

It has ever been their object to secure a fair and honest profit but never an exorbitant one. Taking all in all, this store is one of the modern and up-to-date establishments of this section that has always been known as one of the most reliable Jewelry Stores in Ohio.

The success of this establishment is a distinct tribute to the business ability of the management who always insist that their Jewelry Store serves patrons with the very best of High Grade Jewelry.

We wish to compliment them on the high standard and efficiency they maintain in their establishment. For superior quality of goods they handle and the admirable manner in which the store is served.

They Sell "The Stuff that Makes the Dough"

When the housewife discovers a flour that meets all the requirements of a "good flour" she insists upon having that particular brand. That is why so many women of this section of Ohio demand that their grocer keep SNOWBALL FANCY PATENT, QUALITY STRAIGHT PATENT and SNOWBALL PURE WHOLE WHEAT GRAHAM FLOURS, manufactured by THE TIPPECANOE CITY ROLLER MILLS at Tippecanoe City.

This popular brand of flour has been improved in the manufacturing process and has become a standard of quality in this vicinity. It meets with universal satisfaction and that is why THE TIPPECANOE CITY ROLLER MILLS are kept so busy at their mill in Tippecanoe City. The mill is equipped with all the latest improved machinery and modern conveniences for manufacturing of these well known brands of flour. The bakers and housewives of the country are indeed fortunate in having at their disposal a flour that answers all purposes for the baking of bread cakes, and all kinds of pastry, such as SNOWBALL FANCY PATENT, QUALITY STRAIGHT PATENT and SNOWBALL PURE WHOLE WHEAT GRAHAM, and are invited to give them a trial.

The farmer is able at this mill to obtain the highest market price for his best grade of wheat, as THE TIPPECANOE CITY ROLLER MILLS must have the highest grade of wheat to produce SNOWBALL FANCY PATENT, QUALITY STRAIGHT PATENT and SNOWBALL PURE WHOLE WHEAT GRAHAM.

This is an advantage to the people of this community, as it helps to furnish a better market for wheat for this section, and that is of great convenience to the farmers of this community.

It might be well to add that the very success of these flours is due in a large degree to the fact that the Head Miller has had a life-long experience in the making of "good flour," and knows his business from A to Z.

At this mill the farmer can also obtain Mill Feed of Every Description as well as All-Kinds of Poultry Feeds.

"It is a pleasure in this Miami County Farm Edition to refer to THE TIPPECANOE CITY ROLLER MILLS and their famous flours, and we assure our readers that whatever business you have in their line can be transacted to your advantage.

You will find that they always maintain a uniform standard of quality in their flour and in their business dealings will be found courteous and obliging.

The Friendly Store For Men

Many stores handle men's Clothes and Haberdashery and quite a number of these specialize in extremely low prices. The trade has learned that the class of goods handled by many of these firms is of inferior quality and will not hold their shape through one season.

Therefore it is with a feeling of satisfaction that the customers enter the A. R. MURPHY STORE on East Main Street at Troy, realizing the service and quality extended this year. Will be extended when the next season approaches.

This well known house has chosen its stock with a view to giving its customers the "Greatest Value Possible." When it comes to ready-made-clothing they have only the Brands that are High-Class and which are so complete as to Style, Cloth and Price, that the most particular can find something suitable.

But the success of a dealer in this line rests not alone with the price which he pays for his garments. He must be an efficient buyer, well versed in the Styles of the Day, and with a knowledge of the demands of his customers. It is this feature of his trade that has made the Clothing Establishment of A. R. MURPHY so popular with the men of this section. The A. R. MURPHY STORE'S full line of Clothing is HIGH-CLASS and gives the wearer the "Cast of a Gentleman." What has been said of their Clothing Department is equally true of their selling in "Gents Furnishings." Selecting their stock with the most extreme care, they have secured an array of the Most Exclusive Designs in Shirts, Ties, Underwear, Hosiery, Caps and Other Clothing Essentials.

It has always been the endeavor of the A. R. MURPHY STORE to secure a fair and honest profit, but their Business Principles never permit an Exorbitant one. They have provided the trade with a representative stock of goods, in which you can have every confidence, and articles of dress that render the character of your attire individual.

BEEES WILL WEAR OUT AS HEAT GENERATORS

Keep Them Out of Winter Winds and Have Hive Temperature Even.

Bees that have been well managed during the early fall are strong enough to pass the winter successfully. The keeper must, however, see that they have proper stores and protection.

