Important Battle Pending Today

Race for Military Control of Shanghai is on with Engagement of Rival Armies Imminent

Shanghai, Feb. 24.—The most important battle in the history of the Chinese republic seemed impending today as both the Nationalist troops under General Chiang Kai-Shek, from the south, and the Fengtien troops of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord from the north, speeded up their race for military control of Shanghai, China's chief seaport.

The vanguard of the northern horde today had reached Wushih, 80 miles from Shanghai, while the Nationalist Cantonese occupied Kashing, 60 miles to the southwest.

Sunking appeared to be the probable scene of the impending battle, as the converging lines will meet there.

Thirty thousand Fengtien troops already have crossed the Yangtze river in a desperate attempt to stem the Nationalists' northward march.

General Sun Chuan-Fang, hitherto defender of Shanghai who yesterday relinquished control of the city to Chang Tso-Lin, today conferred at Nanking with General Chang Tsung-Chang, son of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, and other Fengtien generals regarding a campaign for the purpose of reclaiming Chekiang province from the Cantonese for Sun Shuan-Fang, and Kiangsu province from Chang Tsung-Chang.

Sun Chuan-Fang still controls Sungkiang, and is sending out execution parties to suppress the robberies being committed by deserters from the Sun army who have discarded their uniforms but retained their arms.

The Labor Union at one place this afternoon called off the strike which has partially paralyzed Shanghai since last Saturday. The cotton mills and other factories immediately resumed full operation, and at the post office partial resumption was effected.

The agitation in Shanghai native city was more rife today because of the wholesale arrests by the military authorities. Approximately 200 persons, including 21 labor leaders, have been imprisoned. The labor leaders were abducted from the French concession where they had taken refuge. The Labor Union has announced that a general strike of one hour's duration, called for Monday from 10 to 11 o'clock throughout China, will be observed in Shanghai.

The Shanghai Times, in an English language daily, today reported the arrest, trial and execution of a strike picket at Chapel. The police arrived too late to save the picket's life, but they arrested and beheaded two of the ringleaders.

The United States transport Chaumont arrived today, bringing 1300 marines for China duty.

Rio de Janeiro—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian ace, today completed his hydroplane flight across the South Atlantic, arriving at Natal on the coast of Brazil from the island of Fernando de Noronha.

Commander de Pinedo hopped off from Fernando at 7:50 this morning, after having worked most of the night in making repairs to his machine which was damaged on Tuesday at Pernambuco, and arrived at Natal at 9:25.

Washington—Machine guns, manned by U. S. Marines, have been placed aboard all trains running between Mangana and Corinto, in Nicaragua, the state department announced today.

The railroad is owned by the Nicaraguan government.

Pittsburg, Kan.—Nine banks, including two Savings Associations in the coal fields of southeastern Kansas, with resources aggregating approximately $500,000 were closed today.

Failure of John Miller, wealthy banker and owner of Pittsburg to replace bond and paper with cash, as ordered by the State Banking commission, was given as the cause.

British Warship Is Sent to Nicaragua

United States Will Not Protest Man O'War's Presence So Long As the British Tars Are Not Landed

Washington—Great Britain's dispatch of a warship to the West coast of Nicaragua to protect British interests was viewed with equanimity today by the state department.

No protest against the British man O'war's presence in Nicaraguan waters will be made by this government, so long as the vessel acts merely as "a place of refuge" for the 200-odd British subjects in the country.

Any attempt, however, to land British tars on Nicaraguan soil or to take any unwise action against the Nicaraguans for injuries suffered by British interests, will be met with a most emphatic American protest, under the well understood doctrine of Monroe.

Congress Recons Italy's Action

House Preparing Today for a Showdown on Naval Construction

(C. W. S. Dispatch)

Washington, D. C.—With resentment sweeping congress over refusal of France and Italy to accept President Coolidge's bid to a naval limitation conference, both one today prepared for a showdown upon the proposal to begin construction of three new $16,000,000 cruisers. The senate already has passed the bill.

