"THE TWO-GUN MAN"

By the great Novelist Stewart Edward White. Comedy shot with thrills! Thrills riddled with comedy! Romance in a country of snow-tipped peaks and endless valleys!

Riding—Chases, spills and chills a-horseback in a land where sitting in a rocking chair wouldn't be comfortable! Rites of action and comedy of course and cleverness!

COMEDY—"MUMMY LOVE"

RECLUSE FOUND WITH BRUISES WHICH COVER BODY

John McDermott Believed Victim of Brutal Attack; Semi-conscious Un-Death.

PIQUA, March 4—James Draper, 19, and John Myers 29 were arrested early this morning following the death of John McDermott, 76, who died at Memorial hospital shortly after midnight last night under suspicious circumstances according to the Dayton Herald.

Draper and Myers were arrested at their home soon after McDermott's death and taken to police headquarters where they were griled by Chief of Police Gehle, County Prosecutor L. E. Harvey and Coroner H. O. Brower. They were ordered locked up on suspicion of connection with McDermott's death. Coroner Brower will conduct a post mortem today.

McDermott was found lying on the floor in a semi-conscious condition at his home, by a woman who had gone there to work about the house as was her daily custom. He was taken to Memorial hospital where physicians found that his head and body were covered with severe bruises and that two ribs over his heart were broken. It was their opinion that the man had been the victim of a brutal attack in which he was beaten into unconsciousness and left lying on the floor where he was found a few hours later.

Little hope for his recovery was held out at the hospital from the first. He raved at times incoherently and then would shout: "They got me this time but they'll never get me again," and "I'll get even with them."

Police have been working on the case since the man was removed to the hospital and when McDermott died, acted quickly in arresting Draper and Myers. Three other men were questioned but released. Police say that the two men under arrest are suspected of having gone to the McDermott home last Friday night and that a wild party was staged during which considerable liquor was consumed.

Prosecutor Harvey will await the result of the post mortem before any further action in the case.

Draper and Myers, the men under arrest, are laborers, the Dayton paper stated.

PHILATHEA CLASS

Philathea Class of the Christian Church held its February business and social meeting in the church dining hall.

Miss Zella Dollinger the Pres. presided. Miss Ella Bowers led the devotional services. The hostess who served and entertained the twenty-five women present were Martha Spencer, Gertrude Cramer, Grace Sneathen, May Lilly Cox, Susan Lewis and Martha Furnas.

These Philatheans are especially favored in that Mrs. Furnas barely escaped being claimed by March. Feb. was her only chance to own her by giving her an extra calendar day the 29th. "Mattie" is especially appreciated by the Philatheans because of her continued devotions to them altho' her residence for many years has been in Piqua.

When her smiles and lunch basket appear in the doorway, and the greetings from within are evidences of a mutual friendship and good fellowship.

There's a reason—"Smile and all the rest want to smile, too" Come to the March meeting and try it.

FUNERAL SERVICES

ROY BUCHOLTZ

The funeral services of Roy Bucholtz who passed away at his home in Bradford, Wednesday evening, will be held on Saturday afternoon from the Church of the Brethren, Bradford, at 2:00 o'clock. Rev. McKee and the pastor Rev. Porter will have charge of the services. Burial will be made in Harris Creek cemetery.

Don't forget—there's a good picture on at the Favorite tonight—Fred Thomson and the wonder horse Silver King.

Late News Flashes

(I. N. S. Dispatch)

New York—Three persons were burned to death today, in a fire which swept a five-story tenement.

London—A rebellion behind the lines of the northern allies is rumored in Shanghai, according to the central news correspondent.

Washington—The student suicide wave struck Washington today.

Herbert Willett, 17, killed himself in the corridor of Central high school, the largest in the city by shooting himself in the head this morning.

New York—George Goldstein, 17, of the Bronx, a psychotic patient doled to liberty from Bellevue Hospital early today and was drowned in a death battle with poison who attempted to rescue him after he had plunged into the east river.

The two patrolmen who fought the crazed youth in the darkness were taken from the water in a serious condition. One is believed dying from the effects of the battle in the icy water.