Energy is conserved if the bees are kept at the proper temperature. The consumption of stores is also reduced with adequate protection. The less protection is given the bees the greater must be their muscular activity to keep warm. When spring arrives the unprotected colonies will have eaten all their stores and worn themselves out muscularly through the winter generating heat. W. E. Dunham of the department of entomology at the Ohio State University says:

This is known as "spring dwindling". The bees die off faster than they can be replaced by the young emerging bees.

Early packing is desirable. Late packing in the fall often disorganizes the colony and the bees are likely to winter in abnormal condition. It is necessary to protect the hives from prevailing winds if the bees are wintered out of doors. A natural windbreak is best, through an artificial one may be provided.

A high board fence helps break the winds materially. If the boards are set two or three inches apart they will break the air currents. If the boards are nailed closely the wind is turned up but it returns at once on the other side, hitting the hives with all its force.

Temperatures should be kept between 45 and 60 degrees if the bees are kept in a cellar. It is essential that the colony have a cleansing flight before it is placed in the cellar for the winter.

The examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission who heard the public hearing on complaint of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation asking for the stop-off privilege to allow partial loading or unloading of commodities on the Norfolk and Western railroad has recommended in favor of the Federation. The privilege will not be granted until formal action of the commission, according to C. S. Long of the Federation's traffic department.

MANY FARMERS BUY IN FERTILIZER POOL

Total of 26,610 Tons Handled Through Farm Bureau-Pickaway Leads

Exactly 26,610 tons of fertilizer were purchased through the fall co-operative pool through the purchasing and sales department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation it has just been announced from state headquarters. This is about a thousand tons less than was purchased co-operatively last year, but is considered a gain by leaders as the tonnage would cut considerably due to weather conditions. Farmers of Pickaway, Highland, Seneca, Wyzard, Stark, and Richland counties led in the volume purchased co-operatively. The total value of the co-operative purchases approaches $800,000.

The practice of pooling trainloads of fertilizer from the manufacturing and mixing plant to farmers was used in two counties. Pickaway farmers distributed two train loads of fertilizer through their county farm bureau and Stark county farmers distributed one solid train of fertilizing material.

How Much Do You Know About Your Body

As we study the smooth exterior of our bodies we wonder why one is subject to so many, seemingly, accidental afflictions. Thus it is that the more we know about ourselves the better we understand cause and effect.

In the first stages of life, the principal thing to be noticed is the brain. The brain being first, must be the medium through which Nature builds a complete body. The baby is born with its organism working normally. As long as Nature can continue her uninterrupted forces through the body, the baby will grow and remain normal in every respect. When Nature, or the Inborn Intellectual forces have been interfered with, the body like an old machine is finally worn out. If we are once well and normal, why be sick now?

LOOP and LOOP D. C.'s 13, North Mulberry street, Troy, Phone 1244, will prove that the many incoordinations of the head, throat, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, intestines, etc., are due to interference with the life force from the brain to the organs, through pressure on the spinal nerves causing disease wherever these nerves extend.

The human body is so constituted that it is unnatural for diseases to creep in without cause. The nervous system is designed to give perfect health to all the organs and keep them in repair as long as there is no interference between these organs and the brain.

If through a jolt, strain, fall, wrench, or any other accident to the body, sometime in life the movable bones of the spine are misplaced, even slightly, they cause pressure upon the nerves and interfere with the flow of the life force. Weakness and disease result in the organs that these nerves supply.

The News wishes to call its readers attention to LOOP & LOOP D. C.'s, who have a reputation above reproach and are among our MOST SUCCESSFUL CHIROPRACTORS.

A Most Reliable Institution

Without an elevator any community would find progress exceedingly slow and prosperity a condition almost unknown. With an institution of this kind within its midst many small communities of this country have been unusually successful, but when it comes to an up-to-date establishment such as the TROY GRAIN SUPPLY CO. on South Mulberry Street Phone 122, PROSPERITY, SUCCESS and PROGRESS are assured, for this well known institution at Troy has been aiding the growth of the community with marked success.

Co-Op Wool Sales Nearly Completed

Ohio Pool of Nearly 4,000,000 pounds Will Soon be Sold.

Sale of the nearly 4,000,000 pounds of wool consigned to the Ohio cooperative pool will probably be completed within the next two months, according to J. F. Walker wool marketing specialist for the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. Sales are being made at the present time at the rate of about 200,000 pounds a week.

Payments for wools consigned are now being made to hundreds of growers in western Ohio for the medium wools produced and consigned from that section of the state. Indiana & Michigan wools have all been sold.

Prices for fine, half blood, 3/4 blood, and 1/2 blood were 42 1/2 cents f.o.b. Columbus.

The bulk of the wools still on hand at the Columbus warehouse of the association are largely fine wools from the southeastern portion of the state. These wools comprise the best Delaines wools produced in the country according to Mr. Walker.