"Big Navy" advocates, frankly doubtful as to the result, were hopeful that the international situation would turn the tide in their favor.

Despite the apparent failure of the conference plan, however, Mr. Coolidge was reported to be unyielding on the Cruiser amendment—the only major piece of legislation upon which he has sent action upon to congress since his arrival here.

The reopening of the fight found an odd alignment in the house party lines knocked away and the President's titular spokesman opposing him. Speaker Longworth and Rep. Tilson of Connecticut republican floor leader, were again ranged on the side of the "Big navy" forces. In a previous fight, the cruiser proposal was lost in the house upon two votes 177 to 174 and 183 to 161.

Rep. Butler of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house naval affairs committee, declared that "if the rest of the nations of the world will not disarm, America must build."

"Two of the big nations of the world will not even meet us for conversation on the subject of limiting smaller ships," he said. "Japan informs us that she will be glad to confer but that she has her minimum of cruisers and does not want the 5-5-3 ratio extended."

"The United States will have to build, or other nations will have to destroy ships until our standard can be adopted."

Representative French (R) of Idaho, chairman of the sub-committee on the naval appropriation bill, called upon the House to stand by the President.

"The real harm in this amendment," he said, "is that it will be an announcement to the world that the President and Congress are not in harmony upon a program for the further limitation of ship building."

"I believe that when the people of France and Italy consider further the burdens that competitive ship building would place upon their backs, their governments will reconsider the proposal of President Coolidge and enter into a conference."

Baltimore—Miss Mary Beila Dupont, 23, heiress to a considerable part of the Dupont powder millions, entered the Freshman class of Harvard at Johns Hopkins hospital here today and began scrubbing floors and wrestling with pots and pans along with dozens of other girls.

WHIPPING FOR BAD BOYS HAVING REVIVAL IN DETROIT
COURTS; SPECTATORS CRY
'HARDER'

Detroit, Mich.—Whipping, a form of punishment which was popular in bygone times, is experiencing a revival in Detroit courts.

If erring sons are brought into court, it is not uncommon for their parents to appear with them at the request of the court to wield a swish-ing lather belt, or good stiff board.

Most recent is the memory of lashings administered to the 17-year-old boy who had stolen a radiator cap from an automobile. They were faced with the proposition of a 60-day term in prison or 24 lashes. Rather than under go the stigma of the prison they accepted the whipping.

The boys were Stanley Squaric and Vincent Johnson. In the manner reminded of those unpleasant days of the woodshed they took turns in bending over a court room chair. Eli Squaric, Stanley's father, laid the strap on his son and Mrs. Maude Logan, an elder sister, administered it to Vincent.

John D. Watts, assistant prosecutor, officiated as timekeeper. He ordered one extra stroke for each boy, "for good measure."

When the boys came into the court room there were giggles from a number of spectators of their own age.
When the lashing started there were cries of "harder, harder!"

Stanley was the first to bend over the chair. When he was in position Justice John L. Riopelle offered the boy's father a long, heavy belt which belonged to a police officer.

"Thanks, judge," said Squaric, "but I brought this along."

He drew a razor strap from his pocket.

"Oh, you are prepared?" remarked
the judge. "Very well, that will do."

Then the razor strap began to hum. Swish—swish—swish up and down went the strong arm of the father and the strap sang its tune in accompaniment. Spectators pushed and shoved for vantage points that they might see every detail.

CELINA AND ST. MARYS
SCRAP OVER NAME OF LAKE

Bill Introduced to Change Name of Lake St. Marys to Grand Reservoir—as It Was Formerly Called

(L. N. S. Dispatch)

Columbus—Map makers are sitting back and twiddling their thumbs
while the legislators of Ohio's northwestern section argue and storm about a speck on official imprints of the state's geography. Actually the little speck is Lake St. Marys, alias Grand Reservoir, alias Lake Mercer.

A bill recently introduced before the lower house of the state by Rep.
T. E. Williams, Mercer county, would have the reservoir called Grand Lake.

The reservoir at one time was the largest artificial body of water in the world, covering 17,500 acres. It came into existence back in 1830 as a part of the Miami and Erie canal system and was located in Mercer county and was called Grand Reservoir or nine maps of that time.