Washington—President Coolidge spent a busy morning signing his name to bills.

Shortly before 11 o'clock he went to the President's room at the senate end of the capitol in order to be close by to sign last minute bills and resolutions.

Up to ten o'clock he had signed 97 bills.

A bill authorizing the veterans' bureau to make loans on soldiers' adjusted compensation certificates was signed by the President today.

New York—Thomas W. Miller, post-war alien property custodian, today was convicted by a jury in federal court of conspiring to deprive the government of his honest services through the approval of a $7,000,000 claim for war-seized German property. The case of his co-defendant Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, resulted in a jury disagreement. The two former officials of the Harding administration were alleged to have shared in a $391,000 "fee" paid by German interests to obtain approval of the claim.

Cincinnati—Mae E. Luque, wife of Adolfo Luque, well known Cuban pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, today filed a petition for "reasonable alimony" against the baseball player here.

Mrs. Luque also requested an order restraining the management of the Cincinnati ball club from paying the hurler any money, and from allowing him to receive any money that might go to him should he be traded to another team.

According to reports reaching here from the Orlando, Fla., training camp, Luque has not reported there yet and from his home in Havana is dickering for a trade with Herrmann.

Washington—The sixty-ninth congress was strangled to death at noon today after a three day siege of legislative paralysis provoked by an outbreak, and separate filibusters over the subject of senatorial campaign investigations.

A state of "civil war" existed in the senate as the congress died, with all legislative activity halted, hundreds of bills were killed.

A burst of oratory, in which democratic leaders flayed their republican opponents for blocking further investigation into republican slush funds, sounded a senatorial dirge to the departing congress. Then the gavel of vice president Dawes and Speaker Woodrow fell in the house and senate and the members hurried off for a nine month's vacation before reconvening in the new congress next December.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

AGRICULTURAL WORKERS CONFERENCE ON BABY CHICK PROGRAM

Prof. R. E. Cray of the poultry department of the Ohio State university has just completed a conference with County Agent C. M. Senn relative to the baby chick work of the county during the coming season.

It was pointed out by Mr. Cray that this is the season when farmers determine the fate of their poultry profits for the ensuing year. He stated that the old law "Like begets like" holds true in the poultry business the same as it does in other walks of life. He proved his statement by citing low producing flocks that have been bred down through poor selection as compared to flocks that have been bred up by proper selection. He called attention to the records of Miami county poultry flocks that are members of the demonstration record work. Out of this group he selected the flock of Mrs. John Kinder which in one year was made to increase from an average production of 138 eggs to 164 eggs per hen through a mating of the previous year's flock with cockerels from hens that produced an average of over 200 eggs each. The chicks that resulted from this mating made the flock that produced the higher record.

Professor Cray laid down a few simple rules to follow in order to win out this year. He dubbed the project the "Growing Healthy Chicks" project. His first rule was—buy healthy chicks, place orders early, secure the chicks before May 15 and secure the chicks from certified flocks or from accredited hatcheries or best of all from well known local breeders on whose flocks accurate records have been kept.

Secondly he suggested that the brooder house be cleaned thoroughly and disinfected and then moved to ground where chicks have not been reared for at least one year. Thirdly he pointed out that a good sod is very important and that the brooder house should be moved to new sod as often as it became depleted or foul during the season.

His fourth item was to have clean litter. He recommends shavings, peat moss, cut straw, alfalfa or sand. He recommends cleaning after ten days and every five days thereafter.

His fifth item was to use the Ohio ration that Ohio is now recommending an all mass ration that is very satisfactory. He pointed out that this ration prevented the chicks getting so much fluff from the litter in trying to get scratch grain. He recommended the feeding of milk in some form for the first ten weeks and that cod liver oil be given until the chicks get out on range.

His sixth item was to keep chicks separate from old stock throughout the entire season.

Mr. Senn stated that arrangements have been made to have Mr. Cray meet interested poultry people of Miami county on March 23d at an afternoon meeting. The meeting will be called at one o'clock in the Grange hall at the courthouse.