Record of consignments to the pool show that the great bulk of the nearly 4,000,000 pounds consigned came from Ohio growers. Indiana growers consigned 360,000 pounds and Michigan growers 260,000 pounds. Scattered clips were received from other states and one county association in Pennsylvania sold through the Ohio association.

The number of consignors to the Ohio pool makes it by far the largest in point of number of growers of any association in the country, says Mr. Walker. The present season is the ninth in which the Ohio association has handled a large volume of the wools of this section of the country cooperatively. The volume this year is somewhat under that of last season, but this is largely accounted for by the falling in the total volume of wool produced.

PARASITE DRAINS SHEEP'S VITALITY

Warm Rainy Weather Ideal for the Stomach Worm, Specialist Finds.

The stomach worm in sheep is worse than it has been any time the past summer. The warm damp fall has been ideal for its development.

Unless the flock is treated late this month or early next month the sheep will go through the winter harboring the worms in their digestive system. This is a sewer drain on the vitality of the animal, L. A. Kauffman, extension specialist at the Ohio State University points out. During the late winter and early spring where the infestation is serious many of the weakly constituted sheep die.

Copper sulfate or nicotine sulfate is recommended for eliminating the worm from the sheep. If the flock is heavily infested it may pay the shepherd to treat a second time the latter part of November.

The warm rainy weather has made it possible for the parasite to complete its life cycle about once every three weeks. In dry or cool weather this is much slower. Seven months of freezing weather, Mr. Kauffman says, have not killed them in their resting stage. The only safe way to get a pasture rid of the worms is to keep sheep out of it for about a year and a half. In this time they will starve out. They can only live where they can develop in the digestive tract of the sheep.

The egg hatches the worm in a short time after it is voided by the sheep. It lies on the ground in the resting stage until it either crawls or is washed up on a blade of grass. Sheep eat it with the grass in this resting period. In ten days there is a full grown stomach worm in the sheep's stomach. The worm lays eggs and the entire process repeats itself as long as there are sheep present in which the worms can reach maturity.

Marketing of grain through the sales and purchasing department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation this fall reached the highest volume in the four years the service has been offered. A total of 1,450,000 bushels of grain were merchandised during the 12 months ending September 30. The volume of grain represents purchases from about 150 county elevators in Ohio and sales to about 100 buyers in terminal markets, exporters interior millers.

The Ohio corn borer control committee will complete arrangements for the formation of county control committees in every Ohio county at its meeting in Columbus, October 28.

Everything in Hardware

The establishment of the ZERKEL BROTHERS HARDWARE CO., 115-117 South Market street, Troy, Phone 77, one of the reliable Hardware stores of this section that carries an up-to-date stock of HARDWARE AND QUALITY. An immense stock of goods is carried by this institution as it keeps pace with the demands of its customers.

In the present day of hurry and rush the patron insists that his demands for a nail or screw be given the same careful attention as though he were buying a malleable range. Particular attention to just such details of the business have won great popularity for this store.

When the name of the ZERKEL BROTHERS HARDWARE CO. is behind the Hardware and other articles you purchase, you know they will be of high quality and well worth the money.

This store has maintained a reputation for HIGH GRADE GOODS for years and their standing in the community is behind everything they sell.

Their stock consists of Shelf and Heavy Hardware.

There is no one firm in this section that is more deserving of the support of citizens of this community than the ZERKEL BROTHERS HARDWARE CO., at Troy, who have by their fair recommending business methods done as much to advance the "Buying at Home Rule" as any firm in this section, by furnishing the Highest Grade Goods at Most Reasonable Prices.

They Pay The Highest Price

It has only been in recent years that great industrial firms recognized the value of systematic disposal of waste material. In certain communities a few enterprising men saw that they could develop something of value to themselves to handle the waste material of both large and small industrial plants.

This today is the business of JACOB WEINBERGER & SON, 12 West Market Street, Troy, Phone 678.

Few people realize the volume of such business. One gasps with surprise when one realizes the number of tons of old iron and scrap shipped out by this firm. And this does not include the great amount of junk disposed of locally. Thus a profit is brought into the community from the disposal of waste material.

The JACOB WEINBERGER & SON JUNK YARD, is valuable to the community in another way. Users of any kind of machine and automobile users in particular find this yard a true economy. A part of their machine is broken. Everyone knows the high price of new parts, but they do not have to spend money in this way. The need but come to the JACOB WEINBERGER & SON JUNK YARD, tell what they want and immediately the manager goes to the carefully stored piles and in the greater majority of cases finds the part wanted and it is purchased at only a fraction of the cost of a new part.

