TRAINMEN CAPTURE TWO BANDITS

Passengers in Panic Aboard Keystone Express When Bandits Appear

Penny Brakeman is Hero, and Bandits Were Captured and Turned Over to Police

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

Pittsburgh—Two bandits who attempted to hold up the Pennsylvania railroad's Keystone express, bound from New York to St. Louis, near here today, were overpowered and arrested when one bandit's gun jammed as he started to shoot their way to freedom.

The attempted robbery occurred between Greensburg and Pitsarn. Police said the bandits gave their names as W. P. Heyner, 21, of Tyrone and L. D. Roberts, 25, Johnstown. Authorities said Heyner, only recently was released from the state reformatory at Hantington. He had his possession given inmates of the Hantington institution and a bank book issued by Tyrone Pa. institution, when arrested.

Heyner was armed but his companion was not. As the train pulled out of Greensburg, forty miles east of Pittsburgh, the bandits walked through the smoking car, their revolver drawn, and ordered passengers to surrender their valuables.

While the bandits were searching passengers in the front part, other passengers in the rear of the car went for aid. The bandits fled into the baggage car when J. J. Fulton, a brakeman, off duty, approached them.

After robbing F. D. Dorsey, baggage master, the bandits entered the smoker and were escorted by Fulton who made a dash for Heyner, the armed bandit. Heyner warned him to stand back, and pulled the trigger of his gun when Fulton ignored his command, police said.

Fulton owes his life to the fact that Heyner's gun jammed. An instant later the railroad man overpowered Heyner, wrestling his gun from him, while passengers pounced upon Rhodes.

The prisoners were taken to Pittsburgh and turned over to police. While panic prevailed on the front coaches during the robbery many of the passengers in the rear coaches did not know the train was being robbed, until the bandits had been captured.

Cincinnati—Richard Rev. 22, who claimed to be the son of a wealthy Indianapolis merchant, today, was being held under $5,000 bond for grand jury action in a robbery charge now pending against him.

SEEK TO ESTABLISH INDEPEND-ENT FISH AND GAME
COMMISSION

By James W. Stuber
Editor. League of Ohio Sportsmen

Columbus, O., Jan. 13.—Establishment of a fish and game commission independent of the department of agriculture in Ohio will be asked of the state legislature this week by the organized sportsmen and game con-servationsists of the Buckeye state.

The bill is to be introduced by Representative Keifer of Springfield, assigned at present the bill would give a commission of seven members authority to administer the affairs of the fish and game department, thru a secretary or chief warden as an executive, with the director of agriculture as a member ex-officio. Many sportsmen, however, are said to favor complete separation of the fish and game division from the department of agriculture.

Both the League of Ohio Sportsmen and the Isak Walton League, the two state-wide organized bodies have passed resolutions favoring division, and a joint-committee has been named with members from both organizations to consider the proposed Members of the committee are Chas.
B. Cranston, Columbus, chairman; Dr. K. Y. James, Cleveland, of the League of Ohio Sportsmen; A. F.
Long, Springfield, president of the Isak Walton League; A. H. Frye, Frankfort, Isak Walton chapter, and E. L. Wickliff, assistant chief of the Ohio Fish and Game department. The writer, a member of both state sportsmen's organizations acted as chairman of the recent conference when the committee was appointed.

With both the League of Ohio Sportsmen and the Isak Walton League supporting the proposed legislation, I. S. Myers president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, Akron, believes advanced steps in the fish and game program for Ohio will be taken. A. F. Long, Isak Walton president, and also a member of the advisory board of the present fish and game division, recommends a different form of administration from that now existing as the present board is limited in authority. The proposed plan will be similar to that of Pennsylvania where it has worked successfully. Most states favor the separate commission form. Farmers, commercial fishermen, nature lovers, hunters, fishermen, trappers, may all be represented on the proposed commission. Only three states in the union have the fish and game division subservient to the department of agriculture. The fish and game department of Ohio supports the views of the hunters and fishermen license fund without cost to the taxpayers, has outgrown the department of agriculture and is big enough to stand on tion.

(International Newsweek)

its own feet, the sportsmen declare.
Its work should be that of a department of conservation. Definite action on the measure is to be taken by the League of Ohio Sportsmen at the annual convention in Columbus January 26. It is understood that the Isak Walton League has already indorsed the bill as drawn.

Important features of the measure will give the commissioners who would serve without pay or for a fee when in session, the authority to declare open and closed or flexible seasons; govern bag limits and make other regulations, within limitations.
Hearings could be held before a regulation is declared at which any one could be heard. It is believed that the legislature will be glad to be relieved from the responsibility of the hanging of the fish and game laws every season, when they might be giving their time to more vital measures. Fish and game laws generally cause more clashes, and take up more time than almost any other kind of legislation and each year changes are demanded, by various interests.
It is believed that through a commission of experts sound regulations requiring but little changes, can be made, or if changes are necessary they can be declared after a thorough study of the problem. Fish and game protectors need have no fear of their jobs through the proposed legislation, as the department will still remain under civil service if the bill passes. Ohio has on its force some of the best fish and game protectors in any state in the Union.