Miami county is forging ahead in its poultry development. The present year has seen a sixty percent increase in demonstration flocks and over 100 percent increase in poultry calendar records. Plans are being set up to have 200 people at the poultry meeting and the general public is invited.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

(L. N. S. Dispatch)

Baltimore—George W. Baldwin 70 veteran, died at Johns Hopkins hospital today of pneumonia.

He was Vice President of Stone & Webster, Boston and New York consulting engineers, although he mainly spent his home in Savannah, Ga.

Leslie Rhoades and Mrs. Rhoades, accompanied by Clint Peifer, drove a Star Coach and Sedan from the Cincinnati plant of the Durant Motor Car Company to the Motor Inn yesterday. Mr. Rhoades has taken over the agency for this popular make of Motor Cars.

Columbus—Police today were hunting for the hold thief who slipped in to the room at the New Southern hotel here this morning and stole $85 from the trousers' pockets of Rep. Elmer F. Cotton, Lorain county, while Cotton and Rep. John T. Brown, Champlain county, were sleeping.

Washington—Amid scenes of wild disorder, a snarling, angry senate found itself being slowly throttled to death today by twin filibusters, waged by a group of administration senators and the insurgent bloc.

Although the senate roared over night, following a 37 hour continuous session, the respite brought no truce in the legislative deadlock, which threatened defeat of the $93,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill. At one time the bill passed when Vice President Dawes jammed it through with a parliament.

Many a city chap as he reads of the hard elder on the farm, wishes from the bottom of his heart that he had a little farm relief.

VALUE OF FARM MANURE EXPLAINED TO MIAMI CO. FARMERS

"Farmers of the state of Ohio yearly waste barnyard manure whose value is equal to the state's wheat crop" was the startling statement of Professor John Slipper of the soils and crops department of the Ohio State university who has just completed a series of school instructing farmers in the best methods of using the product.

Professor Slipper stated that after 31 tests the Ohio station was reporting a crop increase of $12.75 per acre as the result of an application of manure. He stated that $7.40 of this was net, after deducting $4.05 for the expense of harvesting the additional crop and $1.30 for the cost of applying the manure.

He stated that the manure "crop" of the state has a crop increase value equivalent to twice the value of the the state's wheat crop and that through handling, the farmer wastes half the value of the manure through leaching, hence he wastes an equivalent of the value of the state's wheat crop. The most important part of the manure is the liquid which contains the readily soluble nitrates and potashes. These are easily leached out through exposure. Much nitrogen escapes as a gas through allowing the manure to heat in the stable or in a pile. An easy way to hold this gas and liquid part is to apply about one pound of acid phosphate to each animal's product each day. This phosphate forms a chemical combination with the liquid and traps and holds the only element manure is deficient in—phosphorus.

Professor Slipper recommended that manure be hauled directly to the field on when that was not practical, to store it under cover. He showed several practical methods of doing this trick. These ranged from covered feedlots to small covered areas that would hold a few tons at a time. The covered feed lot seemed to be the best when labor was taken into consideration. He emphasized the value of such a cover by stating that several tests at Wooster had shown that after three months exposure had leached out 80 percent of its value. In order to bring application of his statements, a group of farmers all through the county have agreed to set up demonstrations in their fields showing the value of manure when applied in different ways.

In Bechel township Charles Studebaker will demonstrate the advantage of phosphated manure as compared with unphosphated. Roy Studebaker will demonstrate the contrast of a top-dressing of fresh stable manure and rotted barnyard manure. Mr. Waddy will demonstrate the value of top-dressing and Mr. Lutz will demonstrate the value of different rates of application. Similar demonstrations will be conducted by George Dugan, H. R. Harbaugh and Joe Duer in Brown township; Joe McCurdy and Amos Fessler will represent the work in Union; G. Mader, Roy Wilson, Russell Pearson and John Branson will hold forth in Newberry and Kirk; Kerns, Jim Coddington, Don Reeder and Will Garby will conduct similar projects in Spring creek.

County Agent C. M. Scott stated that if it is planned that a tour be arranged to visit these plots and some of the various types of equipment in use in the county some time in the fall.