While they deal in Old Automobiles—they do not make a specialty of it. Their main business being along other lines of junk. The business of this concern is not limited to Troy but covers the adjoining territory for many miles around.

The owners of this business are up and coming business men. They believe in their business and for that reason have made a success of it. They are highly respected in business circles of this community.

They Assist the Farmer

Few businesses combine the function of conservation and production for the good of the community as much as the E. C. ROSS FERTILIZER CO., OF TROY & LAURA, Troy Phone 384, Laura Phone 8 on 58, while the mailing address is Ludlow Falls Route No. 1, as they conserve waste material and at the same time give to the farmers Tankage for Hogs at Most Reasonable Prices.

The E. C. ROSS FERTILIZER CO. OF TROY & LAURA believed that this community offered a fine opportunity for a concern which would take care of the waste material in the form of Dead Stock, and at the same time furnish the Farmers here as well as elsewhere with TANKAGE for HOG FEED. The growth of this industry has proven that its promoters were absolutely right in their judgement.

Farmers in this community have been particularly pleased to have this enterprise located in their midst. It solves the problem of the disposition of the Dead Animal in a Sanitary and Satisfactory Manner. At the same time it assures them a Good Quality of Tankage for Hog Feed that is manufactured here in their own community where they may inspect the process whereby it is made.

Stringent State Law now discourages the burying of dead stock and this makes it particularly imperative to have some other means of disposition which is satisfactory. There are only two; cremation and rendering into Fertilizer and Tankage. Of these two the latter is much preferred. Not only in rendering the More Sanitary Way, but it is productive at the same time.

Few people outside the farmers realize the promptness and convenience of service which this plant offers in the disposition of any animal carcass, whether it be hogs, sheep, calves, colts, horses or cattle.

No matter what part of the county you live in, if one of your herd of Live Stock dies, call this firm by long distance at its expense and one of its trucks will call immediately for the carcass. Just tell the operator that you wish the charges reversed.

This concern is in close touch with the Board of Health and very possible step is taken to make the plant Absolutely Sanitary at all times. The plant is as Modern as the Latest Scientific Rendering Machinery can make it.

The management of the E. C. ROSS FERTILIZER CO., OF TROY & LAURA, is a firm who are thoroughly conversant with all the details of the manufacture of Fertilizer and Tankage.

Are Your Shoes Wearing Out?

"It makes no difference of whom you buy your shoes or at what store you buy them. They are like anything else in this world of ours. They will wear out.

But on the other hand, it is not necessary as soon as a small break is noticed in them to discard them and pay the large price that we are compelled to pay for new shoes, but take them to J. B. SMITH'S SHOE SERVICE STATION, 120 South Market Street, Troy, Phone 171, and say: "Here boys, is a pair of shoes. Fix them up." They will and guarantee their work.

While they are rushed with work; they will give you courteous attention; and by the use of the latest electric machinery; they are able to turn out a large amount of work and at a reasonable price, in fact, much cheaper than in the average city shops.

A very important feature of the Repair Business of this establishment is the Parcel Post Department. They pay the charges one way on all this trade.

These states have soil, climate and rainfall that responds to approximately the same type of fertilizers. In the east New York, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey already have open formula fertilizers for their needs.

Here also will be found Shoe Laces; Polishers; Stains; Rubber Heels for All Kinds and Colors of Shoes.

We are pleased to be able to bring before our readers an establishment of this kind as they are a concern that brings to Troy the atmosphere of a real metropolitan city as we can truthfully state that there is no better or a more progressive establishment than J. B. SMITH'S SHOE SERVICE STATION which is conducted at Troy.

the manufactured product through the open formula because the manufacturer must tell on the bag what is in the product and of what it is made. For example, many of the cheap fertilizers use peat, finely ground, as a nitrogen carrier. Chemically it will show that the proper amount of nitrogen is in the fertilizer. Peat is not nearly as good a nitrogen plant food as sulfate of ammonia, animal tankage, or some of the other carriers of nitrogen.

Corn is Host to Scab That Spoils Wheat

Disease Costs Ohio Farmers $250,000 Bushels of Grain Yearly, Records Show.

Wheat scab claims more than five million bushels of wheat a year in the United States. Estimates fix the losses for Ohio at 250,000 bushels in ordinary years. In bad years it may reach 2,000,000 bushels, according to W. G. Stover, plant pathologist at the Ohio State University.

"Scab is not caused by the weather; the phase of the moon; the influence of the stars; or the dispensations of Providence. It is a living, growing, multiplying plant. It is a fungus that attacks the wheat heads about the time they bloom."