Should the proposed bill fail to pass, many changes in the fish and game laws advocated by the sportsmen will of course be thrown into the legislative hopper. Should it pass, these proposed changes will be placed before the new commission.
This should simplify the whole process of game law regulations.

The sportsmen generally recommend that the $1.00 angler's license law now applicable only to rod and reel fishermen, be made to cover all fishermen over 16 years of age, and that all state laws should conform to federal regulations in order to avoid confusion. Federal laws govern only all rarer species that in their spring and fall flights pass from state to state.

Ohio is entering upon a new era of game and wild life conservation. A broad vision of the whole problem is being entertained by sportsmen at large.

Conservation has been on trial in Ohio for several years, with many political angles, misinterpretations, and resentments. The sportsmen through their many organizations have overcome much of the former controversy, and are now getting together on a sound and practical program.

Cleveland.—As a result of wholesale raids conducted in Lorain, 22 men and 2 women will be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Monahan for violating of prohibition laws.

The raids were conducted yesterday by a squad of 12 federal agents from the Cleveland bureau, who swooped down on Lorain while Chief of Police Theodore Walker was in Columbus conferring with Governor Denney about law enforcement.

Cleveland.—Cleveland, The first major city to adopt the municipal manager form of government, now faces a campaign which seeks to abolish the custom.

Under leadership of Harry L. Davis former Governor of Ohio, a huge mass meeting was held here last night at which petitions were collected asking for a referendum election on the question.

Cleveland adopted the city manager plan in 1924. The official receives $25,000 salary.

Stubenville.—Ross H. Cunningham, recently appointed chief of police, has been exonerated on a charge of larceny preferred by a former safety director, O. R. Conley.

The grand jury which wound up its session last night, refused to take action on Conley's charges that Cunningham had stolen a storage battery.

West Union O.—Authorities here today were trying to establish the manner in which Ralph Kanuf, 32, and his father Michael, 72, met their deaths here last night.

Although the theory was advanced that the younger man under the influence of alcohol killed his father and then turned a revolver upon himself, some officials were inclined to believe both deaths were accidental and were caused by a stuffle of a gun.

The younger man's widow witnessed the affair, and was so hysterical today that she could not give a clear account of it.

Seven children were left fatherless the youngest of which is three years old, by Ralph Kanuf's death.

London.—200 Americans and 400 British, mostly missionaries, are evac-

Missionaries in the vicinity of Hankow are steadily leaving their possessions and taking refuge in the international centers, the dispatch states.

Cincinnati, Jan. 13.—Automobiles figuring in traffic deaths will be hereafter seized by County Coroner F. C.
Swing and held for mechanical inspection, that official announced today.

The official stated that he would hold an automobile in a traffic death inquiry, just the same as he would hold a revolver in a murder inquiry, and if the owner was found to be criminally negligent of driving a car while it was in a dangerous mechanical condition, the owner would be held for grand jury action.

The Cincinnati Automobile club will furnish two expert mechanics for inspections of all "death cars."

Sherrodsville, O.—Gasoline electric driven passenger trains are being installed on the Wheeling and Lake Esisting of gasoline-electric car and Three similar trains will also be

Central America against the interests of the United States.

The early recall of Ambassador Sheffield was presaged, as the ambassador is generally regarded as being responsible for the state department's vigorous attitude toward the prosecution of American rights.

The secretary of state's charges, coming on the heels of President Coolidge's message to congress, was regarded as a clear declaration of the Coolidge administration's determination to carry out its own policy for the protection of American interests in the region between Panama and the Rio Grande against the alleged activities of bolshevik interests.

While a strict alliance was maintained in Mexican official circles regarding Secretary Kellogg's charges, Madame Kollontay, sole minister of the soviet government in the Americas, was outspoken in her contradiction of the charges.

"Absurd," she said when informed of Mr. Kellogg's statement to the senate committee. "Mr. Kellogg cannot have information relative to a thing which does not exist."

Columbus—Robert F. Wolfe, publisher of the Columbus Dispatch and the Ohio State Journal, and one of the most prominent men in Ohio financial and political circles, was instantly killed shortly before noon today, in a fall from a window of his office on the fifth floor of the Columbus Dispatch building.

Wolfe was alone in his private office but a few minutes previously remarked to one of his associates that he "felt dizzy" and would open all his windows to air out the room.

It is believed that he tripped in opening one of the large casement windows which give access to a wide coping around the building and in doing so, lost his balance and fell.

Mexico City, Jan. 13.—The Calles government insists today that the rebellion in north and central Mexico presents no great difficulty and announced its firm intention of using drastic measures to put down the insurrectionary movement.

The report of these executions is not confirmed in official circles, although rumors of the death penalty being meted out generally are rife. One report states that six rebels have been executed on the outskirts of Mexico City.