Celina was named near its banks and since that time has built itself
on the shores of this artificial lake.

About 15 years ago, consternation swept into Celina when residents learned they had been caught, napping and enterprising St. Marys residents had backed a bill which changed the name of the body to lake St. Marys, although two miles from the waters shores.

Since then residents of Mercer Co.
have resented the name enterprising residents of St. Marys gave to the reservoir and have clung tenaciously
to the old name Grand Reservoir.

With Ohio's lakes becoming more and more important as summer resorts, with improved roads and transportation, residents of Celina and Mercer county are backing Rep.
Williams to partially restore the original name of the lake.

TAX BOOKS SOON TO OPEN

The tax books will be open Tuesday, March 1, and will be closed on Friday, March 25, according to action taken by the county commissioners Monday.

The commissioners passed a resolution extending the time for tax paying until March 25 after County Treasurer Elsie Oblinger had stated her office would be ready to receive tax payments on March 1.

Taxpayers will have less than a month in which to make their payments whereas they are usually given two months or longer.

The long delay in opening the tax books has been due to the reappraisal work which was not completed until after the first of the year. Since the approval of reappraisal figures by the state tax commission early in January the clerks in the auditor's and treasurer's office have been rushing the work of preparing the individual tax bills.

County Treasurer Oblinger is preparing for an unusual rush of the tax payers because of the short time in which payments can be made.

Columbus—The body of Ltut. Chester H. Smith, 44, of Washington, will be sent to the capital city today for burial, following his death here from an appendicitis operation. Lieutenant Smith of the regular army signal corps, has been on duty with the Ohio State University R. O. T. C. His widow, Mrs. Mary Watters Smith survives.

Canton, O.—Ben Rulsner, Massillon

lisher, July 16 last.

He was found guilty of second degree murder by a jury which, after deliberating about seven hours, returned a verdict at 8:20 o'clock last night.

Rudner is the second man convicted

Washington C. H., O.—Leo Halterman shot his half-brother, Charles,
on the latter's farm last month, accidentally, during a struggle over possession of a shotgun, he told a jury which is trying him for murder here, testifying by his own defense.

Halterman related how he and Charles, aroused by a noise went in search of chicken thieves before daylight. He said they did not find any thieves, but that Charles had accused him of conniving with other persons to rob his chicken-house. He said he struggled with Charles, attempting to wrest a shotgun from him, and in the scuffle, the gun discharged accidentally and killed Charles.

The defendant declared that Charles had previously abused him, had threatened his life on numerous occasions, and had threatened to take his children away from him.

On cross-examination by the county prosecutor, Halterman said that Charles' wife, attracted by the gunshot, came from the house and attacked him with a hatchet, and that he lost her to death "in self-defense."

Rebuttal witnesses were to follow.
Leo Halterman, on the stand, and it was unexpected the case will reach the jury before late Thursday at the earliest.

Our dam filibuster might destroy all other legislation now pending.

Sponsors of the Johnson-Swing bill which would build a dam in the Col-

Their only chance for success lay in the hope that a vote might be forced could defeat it in the senate next

Cordova, Alaska—The U. S. Scand-

After the message saying the ves-

fishing boats immediately put out from Kodiak to go to her assistance.
The rescue boats were sighted by

Six men remained on the vessel

according to the last radio commu-

Radio communication with the ves-

MORE TAXES ON HOMES-FARMS?

Mortgage Companies Are Asking Ohio Legislature to Pass Mortgage Recording Tax.

AIMED AT REAL ESTATE

Measure Is Offered After Official Legislative Program Fails To Include Mortgage Tax.

Columbus, Ohio, (Special)—Farmers and home owners, already staggering under excessive taxes, will have an added tax burden to carry if the proposed mortgage recording tax bill just introduced in the Ohio House of Representatives is permitted to become a law. This measure is so drawn as to afford taxation relief to "WEALTH" but places additional taxes upon those least able to pay, for its puts an excise tax on mortgaged property, which tax will be passed on to the mortgagor or property owner.