For a long time, Professor Stover says, the disease was a mystery. No one knew where it came from or how it started. Farmers and plant pathologists who watched the disease noticed that the attack was most severe on wheat that allowed corn. Experiments showed that the fungus grew on both corn and wheat. On corn rotate their crops, corn, oats, wheat, wheat it causes the scab.

Southern and western Ohio, records show, have the greatest loss from scab. In these sections the prevailing rotation is corn, wheat, clover. Northeastern Ohio farmers ordinarily rotate their crops corn, oats, wheat, clover, and have very little scab.

It has been found that the fungus lives through the winter on old corn stalks. These overwintering spores attack the wheat. It is a robber that lives in the cornfield but steals wheat, concludes Professor Stover.

INCH OF RAIN IS 100 TONS TO AN ACRE

Several hundred pounds of water are necessary during the life of a cultivated plant to produce 1 pound of mature matter. Thus a plant such as wheat or corn requires each day an amount equal to several times its own weight. It is not often that nature supplies just the amount required for best development throughout the growing season. A much greater quantity of water is supplied to the soil in a moderately heavy rain than is usually supposed. With a rainfall of one inch, without loss by run-off, more than 100 tons of water is supplied to one acre of land.

MILDEWED LEATHER

The simplest way to prevent leather articles from mildewing is to keep them in a well-ventilated dry well-lighted place preferably one exposed to the sunlight. When mildew develops it should be washed off with soap and warm water or simply wiped off with a moist cloth, drying the leather well afterwards. These measures are more satisfactory than the application in the home of preparations designed to prevent the growth of mildew.

THE THIRSTY STRAWBERRY

Owing to the large water requirements of the strawberry, especially at the season of ripening, it has been found advantageous to provide irrigation for the crop even in humid regions. In seasons of sparse rainfall other growing conditions, such as sunlight and temperature, are likely to be most favorable, and fields provided with irrigation facilities during such seasons may yield two or three times as much as those without such equipment. The dessert quality of the fruit from such irrigated fields is often superior and the duration of the harvest can be materially prolonged. Irrigation is usually practiced in localities adjacent to large centers of population and varieties which are adapted to such conditions are selected.

C. S. M. FOR STEERS

While the feeding of large quantities of cottonseed meal will poison cattle, mature steers may be given about three quarters of a pound of the meal per 100 pounds live weight daily for about 100 days without harmful effect. Withilage it may be fed longer. In fact, it is better always to feed it with a laxative feed, such as silage or legume hay. Cottonseed meal is less harmful to older cattle than to the younger animals. One pound of the meal is practically equal to 2 pounds of corn or velvet beans and to 1.5 pounds of cold-pressed cottonseed cake for fattening steers.

GOOD BEEF COW

A good beef cow is smooth, well proportioned; with short legs, short back, short and broad head, wide muzzle, glossy hair, and a loose and pliable skin. She should have a good udder and give enough milk to feed her calf well. Beef cows are usually lower set, blockier, more symmetrical, carry more flesh, and have smaller udders than dual-purpose cows. Do not keep shy breeders or cattle with contagious abortion, lumpy jaw, or tuberculosis.

LIME FROM LEGUMES

Legume hays have two great points of superiority over grass hays for growing and milking animals; they contain more protein and more lime. The high protein is very important if the hay is being fed alone or with a low-protein concentrate such as corn or oats. But the high lime is even more important, because there are no concentrates which contain large amounts of lime. As far as is known there is no way to satisfy lime requirements of very productive dairy cows on winter feed except to give them large quantities of well-cured legume hay.

Are your bees prepared for the winter? Your county agent or state college of agriculture can help you with the preparations.

Modern Ways For Modern Days

Years ago the housewife had little choice, in the method of keeping her house in order. Just common yellow soap was all that was available which required a large amount of elbow grease and patience to make the home look presentable. Then after the operation it required a large effort to offset the injurious effects of some yellow soaps upon the hands.

Today it is quite different, for the housewife has at her disposal the "Modern Ways for Modern Days," THE RUB-NO-MORE SEXTETTE which cleans everything from cellar to garret.

R-N-M WHITE NAPTHA SOAP is made so good that it FLOATS. It contains the highest grade of tallow and vegetable oils, making it a superior soap. The naphtha also greatly helps remove the dirt. R-N-M WHITE

Then the RUB-NO-MORE WASHING POWDER with 35 years of satisfaction behind it makes the hardest water soft a velvet; also cleans and purifies. It is a great soap saver.

SPOTLESS CLEANSER for the bathroom and kitchen, the biggest can for the money—is indispensable to the woman who prides herself in having a modern home. It cleans the hardest job with ease.

RUB-NO-MORE YELLOW NAPTHA SOAP also FLOATS. It's a big bar and will more than please the housewife who likes a yellow soap. Makes Oceans of Suds and it does not injure the hands.

Is A Man's Word as Good as His Bond?

Any person with a few dollars in his pocket can purchase a "Used Car." In the days of time past when horse trading was considered an art, every fellow trying to get the best of the trade or in other words the one that was most scientific in "doping the beast" and making it appear "What it was not" was the party that got the best of the transaction.

Today a person in buying a "Used Car" the same amount or more so of "doping" to contend with as in the old days of "horse swapping."

There are many unreliable dealers selling "Used Cars" that try to put it across on the purchaser. Unless a person is a mechanic it is indeed difficult to detect the weak spots in the mechanism of a "Used Car." The purchaser in almost every instance is compelled to rely upon the word of the dealer. It is therefore good business judgement to buy a "Used Car" from a firm who has a reputation at stake and who will not misrepresent to make a sale.

The News knows of no more reliable firm than the HAWN-MYERS MOTOR CO., and its manager, A. M. Hawn. In fact, we are so confident that there will be no misrepresentation made to sell a car we are willing to risk our standing among our readers and say we recommend the HAWN-MYERS MOTOR CO. and its manager A. M. Hawn, in highest terms.

What has been said of their dealings in "Used Cars" can be repeated in regard to their repair department.

Here only expert mechanics are employed and only genuine parts are installed, their charges are right and the work most skillfully done and the job delivered when promised. A. M. Hawn from the time he has had charge of the HAWN-MYERS MOTOR CO., has sold and delivered more new STUDEBAKER cars than any agency in this part of Ohio located in a city the size of Troy. This is the reason the large number of first class used cars they have for sale at all times.

This has been accomplished by progressiveness and no misrepresentation and there is not purchaser of a car from this concern, but will say: "Hawn's Word is as good as His Bond" and so say we.

Oily, Greasy and Gassy

There has been born to the world of the automobilist, and to the man who uses machinery, triplets, that are recognized, wherever once used, as the most pure and best result getters that have been placed on the market today—OILY OIL, GREASY GREASE AND GASSY GASOLINE, all of which are sold by the MIAMI OIL CO. at 233 South Market Street, Troy, Phone 65.

How often the farmer, when making a long trip with his automobile or in the spring of the year when time is money and he is putting in every day from sunrise to sunset with his tractor plowing furrow after furrow in an effort to get his ground prepared in time for seeding, has the aggravating experience of his auto refusing to cover the miles and his tractor continually giving him engine trouble and not working up to the standard.

Quite often the car or tractor is blamed for being inefficient, where if care was taken in obtaining the best OIL, GREASE AND GASOLINE much of the trouble would be remedied and time saved. It never pays to use inferior OILS, GREASES and GASOLINE on account of being cheaper in price, as in every case it will prove false economy. The time of labor and unnecessary wear of machinery will, within a short time, cost the operator much more per gallon than if the best had been used.

When it comes to the purchase of OIL, GREASE and GASOLINE, the reliability and nearness of the MIAMI OIL CO. should be considered and we advise all our readers to consider very carefully before ordering from anyone else. They are right here and their reputation as neighbors is behind everything they sell. If you purchase OIL, GREASE and GASOLINES from them you get the BEST THE MARKET AFFORDS, as this is one of the places in Ohio where the BEST is always found, and never sold under misrepresentation.

The management of the MIAMI OIL CO. at Troy, are very courteous and stand ready and willing to give you any information that you desire.

We recommend this progressive and reliable concern and its efficient products to all our readers.

A Pillar of Strength

THE CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK at Tippecanoe City, has been gaining such a rapid rate since its organization that it has taken its place as one of the Gibraltar of Finance in this section of Ohio, as it is conducted with a conservatism that makes it a very reliable institution.

It was organized by business men of Tippecanoe City and vicinity and little did these gentlemen realize, although they were optimistic, that the institution would make such rapid strides to the front.

With such men at its head it naturally follows that it would be conducted on a sound and conservative basis.

The bank occupies a very commodious building and the interior is furnished with the banking furniture of the period and is arranged both for convenience of the officers and for the benefit of the public.

Its safe is fire and burglar proof and in keeping with the style used by some of the leading banks of the country. A general business transacted and money is loaned at reasonable rates on the proper security. All classes of accounts are solicited and proper treatment is assured all.

THE CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK at Tippecanoe City is operated under a National charter and has all the Protection of the Federal Government.

The strength of the institution is not found alone in figures as large as they may seem, but in the fact that the business is being conducted along conservative lines of modern finance.