The mortgage recording tax proposal originated with the Mortgage Association of Ohio, and was submitted by this organization to the Legislative Committee on Economy and Taxation which refused to include it in its tax revenue producing program. The Legislative committee's tax increasing program includes only an increase of franchise and excise taxes which apply to "big business." Following the failure of Ohio mortgage companies to get the Legislative Committee on Economy and Taxation to sponsor a mortgage recording tax, such a proposal was introduced at the instance of this organization as their own measure. In other words Ohio mortgage companies, through the mortgage recording tax, would saddle more taxes on the small home and farm owner, in order that mortgage companies might have tax exempt mortgages to sell.

Protecting Home Owners. Ohio building and loan associations, which finance approximately 90 per cent of the homes owned in Ohio and have a total of more than $15,000,000 on Ohio farm property, are opposing the mortgage recording tax in an effort to save from additional taxation the man who finds it necessary to mortgage his property.

The proposed measure would nearly double the cost of obtaining loans on real estate. It proposes a tax of one per cent on mortgages maturing after 10 years and one-half per cent on mortgages maturing in less time. Such a tax, of course, would be passed on to the borrower. Revenue so collected would be distributed as follows: 80 per cent to the general revenue fund of Ohio (in other words real estate will be made to bear more of the expense of the State Government, while only 10 per cent is to go to the local general taxing fund and 10 per cent to the local school tax fund. This would mean a loss of local revenue with the ultimate result according to taxing experts, of a further tax increase on local real estate.

Tax on Real Estate. James A. Devine, secretary of the Ohio Building Association League, an organization comprising some 600 Ohio building and loan companies, responsible for the welfare of nearly a million home buyers, declared that the passage of a mortgage recording tax law would permit mortgage companies to put millions of dollars worth of tax exempt securities on the market, as under the proposed measure mortgages would be exempt from the general property tax. He pointed out that such a tax would slow up building by increasing the cost of financing construction work. Such a law would drain financial institutions in rural counties and take money needed for local improvements to the larger money centers to work for their betterment. "It is another tax on real estate which now is over-taxed," said Mr. Devine.

"Furthermore, the exemption of mortgages from taxation is wrong in principle under the Uniform Rule, because it directly classifies the intangible and leaves all other intangibles to pay the general property tax."

Defeated Six Years Ago. The proposed mortgage recording tax is the same bill that was introduced by the mortgage companies of Ohio six years ago, and because of the opposition of home owners and farmers, it was never permitted to get out of the taxation committee. Building and loan officials are urging every owner of mortgaged property in Ohio to discuss the proposed mortgage recording tax with representatives of the General Assembly to the end that further expense is not put in the way of the man or woman who would pay his own home or farm.

Paris tells us that bobbed hair must go. In that event 1927 will be fraught with many hair-raising events.

And while he was accumulating his billion dollars, don't overlook the fact that Uncle Henry Ford was giving several million Americans a rattling good time—almost a shakedown in fact.

There wouldn't be a great deal of striving after fame, however, if one couldn't cash it at the paying teller's window.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY PASSES AWAY

(Greenville, Advocate)

Mrs. William P. Wicks, 68, a well-known and highly esteemed lady of the vicinity of Painter Creek, died Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, at her home, two miles east of that village. Mrs. Wicks had been ill for a year and a half with a complication of rheumatism.

The deceased lady was the wife of William Wicks, one of the prominent farmers of that district, and was the mother of seven children. She was born in Miami county.

Those left to mourn the passing of the wife and mother are the husband four daughters, Mrs. Forest Aplegate, Mrs. Frank Kraus, Mrs. Clarence Heckathorn and Miss Alma Wicks at home and three sons, John, Emmett and Hobart Wicks.

She is also survived by seventeen grandchildren, one brother, Henry Hatfield, two half-brothers, Ora and John Hatfield, two sisters, Mrs. Kathryn Mills and Mrs. William Detrick and a half-sister, Mrs. Edith Phillips. Funeral services at the West Grove church Saturday afternoon at 1:30, Rev. Freeman, of Covington, officiating. Burial in the old Ludlow cemetery.