You can start a Savings Account here knowing that you are SAFE in doing so, as their Savings Department is gaining day by day.

The Directors of THE CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK represent business people of well known financial ability and under their guidance we feel that this institution will continue to prosper and be one of the important factors in the continued development of Tippecanoe City and this section.

Council Bluffs, Ia. Nov. 15.—John B. Keshine, millionaire sportsman, today shot and killed his wife, seriously wounded his sister-in-law Mrs. Henry Anderson and then ended his own life by shooting.

Cleveland, O. Nov. 16.—The highest prices in history, not excepting war-time quotations, will be paid for milk by Cleveland consumers beginning Friday, it was announced here today by J. W. Strong, general manager of the Ohio Farmers' Milk association.

The announcement followed a meeting last night of directors of the association, at which it was decided to advance the price, which now is 15 cents a quart, due to a shortage and inability of wholesalers to meet the demand.

"Farmers are not going in for dairying this year," Strong explained. "The weather throughout the fall was so rainy and unsettled that farmers were unable to build silos in which to store cattle feed."

Population Increase

The rate of increase of the population of the world is approximately 0.0125 per cent, which doubles the population every 6016 years and would in 10,000 years give the number 22,384 followed by 40 zeros. Either this rate of increase must be very much greater than has existed in past history of the world, or vast numbers of human beings have been blotted out by catastrophes at various times.

3,764 Miles In High Gear

You have no doubt heard or read of the famous trip made by "Cannon Ball" Baker from New York to Los Angeles in an "OLDSMOBILE SIX" in high gear. The "OLDSMOBILE SIX" that is sold and distributed in this section by the TROY AUTO SUPPLY CO. South Market and Race Streets, Troy, Phone 379, on this record making run covered 3,764 miles from New York to Los Angeles with second, low and reverse gears removed from the transmission.

Only 19 ounces of lubricating oils were used during the entire trip and the gasoline average was 27.8 miles per gallon. To top off this remarkable record Baker drove this car around Beverly Hill Speedway at 65 miles per hour. This only serves to bring out the claims made for the "OLDSMOBILE" and as publishing it as a "Car for Service at All Times."

The reason back of "OLDSMOBILE SIX" success, the reason why more than fifty thousand discriminating men and women have already bought this car can be summed up like this: "OLDSMOBILE SIX" combines sterling quality, six cylinder performance fine appearance and unusual comfort with low price.

Genuine Oldsmobile Parts can be purchased from any "OLDSMOBILE DEALER" in any part of the United States, at a Standard Price established by the factory, without the addition of any war tax, handling or transportation charges. Every OLDSMOBILE dealer has a master parts price list, which is always open for the owners inspection.

The American public is demanding closed car transportation in larger quantities than ever before.

Nearly every manufacturer in the country has for years been talking about the increasing demand for closed cars, but probably "OLDSMO-BILE" product offers a better example of this demand than has ever been put before the public.

The engine of the "OLDSMOBILE" develops more than 40 horsepower by actual test. It is of the removable L head type. Cylinder and crankcase are a single casting. Three long bronze-backed babbit lined interchangeable bearings support the crankcase. Cylinders are honed to a glass-like finish.

We cannot say too much about the personnel of the distributing establishment of the TROY AUTO SUPPLY CO. at Troy. It has the same dependability a steve car it represents and some motor cars can be trusted much farther than many men. In this community Mr. Weeks, the proprietor of this distributing agency is serviceable in his civic life as he is in serviceable in his civic life as he is in his business. No more could be said.

There are two games played under the name of speed ball. One is played in Maryland, and another in Michigan. Speed ball, as played in Michigan, originated with D. Clarke, game expert of Winnetka, Ill.

The Anglo-Saxons gave names to localities from their supposed resemblance to parts of the human body, as headland, a neck of land, a tongue of land, the mouth of a river, the brow of a hill, an arm of the sea, and so on. Battersea was once known as Peter's Eye, or Peter's Island; Chelsea was Chale-eye, and Bermondsey was Bermond's eye, all of them having been originally islands.

The Chance He Took

By CORA BENNETT

THE water was turquoise green, the air was cool and soft, when Jack Allen, tired of swimming, clambered upon the sloping rock, that marked deep water. For awhile he sat there, watching, gaily-tinted clouds that thronged the beach and scattered into the water. Then he would swim again, sliding down the rock until his feet almost touched bottom and soon he would come up again, buoyant and alive, ready to swim out to the point and back again once more.