A Pennsylvania man was called a "dumbbell" shot the man who did the calling. A case where truth must certainly have hurt.

"You never can tell," remarked the fellow who lives next door on the way down town this morning. "I once knew a man who passed the intelligence test splendidly and then went right off and got married."

LATE NEWS FLASHES

(L. H. & D. Dispatch)

Baltimore.—The steamer city of Annapolis, a passenger vessel plying between Baltimore and Chesapeake bay stations, was sunk this morning in a collision with her sister ship, the city of Richmond, in the bay, off the mouth of the Patomac river, according to wireless messages to the owners here.

No lives were lost, the messages stated, but the passengers and crew of the Annapolis were taken off by the Richmond and the S. S. St. Anthony, which stood by the sinking vessel.

The collision occurred shortly before 2 A. M. and the Annapolis stayed afloat about 4 o'clock.

Captain C. B. Brooks, of the city of Baltimore, notified the owners that he was an eye-witness to the rescue of 103 persons aboard the Annapolis.

Following the crash, he said the City of Richmond was maneuvered alongside the sinking steamer. A gang plank was hurriedly thrown across both boats and passengers in their night clothes left the City of Annapolis without panic.

Standing by was the steamer St. Anthony, but he believed none of the passengers are on that vessel.

The City of Annapolis remained afloat about 1 1/2 hours, steadily sinking and by daylight only two inches of the funnel were visible. Then that, too disappeared, he said, and the vessel is now lying in 60 feet of water.

The survivors will arrive in Baltimore on the City of Richmond this afternoon. Tug boats have been sent out to meet the boat in the harbor.

A squadron of police has been thrown around the pier to handle the crowds that throng the pier.

Asbury Park, N. J.—After confessing to a reporter today that he had shot and killed his wife, Helen, and wounded Deputy Sheriff Abraham Kulp in his home in South Langhorne, Pa., Edward Reiker, 28, shot himself three times in the breast. He is not expected to recover.

The shooting of Mrs. Reiker and the deputy sheriff is said to have followed an attempt on the part of the officer to serve Reiker with papers in a divorce suit.

Reiker called the reporter to his room in a hotel by telephone saying he "had a good story" for him. He displayed a newspaper clipping telling of the shooting of Mrs. Reiker and asked if the reporter knew who he was.

"You're Reiker, aren't you?" said the reporter.

Reiker nodded, drew a .32-calibre revolver from his pocket.

"I killed her because I loved her, and because I loved my baby," he said. "A woman relative made all the trouble. She broke up our home. She made life hell for me. I was going to jump into the ocean and drown myself but this morning I decided I wanted to tell someone about it."

At this point Reiker started waving his revolver around wildly and the reporter asked to be excused for a moment. Just as he left the room to call police he heard three shots, and hurrying back found Reiker lying beside the bed with three wounds in his chest.

Cincinnati.—Edward Emig, 48, telephone operator, had quite a headache today, but nevertheless considered himself lucky.

A window cleaner, dropped a heavy brush from a seven story window last yesterday and it landed on Emig's head.

"I thought it was another one of those meteor explosions," said Emig today.

Cincinnati.—Efforts were being made by county officers here today to locate relatives of George Y. Patterson, New York salesman, who succumbed to a heart attack in a hotel here yesterday.

New York.—"I want the public to forget that I ever was Mrs. Randolph Valentino," says Natacha Rambova. "But privately that is another matter for he is still with me taking from the other world."

Cincinnati.—Mrs. Mary Strasser, 28 Chattanooga, Tenn., and pretty Miss Benah Burnall, 21, Cincinnati, today were convinced that "gasoline and cockles wouldn't mix" and that pulling badges from policemen's clothing "is not the thing to do."

Mrs. Strasser was under a $50 fine and Miss Burnall under a $25 fine to day for disorderly conduct after they admitted to traffic judge Eyrich that they "had a few cocktails" just before taking an automobile ride that resulted in a traffic accident.