It didn't turn out exactly as he had planned. Jack slipped down the rock, feet first, but he knew nothing

Every Inch a Real Home Is This Colonial Type

A LIVING-ROOM forty feet long—that is practically what one has in this exceptionally well planned Colonial house.

The living-room extends on one side into the dining-room, set off only by two small china closets, and on the other into the sunroom. The whole effect is one of spaciousness and hospitality.

Another outstanding feature is the downstairs bed-room, which can be used as sick-room, guest chamber, playroom or sewing room, as occasion arises. The stairways are compactly arranged and well out of sight. There are closets and storage space enough to please the most acquisitive housekeeper.

Left either plain painted, stained or finished with a dainty stencil such walls are extremely effective and durable.

of the stout and elderly gentleman who was floating on his back just beneath the surface, almost somnolent with the joy of the day.

It was mere chance that the fluster rounded the rock just as Jack decided to submerge. The result was as startling as it was mortifying. There was the moment of contact, a fishlike leap on the part of the unhappy Jack, a momentary glimpse of a pair of elderly feet and a red and wrathful face.

Jack went back to the rock. "I am sorry, sir," he said apologetically. "Of course I could not know you were there. I hope you are not hurt, sir."

"How can I tell that until I have seen my doctor?" asked the victim frantically. "I would like your card, sir."

"Of course I haven't got one here," said Jack in a peaceable voice, "but my name is John Allen and I am at the Cliff hotel."

"Suppose you will go kiting off in a high-powered car as soon as you get ashore," muttered the injured one. "My name is Flood—I'll get you wherever you are."

As Jack swam away toward the ocean, he told himself grimly there was just one thing for him to do now—get himself drowned for good and all.

Had he not just become engaged to Daisy Flood, the most charming of the Flood twins, and was he not waiting around to meet Daisy's father to put the important question? Mrs. Flood was willing, but Amos Flood, the well-known lawyer!

Daisy's father! And the prospective son-in-law had almost killed him! Jack had reached the point by this time and lay panting on the sand. He was still miserably going over the accident when a motor boat whooped over a wave and edged along the beach. The genial face of the life guard smiled at him.

"There you are, Mr. Allen," he called.

"Here I am—what has happened? Come to rescue me, Miss Daisy Flood says there's sharks out there."

"There's sharks ashore," retorted Jack grimly.

The guard laughed heartily. "I saw you do it," he chortled. He was a college student on vacation, and had a strange sense of humor. "They put the old gentleman to bed and sent for a doctor and a specialist. Money flowing like water."

"How is he?" growled Jack with a hint show of interest.

"I don't know. But I've orders to bring you home, dead or alive."

Jack made himself comfortable in the boat, and they rubbed back to the hotel, where he found a note from Amos Flood asking him to call at his suite that evening at nine o'clock.

"I'll get mine sure as shooting," gloomed Jack, and packed his trunk and bags before he dressed for dinner. "I'll be at the hour named, looking very pale and handsome, the unfortunate lover presented himself at the Flood suite.

Mrs. Flood welcomed him with tearful eyes. Daisy squeezed his hand sympathetically, and Joan nodded in her brusque little way. There was nothing to indicate that this was anything except a death-bed scene.

"Oh, Jack," whispered Mrs. Flood. "It does not seem possible."

"Has he—passed away?" asked Jack, horror-stricken.

Daisy exchanged a startled look with her sister. "Of course the poor boy doesn't know," she whispered.

There was a mellow laugh in the distance, the aroma of a good cigar and Amos Flood ambled into view, smiling cheerfully like an amiable cockatoo.

"You have saved my life, Jack," he said extending a hand.

"Saved your life?" echoed Jack. "So I have said."

"I thought I had killed you."

"It proved to be the kindest thing you ever did! That drastic treatment was what I needed and I have just concluded a full-course dinner of indigestibles, and my doctors say you have cured me by your supposed carelessness."

"Am very glad indeed, Mr. Flood," said Jack dully.

"Now," bustled the great lawyer. "I understand you want to marry Daisy."

"He is going to," said Daisy, possessing herself of Jack's arm.

"I'll say that you would never have had a chance winning her if you had not cured me," said Mr. Flood. "Because there's two or three good-looking young doctors been after Daisy and—well, call it a day. Come, mother, come Jean—he isn't counting both of you—good luck, Jack."

"Thank you, sir," said Jack, and took all the luck that was coming to him, including Daisy herself.

Really Fast Work

"Talk about fast work," said an insurance agent, "a man insured by my company fell off the dock the other day and our adjuster was on the spot when they pulled him ashore. That's nothing," said the other agent. "A man insured by my company fell off the twenty-second floor of our home office building and his claim is full was handed out to him as he went by the mezzanine."
